York Countians join fight chemical dump

BY JOYCE BUPP
Staff Correspondent

EVEN VALLEYS — ut 300 embittered far- s and other residents of th Codorus Township d the firehall here rsday evening to help t a toxic chemical waste p planned on hillside n land.

he dump would be ted about three miles thwest of the small York nty farm town of Seven leys.

unny Farms, Ltd., a sidiary of Stabitrol, Inc., Norristown has been ied an operating permit m the Pennsylvania partment of En- onmental Resources to y industrial waste, ssibly including sub- nces like chromium, lead, rcury, cadmium, and enic.

Several years ago Sunny rms operated a landfill on e property but was shut wn in 1975 by DER after investigation turned up sposal violations.

A court injunction handed wn last week in York unty Court has tem- rarily halted any dumping Stabitrol because a bdivision plan had not en properly filed for wnship action.

The piece of land reportedly includes over 500 acres, but only a portion of that is to be used for the chemical dump.

Two other firms, Liqwacon of the York City's new industrial park, and Allied Chemical, have also purchased part of the Sunny Farms acreage for dumping of their firm's waste.

A subdivision plan now has been submitted and under the injunction issued by the court, dumping will be permitted as soon as the plan is approved by township officials.

Waste would be burried in contanerized types of underground storage according to the DER permit. The waste could not be dumped within 500 yards of private homes.

The dump area is completely surrounded by prime farm land and corn is being farmed on the land at present.

Farmers are concerned that drainage from the dump could get into their water supply and nobody can guarantee it will not although they offer assurances that it won't.

The York County Farmers' Association attended the Thursday meeting to monitor the situation. But other residents have taken the fight one step further.

Citizens from the area have organized into OUCH, Inc., calling themselves Opposing Unnecessary Chemical Hazards.

OUCH has hired Harrisburg attorney Michael Davis whom they say has spent considerable time fighting DER directives.

According to Steve Marsh, R1 Seven Valleys, president of OUCH, the citizens' group also has lined up an engineer and a hydrologist for help in fact finding.

Only DER can revoke Stabitrol's dumping license

Judy Zimmerman, R1 Ephrata, gives her Grand Champion crossbred Duroc gilt a final oiling before entering auction ring at Lancaster County 4-H Pig Roundup.

Girls topple 4-H pig records

BY DICK ANGLESTEIN

LANCASTER — What do the grand champion gilt and her champion fitter and showperson do after the trot from the ring to the echoing applause of audience and bidders?

If you're the Grand Champion 215-pound crossbred Duroc of the Lancaster County 4-H Pig Club Roundup on Thursday, you trot stiff-legged out into the Hatfield pen, not knowing that if a slice of your ham would be sold in a restaurant on the basis of the selling price, it would be right up there with filet mignon.

Then you start acting the way you should act – just like a pig. As other Hatfield purchases begin to fill the pen, you root, bump and shove to get at some scattered feed and finally just flop down and stretch out in a patch of cool weater.

If you're a champion fitter and showperson, like Judy Zimmerman, R1 Ephrata, you rush back out to the holding pens, grab the spray bottle of show oil or talcum and get five more head ready for the ring.

And when it's all over, you've herded six head through the ring, including three champs, collected some $1639 and led nearly a clean sweep for your fellow female participants.

Yes, Miss Piggy would have been proud at the Lancaster Roundup at the Stockyards on Thursday.

After the boys captured the two lightest weight classes, it was the girls all the way until the Pens of Ten when the boys slipped back in.

Right behind 18-year-old Judy Zimmerman, competing in her final show, came Chris Chapman, who at 13, appears to be heir apparent in county 4-H pig circles.

While Judy's 215-pounder took the grand champion honors, Chris' 210-pound entry was named reserve grand champion, both coming out of the mediumweight classes.

In all, nearly 20 tons of hams on the hoof – 178 head – were shown. When the final gavel fell, the 4-Hers were richer to the tune of $23.233.01 for a show-wide average of 59.43 per pound.

The bidding on Judy's grand champion got started at $3 and quickly moved upward. It stopped with a final blink of an eye by the Hatfield bidder at what appears to be a Lancaster record of $4.30. Last year's top price was $3.01.

Actually Judy led off the show with her grand champion, had lightweight and 225-pound champs in between and wound up the bidding with a lot of three.

Actually, she did right well with all. Her lightweight champ brought 90 cents, the 225-pounder 69 cents and the final lot of three 62.25.

Chris' 210-pound reserve champion brought $1.85.

Champion Trio – Liz Chapman, 76 cents.

Reserve Champion Trio – Michelle Dean, 70 cents.

Champion Pen of Ten – Stanley Heisey, 60 cents.

Reserve Champion Pen of Ten – Bruce Sipling, 53 cents.

Heavyweight Champion – Sarah Brubaker, 83 cents.

Class I, 175 pounds, Robbie Rohrer, 51 cents.

HARRISBURG — The rand Champion Holstein at uesday's Southcentral istrict 4-H Dairy Show, eld here at the Farm Show omplex was right at home the champion limelight.

Actually, the aged cow, avin Apollo Etta, is just one tep closer to retaining her itle as the champion Holstein in the state — a title he captured last year.

The grand champion, a Hilltop Apollo Ivanhoe aughter, took the Senior Champion honors with her wner Tamra R. Yost of R1 Hershey, Dauphin County at her halter. Tammy is the alternate Dairy Princess for Dauphin County

The Reserve Grand Champion Holstein was exhibited by Adams County's Christine Gitt, Littlestown. Penn-Gate Jetstar Queen is a three-year-old daughter of Beech-Hill Elevation Jetstar. She followed the grand champion all the way to the top, being tagged as Reserve Senior Champion by Judge Raymond Seidel, Kutztown.

Judge Seidel tagged the second place junior yearling as the Reserve Junior Champion. Aldina Bookmaker Debbie was shown by Beverly A. Meyers, Chambersburg, Franklin County.

Hi Kick Jingle tops Keystone Ayrshire Sale

BY CURT HARLER

LANCASTER — Hi Kick Jingle, consigned by Delaware Valley College, was the top selling animal at the Keystone Classic Ayrshire Sale held Thursday at the Guernsey Sales Barn, Lancaster.

She was due September 1 to Oak Ridge Commanders Star, one of the breed's better known sires. Jingle sold to J. Garrett Hunter, West Alenander for the bargain price of $1740.

Indeed, there were a number of animals, especially bred heifers, which sold below some observers' expectations. The sale average was just $1035.

"Bred heifers went way cheap," confirmed Show Manager Milt Brubaker, Lititz.

"Ayrshires at the present time are cheap. For the money dairymen can't get a better buy on a cow," he maintained.

Several dealers at the show who purchased a number of animals seemed to agree with that analysis.

The top selling Hi Kick Jingle was sired by Mar-Ral Hi Kick and out of Crystal Spring Don's Jan.

Rated "very good," Hi Kick Jingle has records of just under 12,000 pounds

EARLY CHICK MORTALITY VS. POTENTIAL EGG PROFITS

MCI Rep. Harold Mishler with Mr. & Mrs. Chas. Wertz, Shoemakersville, PA

How do you measure layer flock profitability? How many of the day old chicks you purchase make it into your laying house?

Excessive early chick mortality can always be replaced or adjusted on subsequent chick orders but not so with the potential income from those 240 eggs each pullet could have given you.

Just 2% instead of 1% early chick mortality on 60,000 chicks could mean the difference of $600.00 potential income missed in the laying house. (20 doz. x 5¢ x 600 birds) Think of it next time you choose where to buy your next chicks.

'Go-Calf' gets them going... and saves you money too!

Pennfield's 'Go-Calf' Milk Replacer gets your herd replacements off to a flying start. The goal of every dairyman should be to have his heifers freshened and in the milking herd as soon as possible.

After colostrum, start calves on Pennfield 'Go-Calf' to supply them with the additional protein, vitamins, and minerals they need. 'Go-Calf' also contains medication to aid in the prevention of scours.

Starting your calves on Pennfield 'Go-Calf' Milk Replacer is the all important first step in the Pennfield Herd Replacement Program.

The Pennfield herd replacement program is designed to have heifers bred at just over one year of age and have them freshened at 22 to 24 months with a body weight from 1200 to 1280 pounds.

To learn more about the Pennfield herd replacement program and how you can save on 'Go-Calf' Milk Replacer contact your local Pennfield Sales Representative, or call: Local calls: Lancaster 299-2561, Red Lion 244-4511. Compared previous midweek, Slaughter Steers were 50-1.00 lower dispite the recovery from Monday's sharp decline, Heifers closed firm to 50 higher Cows closed steady to 50 higher, Instances 1 00 higher, bulls firm

Four day receipts this week 8900; last week 10,800; year ago 13500.

Receipts were modest early in reflection of bearish dressed beef trade signals late last week but prices trended sharply lower, especially on steers Marketings were further curtailed and packer need for immediate slaughter requirements forced some recovery. Packer demand for Steers under 1100 lbs and Heifers under 950 lbs. improved accounts allowed continued pressure on such steers. Slaughter Steers made up 43 pct of the week's total, Heifers 29 pct; much of the supply has good to average Choice but an increased showing of Choice Heifers Wednesday. Cows made up 18 pct. and Feeders 8 pct.

WEEKLY CATTLE SUMMARY: Compared to last week, slaughter steers sold steady to 2.00 lower. Heifers closed steady to 1.00 lower. Full decline both classes noted on Good and Mixed Good and Choice consignments. Cows remained steady while bulls finished firm to 1.00 higher. Slaughter steers and heifers opened the week slow and under pressure in direct response to a sharply lower beef trade. The early week decline on Choice consignments was partially offset on Wednesday's light supply and a reverse in the carcass trade. Receipts this week 3300, last week 4095 and 5501 a year ago.

SLAUGHTER STEERS: Choice 2-4 1100-1300 lbs. 70.50-73.00, closing 71.50-73.00. Few part loads 73.25-73.50. 1000-1100 2-3 69.00-71.50, Mostly 70.50-71.50 on Wednesday. Mixed Good and Choice 2-3 900-1050 lbs. 67.00-69.00. Good 65.00-67.00.

Lancaster Farming says...

We need to update Act 442

Act 442, the open spaces act passed 12 years ago, is in need of some revision

There is no quarrel with the basic intent of the legislation which allows any county in Pennsylvania "to preserve, acquire and hold land for open space use "

But an updating of Act 442 is needed in light of recent efforts to provide incentive payments to farmers under a Voluntary Deed Restriction Program

Such action, although instigated in Lancaster County, would have statewide impact, as required by law

A meeting on the subject is scheduled by the Lancaster County Agricultural Preserve Board for September 5 at 10 a m in the County Commissioner's room on the fifth floor of the new County Courthouse

A high-powered group will be on hand to discuss ammendments to Act 442 which would lay a firm legal foundation for such a move Expected to be in attendance are Agriculture Secretary Penrose Hallowell, representatives of Pennsylvania Farmers' Association, state Grange, Association of Township Supervisors, the League of Women Voters, and the state Intergovernmental Council

It shouldn't seem unreasonable to expect a good turnout of farmers, too, for the Friday morning meeting

The proposed amendments would cover several areas

First, the designation of ag districts would become a primary responsibility of the ag preserve board, with the right to do so falling to a county planning commission only if no such board exists in that county

A second change would allow a county the option to buy or not to buy a parcel of land At present Act 442 says counties "shall be required to acquire," a provision which could cost a lot of money if not changed

Under current law a hearing would have to be held on every parcel brought into an ag district Another change would allow whole blocks of land to be accepted at a single hearing One immediate benefactor from this change could be the proposed Ephrata ag preserve with 5000 acres of land on many farms

Another change would sort out multi-county jurisdiction in big ag districts

But the meat of the proposal comes in additions to Section 5 of Act 442 Under the proposed changes, a county specifically is allowed to acquire land and designate it for agricultural use

A county ag preserve board would be given broad powers to advise the county which land should be designated for farming, and would be empowered to hire staff or consultants as necessary to implement procedures adopted by the county commissioners

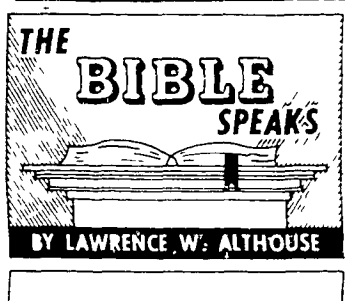
The changes include a section which guarantees 'right to farm' privileges for farmers within such an ag district

In a section which will corral groups like the state Highway Department and Public Utilities Commission, an amendment requires "it shall be the policy of all Commonwealth agencies to encourage the maintenance of viable farming in agricultural districts "

The revisions would also require such bureaucracies to modify procedures and regulations to ensure continued farming in an ag district

Such changes may be bad news for land speculators, eminent domain fans, and farmers planning to sell out to developers

But the farmer who wants to till his ground knowing his grandchildren will have the same opportunity should welcome the ideas proposed for revising Act 442 The state legislature should waste no time in passing the needed amendments



TESTING GOD

Lesson for August 31, 1980

Background Scripture
Malachi
Devotional Reading:
Psalms 51:1-12

The one thing none of us wants to do these days is to put God to the test. Even if he invites us to do so, we are not likely to accept the offer.

For one thing, we have been led to believe that one should not test God Didn't Jesus say to Satan, "You shall not tempt the Lord your God?" Doesn't it indicate a lack of faith to call upon God to prove himself? A test seems so arrogant, so irreverent

Yet we cannot escape the fact that there are passages in the Bible where God clearly invites people to do just that. This is what he is saying, for example, in Malachi. " ..thereby put me to the test, says the Lord of hosts" (3.10).

Robbing God

We need to get the picture: through Malachi God has accused his people of robbing him "But you say, 'How are we robbing thee?'" and the answer: "In your tithes and offerings," (3:3:8). The people have been holding back in their obligations to the temple The reason is not just a miserly attitude, but a fear that, if they give too much, they will not have enough for their own needs

God knows this and he puts the challenge to them clearly: "Bring the full tithes into the storehouse, that there may be food in my house; and thereby put me to the test. .if I will not open the windows of heaven for you and pour down for you an overflowing blessing" (3:10).

Their problems, therefore, is not one of greed, but of a lack of faith and trust in God If they trusted God to supply their needs, they would not hesitate to pay their tithes for they would know that God would not fail to provide for them

Is that not still a factor in financing God's work? We are limited in our generosity by our fear of not having enough for ourselves and that fear is the direct result of failing to trust God and accept his own promises that he will provide for us Many churchs today, in a time call for an expanded mission and witness, rather than a reduced one, are finding, not only that they cannot expand their programs, but must continue to cut back and pare down their present program. We ascribe this situation to the predicted "hard times" that are just around the corner, but it is not the times that are deficient, but our faith.

Testing God

So, no matter how hard it is for us to digest it, there are times when God challenges us to test him – not to prove his love, but our faith! We go through the motions of asking, but he knows we don't really believe that he will answer and provide for us. Thus, his invitation to test is a challenge to start acting as if we believed and trusted in him. Unless we put our own faith to the test, the windows of heaven will remain closed.

NOW IS THE TIME

TO BECOME INVOLVED

More restrictions for agriculture seem to be developing by the dozen I fear that too many of these are the result of city folks moving to the country in the past decade or more These folks want the opportunity of living in the country but do not realize the important of food production I'd strongly urge that all farmers take a firm stand in these instances and "fight for your rights" Some of the recently publicized regulations in certain townships are definitely against future agriculture and food production

I find it hard to believe that good-thinking public officials will continue to support such restrictions I'd urge all farmers to take an active part in making these restrictions, and at the moment, be very forceful in changing any regulations that will hamper efficient agriculture in the future.

TO FERTILIZE ALFALFA

The fall of the year, the after the removal of the last cutting, is a good time to top-dress existing alfalfa stands The application of a phosphorus-potash fertilizer in the fall will strengthen the alfalfa roots and result in higher yields next summer Nitrogen should not be needed on establishment alfalfa stands Some growers will top-dress with fertilizer in the fall and again after the removal of the first cutting in the spring

This should result in maximum yields with a healthy stand When alfalfa plants are well fed and treated for insect injury, they should be able to stand management and weather adversities Alfalfa plants are heavy feeders or both phosphorus and potash Unless these elements are replaced each year, the plants will suffer and the yield will be disappointing

TO BEWARE OF SILO GAS

This is not a new suggestion but continues to be very timely and very important. Silage making timely and very important Silage making time is at hand when many tons of corn will go into our silos This is one of the best methods of harvesting the corn crop in order to get the maximum feed nutrients With our huge tower silos the danger of poisonous gases becomes more important. All farmers are urged to discuss this hazard with their employees and all members of the family.ese gases can develop from one day to 14 days after the silo is filled Most of these gases have a chlorine-laundry bleach odor and irritate the eyes and respiratory system Some are yellow and some are colorless Don't take any chances–warn all members of the family of this danger Never enter a partly filled silo without running the blower. These gases are heavier than air and will come down the silo chute and into the barn. Don't be careless around recently filled silos.

TO ADD INSULATION

The higher cost of fuel will continue to be a problem for many of us. I'm aware of some folks changing from one type to fuel to another because of the lower current costs, this might give some relief for a time but costs of other fuels will no doubt go up with greater demand This idea of liberal insulation will reduce the need of all types of fuel.

Now that we are here in the period between hot weather and cold weather, it might be a good time to evaluate your insulation needs In most cases extra insulation will be cheaper than continued high fuel consumption. Many of our buildings were constructed before the energy crunch; therefore, additional insulation is definitely needed. Before cold weather arrives it might be a good economy move to check your insulation conditions in order to reduce all types of fuel consumption.

MODEL 750 IN STOCK

YES! THIS IS THE MOST PERFECTED CUTTING-THROWING SYSTEM EVER SEEN Here is the definitive solution to the problems which have always existed in this regard Compact, the forage is brought between the agressive rollers of the 750 forage harvester and is neatly cut by the exclusive cylinder head equipped with 8 strong curved knives, remains in suspension then almost at the same time, is rapidly picked up by the fan, which projects it outside in a continuous and synchronized movement Furthermore, the forage is recut by a second shear bar located between the cutter-head and the fan, thus providing an unexcelled degree of fine and clean cup in any operating conditions Already in the process of acceleration due to the centrifugal force supplied by the cutter head the forage remains in suspension as same is running at a higher speed The forage is then taken away by the fan blades which rush it outside at an incredible speed Thrown out in such a way, the material is projected behind the forage harvester, at distances which can reach up to 30 to 40 feet With this advanced technology, forage boxes are filled at an increased speed The combination of both the cutter-head speed and the fan speed, completes marvelously this new and revolutionary system, truly unique and exclusive at DION

- ★ LARGE 117 P.S.I. THROAT: providing a great feeding efficiency guaranteed by a perfected system of aggressive feeding rollers, well-balanced by strong springs
- ★ FANTASTIC BUILT-IN GRINDER: giving back to the knives their original sharpening Mounted on roller bearings, this system uses a standard emery stone
- ★ CYLINDER AND FAN COVER: can be removed easily, giving access for knives grinding or any maintenance work
- ★ SICKLE BARS OSCILLATING PITMAN: drives the sickle bars of all attachments and supplies 1,200 strokes per minute thus insuring the nicest cutting for any kinds of crops Having a high carbon steel shaft, same is equipped with roller bearings assuring almost an indefinite life
- ★ HEAVY-DUTY UNIVERSAL JOINTS: transmit the tractor power to the cutter-head by passing through a strong 90 degrees angle transmission box In some exceptional cases, these joints are protected by safety bolts which will shear off if ever the cylinder is overloaded Such rugged joints insure a constant efficiency to the cutter-head, feeding rollers and fan
- ★ CONTROL LEVERS: all control commands of the forage harvester are very easy to handle
- ★ COMPLETE HYDRAULIC ELECTRIC CONTROL of spout deflector and transmission
- ★ ATTACHMENTS ARE CONNECTED BY AN HYDRAULIC CONTROL: therefore, they can be raised or lowered thus allowing an easy adjustment of all attachments. This system is very compact, smooth and efficient

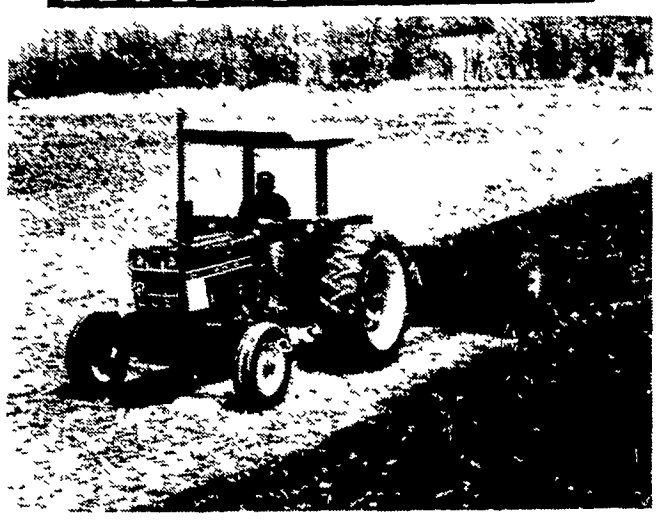
WHAT'S NEW



IH's new 884 tractor is powered by a 268 cu. in. diesel engine producing 72.5 PTO horsepower. A torque amplifier transmission providing 16 forward and eight reverse speeds is standard.

Offers new row-crop tractor

CHICAGO, Ill. — International Harvester has announced availability of its new 884 tractor in row-crop and utility versions for the over-70 PTO horsepower class. A low-profile model also is available for special applications.

The 884 is powered by a four-cylinder, direct injection 268 cu. in diesel engine producing 72.5 PTO horsepower. The dual speed 540/1000 rpm independent PTO is hydraulically actuated to reduce shock loads and for "feathering" in and out of operation.

A torque amplifier transmission providing 16 forward and eight reverse speeds is standard on the new tractor. With this transmission, the operator can shift from direct drive into torque amplifier or vice versa on the go without clutching or throttling. Pulling back on the torque amplifier lever increases drawbar pull 22 percent, while decreasing speed 17 per cent in each gear.

Large capacity hydraulic power for positive steering, braking and implement control is provided by a 15.4 gpm hydraulic pump.

The 884 has a category 11 three-point hitch with torsion bar draft control that provides precise implement control and senses load changes quickly for smoother operation.

Tioga County holds junior livestock sale

WHITNEYVILLE — The First Annual Youth Livestock Sale was held on Saturday, August 16 at the Tioga County Fairgrounds.

Brian Zerby, owner of the Champion Market Steer, a 1030-pound Simmental Crossbred, received $1.35 per pound from the high bidder, Farm Credit Association of Wellsboro.

First Citizens National Bank of Mansfield paid a record of $2.55 per pound for the 1980 Champion Market Hog, a 265-pound Duroc bred and owned by Stephanie Kocher of Mansfield.

Cowanesque Valley Livestock Market, Knoxville purchased the Grand Champion Market Lamb, a Hampshire weighing 135 pounds, bred by Carolair Farms and owned by Judy Zerby of Knoxville for $3 per pound.

Purchaser of the Reserve Champion Market Steer, a Hereford owned by Becky Painter of Elkland was Parthemer and Watkins, who will soon be opening a new dairy operation in the Mansfield area. Mr Parthemer and Watkins paid $1 per pound for the 1035-pound steer.

The Reserve Champion Market Lamb, a Dorset weighing 105 pounds owned by Brian Zerby sold for $1.50 per pound to Boom & Painter of Westfield, Pa.

Other successful bidders at the Junior Livestock Sale were: SWINE: Mansfield Electric & Supply Co.; Troy Sales; Dale Gee of Tioga; Richard Churchill of Elkland and John Beard of Knoxville. SHEEP: H & W. Livestock of Vanderbilt, Pa.; The Real Estaters of Wellsboro; Knoxville Agway; and Wellsboro Agway. STEERS: Conwanesque Valley Livestock and Troy Sales.

The high bidder for the overall sale was Production Credit of Wellsboro with $1390.50, followed by Cowanesque Valley Livestock Market of Knoxville with $1280. H. & W Livestock of Vanderbilt, purchased the largest number of animals at the 1980 Junior Sale. The overall sale averaged $7477.00 with hogs averaging $236.90, lambs $142.43; and steers $920.93, including the champions.

Auctioneer for the sale was Clyde Beard, owner-operator of the Cowanesque Valley Livestock Market.

Simmental cross brought the Champion Steer honors in Tioga County to Brian Zerby, Knoxville. Purchaser is Dale Colegrove, of Farm Production Credit.

Reserve Champion Swine in Tioga County is shown by Stephanie Kocher, Mansfield. It was bought by Darryl Harper, of H & W Livestock.

Hearing on changes to New England milk order

NEW YORK, N.Y. — A public hearing will be held September 9 on proposed amendments to the New England federal milk marketing order, it was announced today by an official of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Herbert L. Forest, dairy official with the Agricultural Marketing Service, said the hearing will convene at 9:30 a.m. at the Holiday Inn, 30 Worcester Road, Framingham, Mass. Dairy farmers, dairy cooperatives, milk handlers, consumer organizations and private citizens may testify at the hearing and may cross-examine witnesses.

Principal cities in the New England milk order area include Boston, Mass., Hartford, Conn., and Providence, R.I., Forest said. Milk marketing orders set minimum prices that handlers pay dairy farmers for their milk. They do not set the price consumers pay for milk at retail outlets.

Forest said the key proposals to be heard would revise the pricing structure under the order by reflecting increased hauling costs in the location adjustments for determination of zone prices at milk plants. Other issues to be herd are proposals concerning pool supply qualification, diversion limits, and the classification of butterfat shrinkage and overage.

The proposals were made by the Association of New England Milk Dealers, Green Mountain Cooperative Federation, Inc., and National Farmers Organization. Additional proposals were submitted by the Association of Rhode Island Milk Dealers, Moser Farms Dairy Inc., and the Massachusetts Milk Control Commission.

But Third World use is up

Tough times for tobacco seen as U.S. use drops

LANCASTER — With growth in tobacco consumption stunted at home by a number of factors including the antismoking campaign, U.S. tobacco growers are looking toward foreign markets to rekindle the industry.

On the bright side, from a tobacco grower's perspective, is evidence that excellent new markets may be springing up in Third World countries.

However, on the home front, tobacco is facing lean times. A steady decline in U.S. per capita use during the last decade has clouded tobacco's future here. Signs of a stagnating domestic tobacco market abound, leaving industry leaders worried:

last year, the average American smoked, chewed, or sniffed less tobacco per person than in any year since 1896.

from a high of 1.43 billion pounds in 1965. U.S tobacco consumption dropped to an estimated 1.25 billion pounds in 1979.

U.S. cigarette sales rose slightly in 1979, as they have for the last 10 years. But USDA expert describe this sales trend as flat, because cigarette smoking is not increasing as fast as population growth.

A closer look at per capita cigarette smoking is even more revealing. In 1963, better than half of U.S. adult males and nearly one-third of all U.S. women smoked cigarettes. Adult smoking averaged a record 4345 cigarettes each.

By the end of 1978, only 38 percent of men and 30 percent of women smoked Per capita used dropped to 3967.

It's one thing for fewer cigarettes to be smoked. But demand for U.S. tobacco is affected even more than the above figures indicate because:

Greater efficiency by cigarette manufacturers' is resulting in less tobacco waste. Also, the drive for low-tar, low-nicotine brands has led to less tobacco being used in cigarettes, even since the introduction of extra-longs.

More foreign tobacco is being used in domestic cigarettes as "filler" because it is cheaper than domestic leaf. The percentage of imported tobacco in domestic cigarettes rose from 11 percent in 1965 to 22 percent in 1978.

Looking ahead, antismoking sentiment is certain to continue to dampen U.S. sales. Per capita use should continue its decline by one to two percent per year. By 1990, per capita U.S. cigarette use could decline as much as 25 percent.

So, tobacco growers must look overseas for a note of optimism. And, with sprouting competition from Brazil, Korea, Thailand, Malawi, and now Zimbabwe (formerly Rhodesia), that optimistic note is soft, even though the U.S. is the world's largest exporter of tobacco.

Of great concern is a resurgence of competition from Zimbabwe. Before U.N. trade sanctions were imposed on Rhodesia 15 years ago, its tobacco ranked second in quality, only to America's. With sanctions lifted tobacco experts say Zimbabwe could place 200 to 400 million pounds of leaf tobacco on world markets by the mid 1980's.

For years, the U.S. has offered a premium quality, high priced tobacco. However, in recent years, these other countries have entered the market with tobacco almost as good but cheaper. As a result the U.S. share of the world market is declining.

During 1960-64, U.S. leaf exports accounted for 30 percent of world total, by 1979 the share had fallen to 18 percent.

In 1979 alone, U.S. shipments of leaf and other unmanufactured tobacco fell 19 percent to 567 million pounds, lowest since 1975.

Mainly responsible was the drastic reduction in sales to European markets. In 1978, West Europe took nearly 60 percent of U.S. tobacco exports. But last year the share dropped to 29 percent. Sales were smaller because Europe had stockpiled high quality supplies from the 1978 U.S. tobacco crop. In addition, several European countries experienced a drop in domestic tobacco sales similar to the U.S.

A look at last year's tobacco sales to Japan is another indication of the poor showing by the U.S. on world markets. Although sales to Japan fell 6 percent in 1979 to 96 million pounds that country surpassed the United Kingdom as the leading destination for U.S. tobacco. In 1979, sales to the United Kingdom were off 54 percent.

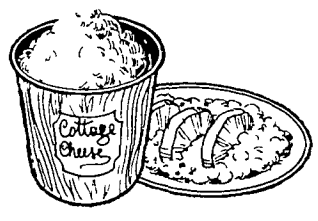
Some other important markets which showed declines of 20 percent or more in U.S. tobacco purchases from 1978 levels were Spain, Egypt, Denmark, Switzerland, and Sweden.

Nonetheless, most experts say the world market — where tobacco consumption increases about two percent per year — is the only place where significant growth can occur.

That assessment is rooted in the persistent increase in demand for cigarettes from the developing nations of the Third World.

In the Middle East and other Asian Countries, U.S. cigarette sales rose substantially last year, despite a early cutoff in exports to Iran. Exports of cigarettes to South America and Africa also increased.

This growing overseas market carries some hope for the tobacco farmer caught in the squeeze of smaller crop returns and inflation. Prospects for growth in cigarette exports are expected to support as much as a 14 percent increase in total U.S. cigarette output by 1990.



However, growing Third World demand for tobacco won't necessarily translate into long-term economic salvation for the American tobacco farmer.

Price is a key obstacle. Foreign buyers complain that, despite the high quality, U.S. tobacoo, is simply too expensive.

On world markets, U.S. flue-cured tobacco sold for $1.40 a pound in 1979, more than twice the selling price for Zimbabwe and Brazilian leaf.

Ironically, Federal price supports designed to help the industry may be pricing U.S. tobacco out of the world market.

An indication of the impact of price supports is the 1978 farm value of $2,826 per acre for tobacco Return over production costs is also substantially higher for tobacco than for most other crops.

Over the longer term the tobacco industry must also face the possibility of antismoking campaigns in foreign countries. As cigarette sales grow, foreign governments can benefit from increasing cigarette taxes.

On the other hand, many observers point out that these governments must also consider the potential increase in health care costs and question the use of meager buying power for tobacco instead of food, especially with already inadequate diets using precious buying power for tobacco instead of food, especially where diets are inadequate.

Even with these obstacles, USDA economists expect shifts in U.S. tobacco exports through the 1980's, with declines in developed country markets and some possible expansion concentrated in the developing nations where incomes and the demand for tobacco products are increasing.

Delaware State Fair cites champs

Maryland's Senator Mathias introduces ag preservation bill

ANNAPOLIS, Md. — Senator Charles McC. Mathias Jr., of Maryland, last week introduced legislation encouraging farmers to resist the pressure to sell their land to developers and to keep their land in agricultural production.

The Farmland Development Rights Act would offer tax advantages to farmers similar to those now offered to homeowners so they will participate in state programs designed to preserve farming land.

Mathias said his bill tracks programs in New York, New Jersey and Maryland where farmers can sell the development rights of their property to the state. The state purchases an easement on the property which prevents the owner from using the land for any other than agricultural purposes.

"The sale is theoretically in perpetuity but the farmers may buy back the rights after 25 years if it can be shown that profitable farming is no longer feasible," Mathias said.

The Mathias bill will allow a farmer to use the proceeds of these sales to buy more farmland without having to pay a capital gains tax. It will also allow a one-time only tax exemption of $100,000 if the farmer is over 55.

Mathias observed that since the states have limited funds available for these programs, the development rights are often sold for less than market value.

"My bill will narrow the financial gap by allowing the farmers to treat the difference as a gift for tax purposes," he said.

Mathias said discussions with Senator Jim Clark, President of the Maryland Senate, convinced him that action at the federal level was needed to keep farmland in production.

"Unfortunately, our country's farmlands are being converted to non-agricultural uses at a rate of over three million per year," Mathias said. "In the last decade alone, this urbanization process has swalloped up land the size of West Virginia."

"If the United States is to remain the world's leading exporter of agricultural products, we must act now to encourage American farmers to continue farming their land," the Maryland Senator said.

Thirty-six blue ribbon animals were selected to represent Montgomery County at the Southeastern Pennsylvania District 4-H Dairy Show, held at Kutztown Fair Grounds, August 30.

A typical 4-H dairy project is carried by the 4-H member for at least three years, one year as a calf, one year as a yearling heifer and then as a two year old producing milk. Some 4-H members elect to keep their better projects through more than one lactation of milk, a new lactation being started yearly.

4-H dairy club work in the county is conducted with the help of volunteer adult leaders and is supervised by county agent, Joseph H. Way.

Sullivan extension agent to retire September 30

LAPORTE — William H. Gregory, Sullivan County Extension director on Penn State's extension service staff, will retire September 30 with 32 years of service.

A native of Brodheadsville, Monroe County, Gregory was appointed to the Sullivan County Extension Service staff in 1948. He previously served as a vocational agriculture and veterans training instructor.

He received a bachelor of science degree in Agricultural education from Penn State in 1940.

Through his leadership, Sullivan County has one of the highest percentages of youth enrolled in Pennsylvania 4-H work. In recent years, county 4-H members have been recognized at district, state, and national levels.

Gregory was instrumental in organizing numerous educational dairy management clinics and introduced the unit demonstration farm approach to management programs. He developed the Dairy Herd Improvement Association milk testing program and served on all 4-H dairy show committees at the district level.

For his educational dairy programs, Gregory was recipient of the Pennsylvania Dairymen's Association Extension Award in 1970.

He assisted in initiating the annual Bow Hunters Festival which has attracted thousands of hunters from Pennsylvania and nearby states.

The retiring extension agent worked closely with all agricultural cooperatives in northeastern Pennsylvania in developing an educational program for farmer cooperative leaders.

He also has been a leader in the selection of scholars for the annual Pennsylvania Association of Farmer Cooperatives Summer Youth Institute held at Shippensburg State College.

In 1974 he received the Master Educator Award from the Pennsylvania Association of Farmer Cooperatives.

Gregory advocated the conservation of fuel, time, and soil through no-till systems of agriculture for corn, small grains, hay, and pastures. In recent years, more than 50 percent of Sullivan County's corn acreage has been grown using minimum or no-till systems.

In 1976 he received the Sullivan County Chamber of Commerce "Man of the Year" Award and Lions Club Certificate of Service for outstanding leadership in community resource development.

For his service to agriculture, Gregory was winner of a Distinguished Service Award in 1969 presented by the National Association of County Agricultural Agents.

The retiring extension agent is a member of the Sullivan County Chamber of Commerce, Delta Theta Sigma and Epsilon Sigma Phi fraternities, and the Pennsylvania and National associations of County Agricultural Agents.

Gregory and his wife, the former Jean Lewis, of Bloomsburg, a retired teacher, are the parents of a son.

1981 wheat program is announced

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland last Friday said for the second year in a row U.S. wheat producers would not need to set aside acreage to be eligible for the farmer-owned reserve, commodity loans and target price protection.

"Wheat producers need only to be sure they plant within their normal crop acreage to be eligible for all program benefits in 1981," Bergland said.

The farmer-owned reserve release and call prices for the 1981 crop will be increased from the current $4.20 and $5.25 to keep them consistent with the cost of producing wheat, he said. The exact amount of the increase will be decided when more precise cost information becomes available.

Bergland said he expects the Congress to authorize a special reserve loan that will provide an additional incentive to wheat producers to make more effective use of the farmer-owned grain reserve.

The measure under consideration by the Congress would set the special reserve loan for wheat at not less than $3.30 a bushel for the 1981 crop. It may be increased to provide adequate incentive for producers to use the reserve program, Bergland said

"The 1981 crop target price will be increased from $3.63 for the 1980 crop to at least $3.81, with the final amount dependent upon the magnitude of the increase in short-run production costs," Bergland said.

"The loan price will be at least $3.00 a bushel. After Congress completes action on the measure that provides for a special reserve loan, and supply prospects are clearer, we will make that determination," Bergland said.

The Secretary said wheat supplies are expected to be adequate, but not excessive in 1981 and that major uncertainties remain over grain and oilseed production this year Even greater uncertainties exist over production prospects for the 1981 season.

"If conditions change by next spring and it becomes evident that our wheat supplies will be excessive in 1981, a paid diversion program will be offered to wheat producers."

The final decision on a haying and grazing program will also be made before the spring grazing period begins

"While wheat producers can market wheat from the farmer-owned reserve without penalty through August 31, I do not expect large quantities will be sold," Bergland said.

"This means the supply of wheat available to the market at the current farm price is limited. I also expect farmers will place a sufficient quantity of 1980 crop wheat into the reserve so that the farm price will have to rise above the $4.20 reserve release price to satisfy 1980-81 market requirements.

"A farm price above $4.20 a bushel would tend to encourage a high proportion of our wheat producers to stay out of a set-aside program if one were offered. Our analysts tell me that only about half of the 1981 crop would be eligible for farm program benefits — including entry in the farmer-owned reserve program — if we required a set-aside. Given the uncertain crop outlook, it just doesn't make sense to withhold benefits from half the wheat producers next year," he said.

Bergland stressed the importance of the reserve program in allowing producers themselves to manage supplies.

"Under the current situation and the outlook for 1981, the farmer-owned reserve program becomes the principal tool for achieving a market balance which works in the interests of producers and consumers," he said.

The preliminary national program acreage for the 1981 wheat crop has been determined to be 71 million acres, but is subject to change depending upon subsequent developments.

A harvested acreage of 71 million acres, according to current estimates and assuming average weather patterns, would produce enough to satisfy the expected wheat demand during the 1981-82 season and bring wheat stocks to a level that would provide the assurance that the U.S. can be a reliable supplier of wheat in national and international markets.

"Consistent with the 1977 Food and Agriculture Act, those who want to be guaranteed target price protection on the normal production from their entire 1981 crop will need to hold plantings to no more than was planted for harvest in 1980," Bergland said.

Fulton Grange meets

OAKRYN — Fulton Grange No. 66 held their regular meeting August 25, 8 p.m. at their hall in Oakryn, Lancaster Co., with the Master, Thomas C. Galbreath presiding.

A report was given of a public meeting held August 13 at the Grange Hall which was called by concerned Grangers over weight limits being imposed by Pennsylvania Department of Transportation on a bridge over the Octorara Creek on route 272, at the Chester-Lancaster County line. The bridge is located between Oak Hill and Nottingham

The meeting was attended by local farmers, bus drivers, truck drivers, and others who have had to pay large fines to cross the bridge or have had to drive eleven miles out of their way for between two and three years

For some truckers and school bus drivers this inconvenience amounts to thousands of dollars being spent each year to drive the extra mileage as well as the extra man hours spent which is caused by the detour. The meeting was carried on Channel 8 TV.

PennDOT has now said they will issue permits to local farmers to take their machinery across the bridge because the earliest date a new bridge could be started would be two years. Sensing a need for local contracts with PennDOT officials to iron out some unfair requirements in the permits Grange Master Galbreath appointed J. Everett Kreider, Charles Wallace and Jesse Wood to work with them.

Clifford W Holloway Jr, chairman of the Grange tour committee, announced a one-day bus trip to Annapolis, Md., for October 1 The trip will include a guided walking tour of the U.S Naval Academy and a 45 minute boat trip around it, sponsored by the Navy

The youth committee reported that approximately 30 people attended the volleyball party August 15 at the home of Mr and Mrs. Edward L Zug

In other business the Grange gave a donation to the Robert Fulton Fire Co. Also there were nominations for new officers

The Lecturer, Mrs. Howard Miller, introduced Rev Mark King who spoke on "Living In The Troubled Times."

Election of officers will be held at the next meeting, September 8th and Grange members will discuss the different approaches on land preservation during the literary program

Community Night will be observed at the Sept 22nd meeting, commencing with a covered dish supper at 7 p.m.

Letters To The Editor

Dear editor:

I have just read your editorial on the Pequea Township Zoning Ordinance and I believe that several of the statements contained therein are totally unfair, misleading and create an impression that the Board of Supervisors is deliberately attempting to circumvent input from the farming community Nothing could be further from the truth

The September 24, 1980 date set for adoption of the Ordinance was set by my office with one purpose in mind — to have the effective date prior to September 30, 1980 to comply with the Federal Government's timetable that the floodplain provisions of the Ordinance had to go into effect by that date Nobody in my office knew that there was a Lampeter fair in the first place, and in the second place had not the slightest idea when it even took place I indicated this fact to Pat Kauffman approximately a week ago, but in spite of this fact, apparently your office decided to print this insinuation without checking it out.

As above indicated, I think that this is totally misleading and unfair to the governmental officials of Pequea Township. In this regard, I know without question that the Board of Supervisors and the Planning Commission welcome the input of the farming community with regard to the Ordinance This has always been the case and many of the agriculturally oriented problems that have arisen in the past have been reviewed with certain members of the farming community before action was taken

I think your comment with regard to the rush is also totally improper and unfair No municipality can adopt the floodplain regulations to meet the federal guidelines until all the mapping is done After this mapping is done, the time period for implementation is quite short and I felt very strongly that the floodplain regulations should be made a part of the total package which constitutes the revisions to the Zoning Ordinance. Pequea Township would unquestionably incur additional advertising and hearing costs if total adoption does not take place at one time. It was for this reason that the timetable was set up as it was.

I should further add that the critical date is not September 24, 1980 because we certainly anticipate having all of the "bugs" worked out by that date. On the contrary, the critical date is September 4, 1980 when the Planning Commission will hold its public hearing. After this public hearing the Supervisors and the Planning Commission will be able to review and digest the comments from all facets of the community and then make those changes that are necessary to adopt a fair Ordinance for the benefit of all residents of Pequea Township.

Consequently, I again point out to you that the September 4 date is the critical one.

My comments above are also geared to your language such as "railroad through a whole zoning package". This kind of editorial commentary in Lancaster County has not, in my opinion, ever sat very well with the reading public. If you are attempting to sensationalize the matter, I think that you should have all your facts straight before writing and making comments in this form.

It is my personal belief, without having the facts substantiated by either the Planning Commission or the Supervisors of Pequea Township, that several of the items contained in the Ordinance as originally drafted may be too restrictive (in particular, paragraph 3 of Section 1912) and need review and possible elimination.

The thrust of this letter is not to ward off legitimate comments with regard to the nature of the Ordinance. Certainly those comments in your article that are designed to constitute fair comment should be printed. My objections center around the form that the article took and the making of several remarks concerning the scheduling which are totally unfair and incorrect.

Charles B. Grove, Jr.
Pequea Township Solicitor

Dear Editor,

Too often we in the community at large hear only of the negative things young people do, either overlooking or never learning of all the fine constructive positive things greater majority of our young people do in their spare time.

We also overlook the handsful of adults who support our young people in the accomplishment of these endeavors, and in essence are co-operating with all of us who are parents of today's children, tomorrow's world-shapers We need to say thank you to them all many times over, we who are or are not presently parents.

Each of us can surely think of parallels in relation to the specific activities our own youngsters are involved in; for me of great impression is what I have observed these past months while my own youngsters have participated in 4-H. I've sat in attendance with my youngsters (rather than travelling out again in round-trip). There has been a bit of tom-foolery as is normal for healthy youngsters, but over-all there has been mutual interest and support among the children each for the other child's needs in his project, and the older youth as I observed very effectively drawing out discussion from the shy or younger members - one young boy in a recent experience being seen to suddenly beam with joy as he realized others were actively interested in what he had to say.

Others have helped the young club-reporter clip news releases from the papers which he had no access to, enabling him to do well on his Reporter's notebook, have helped gather needed parts for a difficult project, etc.

Throughout the year I have seen Mrs. Betty Rick, our Springtown Club's adult leader giving willing ear to youngsters at monthly meetings and over the phone, taking time along with her busy life of responsibilities as mother and as wife of a dairy farmer. In addition to all this, as a 4-H leader her time is tied up also with a mound of paper work that she must complete, and with accuracy of detail, if confusion and disappointment among her 4-H'ers is to be avoided, and they reap the rewards of growth from the assortment of project in which they work. Betty has encouraged parents and teens and other folk from the community to co-operate in her efforts with our young people, some lending their know-how to guiding youngsters in their projects; some who, like the postmistress in our town, afford avenue for display of the youngsters projects.

Others like the judges have spent numerous long hours evaluating the growth and quality of workmanship all wrapped up in the projects of each and every child.

At Fair the caring of each of these adults was especially apparent. My own youngsters waited at their places up to 90 minutes until the judge had the opportunity to confer with him. It would have seemed a long wait were it not that the judge spent adequate time with each youngster drawing out from the child as well as imparting to him information relative to the endeavor; he gave each youngster reasonable time tho' all the while he stood mid the press of a myriad others equally hot and sweaty who were interested in hearing what was to be heard about something interesting (not to mention

1979 Lebanon County Dairy Princess from R1 Jonestown.

Maulfair's intermediate calf entry was tagged the Reserve Junior Champion, adding still another win to her record.

The Reserve Grand Champion Ayrshire trophy will also be traveling to Lebanon County. Ann L. Weaver, R1 Fredericksburg, exhibited her 3-year-old Sycamore Meade Brave's Alert to the second place slot overall and followed the Maulfair entry as the Reserve Senior Champion.

The Junior Champion was nine-year-old Sherry Keefer's junior yearling "Bobbi". This heifer was the grand champion at the Dauphin County Roundup held two weeks earlier at the Farm Show Complex.

Once again David Feidt of Dauphin County stood at the halter of the Grand Champion Brown Swiss. The Millersburg youth's aged cow, "Rainy", was tagged Senior Champion by Judge Seidel. She was the grand champion at the County Roundup this year.

Lebanon County's Patti Heilinger showed her two-year-old, Marty L. Princess, to the Reserve Grand Champion honors after taking the Reserve Senior Champion trophy.

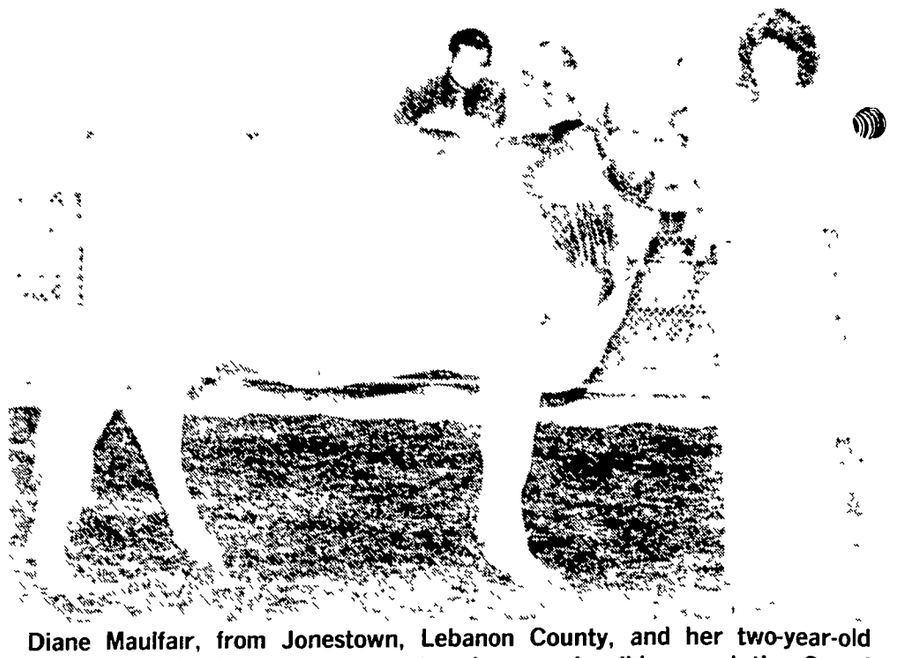
The Grand Champion Holstein at this year's Southcentral District 4-H Dairy Show was exhibited by Tammy Yost, R1 Hershey. "Etta" was the 1979 State champ.



Diane Maulfair, from Jonestown, Lebanon County, and her two-year-old Ayrshire "Milkdud" once again captured a purple ribbon and the Grand Champion's trophy.

Another Lancaster County youth and his senior yearling Jersey brought home a Grand Championship trophy. Matthew Arrowsmith, Peach Bottom, exhibited Pine Mountain Fashionable Anita to Senior Champion and then on to the top.

Next in line was Karen Hobaugh's junior yearling which captured the Junior Champion title before taking the Reserve Grand Champion honor. Hobaugh hails from R3 Hanover, Adams County.

The Reserve Junior Champion of the Jersey show was exhibited by Garry Martin, Shippensburg, Franklin County.

One of the stablemates in the well-known Rutter Brothers barns in York County was named Grand Champion Guernsey Exhibited by Tina Rutter, the aged cow, Rutter Bros. Pals Faith, was also the Senior Champion.

Another Rutter recruit captured the Junior Champion slot. This was Tina's senior yearling, Rutter Bros. Pals Wendy.

The reserve champion honors in the Guernsey show went to two Lancaster County 4-H'ers. Mary Ann Witmer, of Willow Street, Lancaster, exhibited her four-year-old to the Reserve Senior Champion title before being tagged Reserve Grand Champion of the show.

The Reserve Junior Champion went to Mike

Firm's largest mix mill expands, welcomes visitors

Lancaster County Poultry Queen Heidi Miller listens as Richard Moore explains the operations at Purina's quality control lab. Working in the laboratory is Joan Rentzel.

SHIREMANSTOWN — Who would believe that Ralston Purina's largest feed mixing plant in the United States is located right here in Pennsylvania and not in a large hog producing mid-western state?

The feed mixing plant is a large mill that grinds, mixes, and formulates pellets for over a hundred different feeds for cows, horses, hogs, chickens, turkeys, dogs and rabbits.

On Thursday, Lancaster County Poultry Queen Heidi Miller, and Alternate Debbie Herr toured the recently expanded Purina facility

The complex, which boasts computerized feed formulation in addition to its 50,000 square feet of warehouse space, has served southcentral Pennsylvania since 1954.

Earlier in the month, Pennsylvania Agriculture Secretary Penrose Hallowell, Commerce Secretary Geoffrey Stengel, and Ag Planning, Research and Development Director Dan Cook also toured the facility which showed its faith in Pennsylvania agriculture by expanding.

Ralston Purina Director of Operations John Zerbe told the state officials that central Pennsylvania is the fastest growing livestock and poultry area in the country. Both livestock and poultry need large amounts of feed grains. He added that Ralston Purina recently increased their plant capacity by 50 percent and that anticipated demand for their feed products in the 1980's will force them to expand again in the near future.

Zerbe explained rising transportation costs are forcing poultry and hog producers to move their facilities closer to their markets.

"We expect to see more and more of these industries expanding in Pennsylvania. It is cheaper to produce eggs, chickens, turkeys and hogs in Pennsylvania and ship them a short distance to the large east coast markets than to raise them in the south or mid-west and ship them hundreds of thousands of miles to market," said Zerbe.

"The cost of shipping a dozen eggs from Florida to the north has risen from two cents to over nine cents a dozen.

"It is encouraging to see private industry investing large amounts of money in Pennsylvania due to agricultural growth," said Hallowell. "Secretary Stengel and I are offering our assistance in cutting red tape and providing information on development loans for any future expansion that Ralston Purina may pursue in Pennsylvania.

"Economic development is Governor Thornburgh's number one priority. Expansion not only creates reliable jobs at the plant but increases job opportunities for truck drivers, salesman, warehouseman, stock boys and other jobs at local distributors of the feeds.

Plant expansion also creates more jobs on the farm. Most of the grain used at the Shiremanstown plant is purchased from Pennsylvania farmers. As Ralston Purina expands so will reliable market opportunities for Pennsyvlania grains."

When asked why Ralston Purina is so bullish on plant expansion in Pennsylvania, Zerbe proudly replied that July was the 36th straight month that the Shiremanstown plant shipped record volumes of feed.

About 150 to 200 trucks load processed feeds or unload grains 24 hours around the clock at the mill. "This can be a pretty busy place at five in the morning," said Zerbe.

PYRAMID CHORE-TIME™

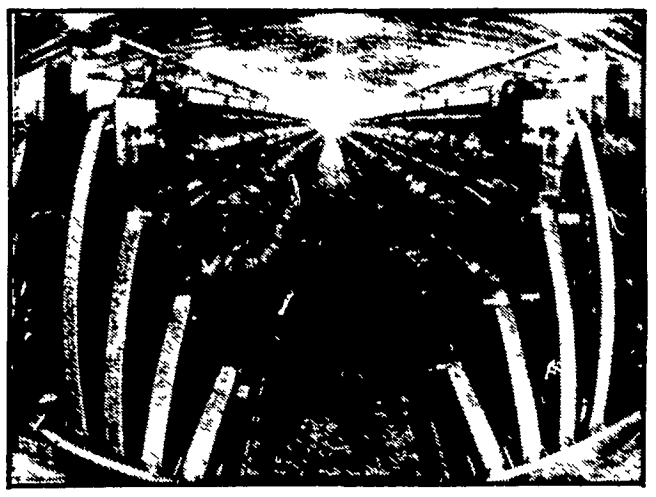
★ LESS BIRD STRESS

The system has been designed for bird comfort! Each bird has her place at the feed trough. Each has easy access to water Obstruction to light and the flow of air have been greatly reduced, providing more uniform ventilation and lighting for every bird Combined with Chore-Time's automatically controlled air inletting system, you get a layer house environment designed for bird comfort and the resulting better production

★ MINIMIZES FEED WASTE



Not only the physical shape of the feed trough, but the operation of the feeder has been engineered to reduce feed waste. The trough shape cuts down on feed loss from "raking" and "billing," while the feeder has been specifically designed for Chore-Time's programmed and performance feeding concept.

Brief answers to short questions

Sheila's Shorts

By Sheila Miller

How much for that land?

Did you ever wonder what your land was worth?

If you lease your land out to tenant farmers, what is a fair price to charge? Or, on the other hand, if you're looking for land to rent for farming purposes, what should you be paying?

These are questions that several Lancaster Farming readers have requested answers for.

When I began contacting local Extension offices to try to find out what prices are being paid for rented land, I started getting back questions from County Agents.

For example, they wanted to know what types of soils were on the farms in question and what the productivity of the land was.

They also wanted to know how the farm was laid out — were there large fields that could be farmed easily with big equipment or were the fields small and difficult to farm?

Another question they came up with was "What kind of crops will the farm support?" And is the farm available for a long-term lease or is it to be renewed each year?

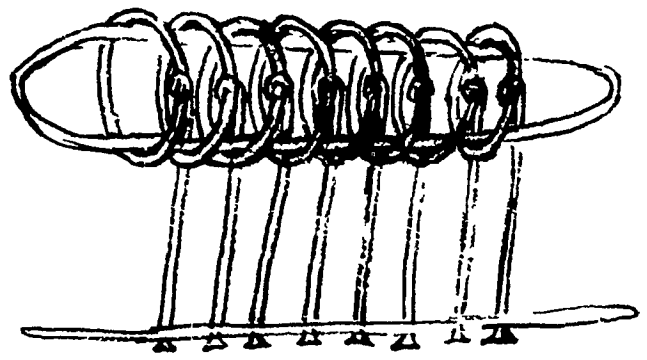
After being hit with all of these questions, I asked for just a general feeling of what farm land was renting for. Well, I got a general answer — less than $25 and over $100 an acre, came the reply. But, they did say the average has been somewhere around $50.

I suppose with so many variables to work with in determining a price to pay or charge, the best advice I can give our readers is to check with their local County Extension Agents. They will be aware of the average prices being paid for rented land in their areas, and they will be able to look at the individual farm's soils, fertility, and lay out to make some recommendations.

What a puzzle.

This next question I submit to the readers of Lancaster Farming to solve.

I have never been one to be able to solve mechanical puzzles. Friends and neighbors who want to see me frustrated just hand me the simplest contraptions to do or un-do as the case may be, and I'll sit there for hours determined not to let it get the best of me.



Most times I can accidently get the puzzle solved. Then feeling like I've conquered the thing, I mistakenly try to do it all over again. So much for the evening's entertainment.

Because my editor doesn't really want to have me tied up for a week, which would probably be the case if I tried to solve this puzzle, I'll let you try to unravel this one for R.G. Rauhauser, Box 765 Thomasville, PA 17364 who writes:

I have an old time puzzle and can't get it apart. Does anyone know how to get it apart?

I gave up. The most rings I can get off are four.

I'm not much of an artist as you can see, but this sketch should give the Lancaster Farming readers an idea of why I need some help.

Well, readers, take a look at the drawing and send in those suggestions on how it might be solved — you might be saving somebody's sanity and job.

Have a problem or a question that needs answering? Send it in to Sheila's Shorts and I'll see what I can do to help.

Baby Beef clubs compete

GOSHEN — The Montgomery County and Chester County Baby Beef Clubs participated in fitting, showing and livestock competition at the Goshen Fair on August 2.

Classes of competition included heifer, lightweight, medium weight, medium light weight and heavyweight. Grand and reserve champions were selected, along with showmanship honors.

Anyone interested in additional information concerning the Chester County 4-H Baby Beef Club may contact Robert Sickler at 692-1787.

Study refutes FDA's condemnation

DES MOINES, Iowa — National Pork Producers Initial reaction by the Council to the joint FDA and USDA announcement that insufficient evidence exists to take action against nitrites was one of relief.

In March, 1979, FDA and USDA announced proposed legislation to ban the use of nitrites based on the Newberne study which today was said to contain "insufficient evidence to initiate actions to remove nitrites from the U.S. food supply."

Pork producers are calling for equal publicity on this new position as a first step in repairing the damage done by the hasty and ill-conceived announcement of the nitrite ban.

In a statement issued shortly after the joint announcement, Bill Buller, NPPC president, chastized USDA and FDA for delaying a thorough evaluation and review of the nitrite study for nearly two years after such a recommendation was made by NPPC.

"It has been an exasperating experience for pork producers because of a series of bureaucratic stalls and stumbling blocks which further delayed today's announcement," said Buller.

In an April '79 response to Carol Foreman, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, Buller stated the pork industry's position concerning nitrites and recommended a completely new evaluation of nitrites be conducted in light of questions already surfacing concerning the credibility of the Newberne study.

Buller further stated that the hasty interpretation of the study unjustly placed a cloud of doubt over the meat industry that has seriously affected the consumer's confidence in a wholesome product.

MOVE GRAIN WITH AIR

- Save Money & Labor
- Utilize existing flat storage

We have PTO or self-powered units with a wide range of capacity.

Put your farm buildings to better use by storing grain in them. Buy a Neuero pneumatic grain conveying system to blow grain into, and vacuum grain out of, flat storage. One man can operate a Neuero system. Go anywhere with a Neuero . . . it's portable and versatile.
We can show you several more good reasons why a Neuero pneumatic grain handling system is your best investment. Let us demonstrate a model on your farm. Contact us this week for full details.

I really couldn't be more satisfied First of all I like the efficiency at harvest. With just two of us working, the entire harvest was nonstop

Then the 5¢ per bushel curing cost even included power for installation and our night light.

My buyer was quite impressed with my corn Test weight was from 57 to 58 lbs That means I got an extra $300 per 25 ton truck load Even the drivers commented on the good quality

I'm an Ag Engineering student at Penn State, and we do a lot of work with drying systems Out of curiosity I ran the Harvestall design through our computers and found that, for the most important aspect of drying air flow, the Harvestall bin is the optimum design

Actually, the Harvestall is the most profitable part of my operation With better marketing control I make an extra dollar per bushel For the farmer who needs storage or drying, the Harvestall Chillcuring system is the best investment I can think of

The Harvestall Chillcuring System

It's simple When grain comes out of the field it's a living seed So instead of destroying the seed with high heat, moisture is removed with natural air ventilation The grain keeps all its feed value, there is less shrinkage than with heat drying because only moisture is removed, not dry matter You'll never see white dust in Chillcured corn You actually save half of what you're used to losing in heat shrink

There's no gas or oil to buy Natural air carries away heat and moisture as the corn releases it

Harvestall Chillcuring is a back-to-basics system that just simply makes good sense Find out more about it

ASA supports soybean disaster payments

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — The American Soybean Association has told congressional leaders it does not oppose a disaster payment program for soybean growers.

"Soybean growers deserve some protection from disasters such as the current drought which has severely injured much of the 1980 soybean crop in the South and Midwest" said ASA President Frank Ray of Baker, Florida.

"We do support a soybean disaster payment program if it can be designed without the need for soybean target prices or other forms of government intervention. At the same time, we continue to oppose any legislation which authorizes the Secretary of Agriculture to establish a soybean target price, a soybean reserve program or a soybean set-aside."

ASA noted a soybean disaster payment program would be difficult to implement because the government lacks comprehensive soybean yield data that is used to calculate damage. Such information is available for wheat, feed grains, cotton and rice — all of which currently have disaster payment programs

Wednesday is deadline for All-American

HARRISBURG — Pennsylvania's Agriculture Secretary Penrose Hallowell Friday reminded dairy farmers that September 3 is the last day to enter the 17th Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show to be held September 22 to 26 at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg.

Hallowell challenged dairymen in the commonwealth to bring their best cattle to the All-American and "compete with the best in the East. Competition is one of the greatest incentives for the improvement and advancement of a farmer's herd."

This year's show will feature six "All-American" breed shows, two breed sales, the Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Coronation, the Dairy Shrine Annual Meeting and Honors Banquet, and many commercial exhibits.

The six dairy breeds – Ayrshire, Brown Swiss, Holstein, Milking Shorthorn, Guernsey and Jersey – will be competing for more than $66,000 in premiums.

The two breed sales will feature Brown Swiss and Holstein.

The Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Dairy and Allied Industries Association in cooperation with the Pennsylvania Farm Show Commission and the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture

GIGANTIC SELECTION IN Lancaster Farming's CLASSIFIEDS

Farm Talk

Jerry Webb

Small family farms may not be very profitable, but there sure are a lot of people who would like to have one.

I'm talking about young men and women who would like to operate their own farming units, perhaps starting as sharecropper or renter and eventually becoming owners. It's part of the great American dream, and even though it's infinitely more difficult to get started than it was a generation or two ago, it's still being done. Often enough to provide encouragement for some would-be farmers.

In the pre-World War II period a young man with a strong back and a good team of mules could get a start. He would become a sharecropper, work hard, build his reputation, save his money, and eventually move on to his own place.

Glenn Hawkins was that kind of a guy. He sharecropped my grandfather's farm in Missouri after the old man got too tired to manage it. That was back in the thirties. Glenn came to the place with a truckful of furniture and a team of horses.

Ten years later he made a down payment on the adjoining farm and retired a few years ago a fairly wealthy man. Not only had he been a successful farmer, but he happened to have purchased a farm on the edge of a small city that eventually became worth at least a million dollars.

Those kind of rags-to-riches opportunities don't come along every day, but they are out there.

For instance, a Clarion County, Pennsylvania farmer I heard about recently is looking for someone to lease his place. He has a heart condition and no obvious heirs to the farm business. So he's willing to lease to the right young family 136 acres that he called the best farm in the county.

It also includes the option to lease an additional 300 acres that belong to a coal company. The place is set up to handle dairy cattle and includes everything but the cattle. And the owner is even willing to defer lease payments for six months to a year to help a young farm family get started.

What more could a potential farmer ask for?

Really, what this fellow is saying is that he wants to step down from his active role and help a young family get started. He wants to keep the land, at least for the time being, and also enjoy some income from it.

The lessor would still need equipment, livestock and operating capital. That's a lot in today's farm economy, but it's not insurmountable, especially to someone who's already in a family farm business and looking to go it alone. Or to a young family that's been working for someone else for wages and who has the ability and perhaps some savings.

That's just one opportunity of many that must be out there. I know that every farmer approaching retirement age doesn't have an heir apparent to the farming business.

The right young man or woman with potential should be able to find these oportunities.

Like everything else, farm financing is difficult to obtain, but that's not to say that the business of farming has to be handed over to the conglomerates or the Wall Street investors. Family farms can continue if their operators or potential operators aere hardworking, trustworthy, and a little crative in their approach to getting started or to hanging in there.

I see stories all the time in the farm press about farmers who are making it on a few acres. They're diversifying, intensifying, double and triple cropping, combining hogs and strawberries, chickens and fruit trees, and all sorts of strange combinations to get the maximum dollar return from their investment.

The potential farmer who wants to grow corn and soybeans is probably looking at the most difficult way of all to get into farming. He's looking to start at a level that requires an investment and a risk far beyond most young people's abilities.

If the desire to farm is limited only to corn and soybeans, then I would say the young man or woman seeking entry is in for a difficult time. But it that beginner is willing to do some other things like dairy cows, fresh vegetables, pick-your-own fruit trees, hogs, or maybe even sheep, then there is some hope for getting started and some chance of success.

It used to be that almost all farmers diversified. That old saying about all the eggs in one basket applied particularly well to farmers.

Those who weathered the difficult years of the thirties were very reluctant to limit their activities to one or two crops. Instead, they had some of everything. So when beef prices were down, maybe the hogs would cover their loss. Or when wheat was in surplus, corn would pay the bills.

Some farmers stick doggedly to that philosophy, claiming even yet that diversity has allowed them to grow and prosper.

Other farmers have opted for specialization. On the Delmarva peninsula, that has meant corn and soybeans and lots of acres, with good production and price years more than making up for the bad ones. That's a higher risk business with more capital requirements.

Some farmers who made big expansion moves in the early to mid-seventies know very well the lesson from that kind of optimism. What looked like the beginning of a great agricultural boom triggered expansion and caused record farm machinery sales. But that boom soon turned to bust, and those same farmers found themselves riding those new tractors to

Dove season to open September 1

LANCASTER — Pennsylvania's 1980-81 hunting seasons will get underway on Monday, September 1, when hunters get their first chance at doves, gallinules and two species of rails.

Dove hunting starts as 12 o'clock noon and concludes at sunset daily, while shooting hours for sora and Virginia rails and gallinules runs from one-half hour before sunrise until sunset.

Hunters will again be able to take twelve doves daily this year, with a maximum possession limit of 24 after the first day of the season. The daily limit on gallinules is fifteen, with no more than 30 in possession after the first day of the season.

Both the daily bag and possession limits at any time on sora and Virginia rails are 25, singly or in the aggregate of the two species. This year there will again be no open season on king and clapper rails in Pennsylvania.

Hunters are not permitted to use shot size larger than BB for taking migratory game birds, under Game Commission regulations.

Washington in an effort to get them paid for.

A famer need look no further than recent livestock prices to see the advantage of diversified production.

Livestock prices, production costs increase

LITITZ — Livestock prices, particularly hog prices, rose sharply in July and early August, raising gross returns to producers. However, feed costs also increased rapidly, offsetting much of the higher returns.

Hog prices at Omaha increased from $43 per cwt. in early July to almost $50 in mid-August. Prices increased as hog slaughter declined from spring and year-earlier levels. Slaughter under Federal Inspection averaged 1.6 million head per week during the first half of the summer quarter, down from the record 2 million this spring, and 4 percent below a year earlier.

However, hog slaughter is expected to begin increasing substantially in September, with a further seasonal increase in October. During this period, hog prices could drop to the mid-to-upper $30's before rising later in the quarter as hog and broiler production declines.

Production costs for hogs have increased because of a sharp rise in corn and oilseed meal prices. Corn at Chicago increased from $2.65 per bushel in early June to $3.30 in mid-August. Soybean meal prices at Decatur rose from $160 per ton to $200.

These increases boosted total cash costs to nearly $45, a gain of nearly $5 for every cwt. of hogs sold. So although hog prices exceeded production costs in early August, they may fall below production costs later this fall.

These increased production costs may result in less pork being produced in 1981 than earlier expected. Since many hogs are produced on livestock-grain farms, some farmers may elect to sell their corn directly rather than market it through hogs.

This may cause June-November farrowings to be even smaller than producers indicated on June 1, 1980.

Feedlot placements will increase above year-earlier levels in the second half of 1980, but sharply higher feed prices will moderate the rate of increase, despite higher Choice steer prices and a likely return to profitable margins this fall

However, nonfed steer and heifer slaughter will increase because of the large feeder cattle supplies and drought-reduced grazing capability throughout many of the over-wintering area.

Nonfed slaughter is expected to remain large at least through the first quarter of 1981. Consequently, third and fourth quarter 1980 beef production will be near to slightly above year-earlier levels.

Fed beef prices will be bolstered late in the fourth quarter as fed cattle marketings and supplies of competing meats decline. Increased nonfed slaughter will help moderate price increases for fed beef as well as for hamburger and processing meats.

Fed cattle prices may average in the low $70's n the third quarter and increase ot near $75 late in the fourth quarter. Yearling feeder cattle prices will be held down by increased feeding costs and reduced demand. Yearlings likely will average only in the mid-$70's for the rest of the year.

Continued drought and bunched feeder cattle marketings could force prices even lower.

The midyear cattle inventory indicated a rapid early rebuilding of cattle inventories in the Plains and Western States where the cattle enterprise is a major source of farm income.

U.S. cattle numbers on July 1, 1980, were estimated at 123 million head, a four-percent increase over the 118 million a year earlier. The beef cow inventory expanded by six percent, or 2.3 million head. Record high cattle prices in the spring of 1979, favorable grazing conditions until this summer, and a very mild winter were all conducive to herd expansion.

Firm to defend use of Captan

SAN FRANCISCO, CA — Chevron Chemical Company Thursday announced that it will defend the continued use of the fungicide Captan, used to fight plant diseases such as blight, mold, rot and mildew in a wide range of fruits and vegetables.

The announcement was made in response to the issuance of a "Notice of Rebuttable Presumption Against Registration" for Captan by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

The RPAR document addressed two major criteria: mutagenic potential and oncogenic or tumor forming potential.

"In our opinion, when all the evidence available is evaluated, there is no hazard to the public from exposure to Captan," said E. L. Stripling, Jr., Vice President and General Manager of Chevron's Ortho Agricultural Chemicals Division.

"Captan's long record of performance as a fungicide has been outstanding. We will make every effort to provide ERA with all the in-depth scientific data they need and we are confident that after examining the information, EPA will rule in favor of the continued use of Captan as a fungicide," Stripling said.

The compound, which is presently registered for use on more than 40 different crops has been a standard agricultural fungicide since it was first introduced to farmers in 1951.

Major use of Captan are in the fruit and vegetable markets and as a seed-treatment for field crops. Experience with field use during the past three decades and extensive laboratory studies have shown the chemical to be extremely low in toxicity.

"We're certain that a rigorous examination of all available data will prove that Captan does not pose any significant hazard when used according to label directions," Stripling said.

RPAR is a process by which EPA reviews data on an already-registered pesticide. As part of its regulatory function, EPA has the option of selecting certain pesticides for an RPAR if they were approved under earlier regulations that may have been changed in recent years. However, RPAR does not mean that the product is banned. Farmers can continue to use Captan during all phases of the investigation.

During the process, registrants must submit evidence to show that the EPA presumption is not valid, or that methods of use and exposure are such that any potential for adverse effects is so low as to be acceptable.

Neither EPA nor Chevron spokespersons were able to give a precise date when an RPAR decision would be reached on Captan. However, the complete investigatory process frequently takes as long as two years.

There is a 45-day period following the notice for the submission of public and industry comments. Chevron spokespersons said that under EPA procedural rules, there are provisions to have the deadline extended by an additional 60 days.

Eastern officials talk with candidate's representatives

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Officials of the 4000 dairy-farmer member Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative met with representatives of Republican presidential candidate Ronald Reagan last Thursday, in our nation's capitol. An attempt is being made by the Syracuse, N.Y. based organization to schedule a similar confab with President Carter's people in the near future.

Howard McDonald, Eastern's General Manager, announced the purpose of the meeting was to gather information regarding farm policy matters as they pertain to the agricultural planks of the Republican platform, approved at the national convention on July 14, 1980.

The principal topics discussed included policy attitudes on milk price supports, federal milk marketing orders, farmer cooperatives, regulatory standards for antibiotics and pesticide residues and international trade.

Reagan is believed to be a strong supporter of the Federal Milk Marketing Order program. He also expects to listen to knowledgeable people before making a decision on cost-benefits of such issues as the CNI proposal.

A Republican administration does not, at this time, favor milk supply controls and tends to favor a workable program for supporting milk pricing, they said.

The Republican party candidates enthusiastically support the Capper-Volstead Act and strong farmer cooperatives. They are concerned over attempts to undermine the bargaining ability of dairy farmer cooperatives.

A Republican administration likely will work toward alleviating excessive regulations of agriculture, but will support programs necessary to provide an adequate and high quality supply of food for the nation's consumers. Support was also evident for the school milk and school lunch programs.

Reagan's representatives indicated that the Republicans are in favor of restoring the position of the farmer cooperative service in the Department of Agriculture which has been down graded under the reorganization program of the Carter administration. They intend to restrengthen the role of the U.S. Department of Agriculture and will support the USDA administration of the Capper-Volstead Act.

Those in attendance from Eastern Milk Producers included President Stanley Korona of Amsterdam, N.Y.; Legislative Chairmen Victor Brooks, of Warwick, N.Y. and George Stambaugh, of Newville, Pa.; Joseph Mathis, economics and Research Manager; and Arden Tewksbury.

Those representing the Food and Farm Division of the Reagan-Bush Election Campaign Committee were Seeley Lodwick and Richard Lyng, Director and Co-Director, respectively.

Supports no-till research

Research with weed control in no-tillage corn at Penn State's College of Agriculture received support recently in a $750 grant from the Pennsylvania Master Corn Growers Association, Inc. The grant went to Nathan L. Hartwig, left, from Walter C. Johnson of R1, Julian, right, association secretary-treasurer. The two examine buildup of organic matter which possibly reduces herbicide activity under no-tillage conditions.

Apple output up 7%

HARRISBURG — Pennsylvania commercial apple production is expected to total 570 million pounds in 1980, up seven percent from the 535 million pounds produced in 1979, according to the Pennsylvania Crop Reporting Service. Pennsylvania ranks fifth in the nation in apple production.

York Imperial continues to lead all varieties with production forecast at 140 million pounds.

Other varieties in order of importance are: Delicious, 97 million pounds; Golden Delicious, 95 million pounds; Stayman, 85 million pounds; Rome, 75 million pound; Jonathan, 20 million pounds; MacIntosh, 18 million pounds; Cortland, eight million pounds; and all other varieties, 32 million pounds.

Walk corn fields now to confirm hybrid choices

LITITZ — It isn't always comfortable walking fields of full-grown corn, but growers who haven't done it may be in for some surprises at harvest time, especially this year. You can't assess corn yield potential from the road because the "outside row" effect will fool you every time.

An annual field-by-field checkup can help you sharpen your management in many ways. Be on the lookout for such basic managerial inputs as weed and insect control.

Herbicide application timing or technique may require adjustment in the future. Evidence of insect damage needs to be assessed. Corn borer and other insect activity should be identified and analyzed in anticipation of improved pest control.

You may find that because of the varying and somewhat abnormal growing conditions, these aspects of your cropping program will show different results than you're used to, says DeKalb Agronomist Wayne Fowler. Even so, there is one more important aspect of your program you'll want to give particular attention — the corn hybrids, themselves.

Soil fertility and tillage programs are often reflected in crop appearance. Recognition of a problem, plus some detective work to identify the culprit, may lead to adjustment of fertilizer rates or analysis.

Soil compaction problems, once identified, dictate a change in time and extent of tillage.

A pre-harvest review is almost essential to the wise choice of hybrids for the next season. One word of warning, however; don't base all hybrid decisions on one field or the experience of only one year. Get overall assessments from several fields in your area. Visit demonstration plots growing on soils and under conditions similar to yours, he advises.

Well-formed ears that have scattered or limited kernel-set indicate that heat caused the hydrid to miss its pollination "nick." Silks were delayed to the point that little or no pollen was available when they became receptive. Or, possibly, pollen was killed by heat or low humidity before it did its job.

Scattered barren plants should not be of concern, but if more than about 10 percent of the plants have no ears, you are seeing the result of more stress than the hybrid could handle. This could be due to drought, heat, inadequate fertility, disease or insect infestation, higher populations than appropriate for the management, or several other things.

Hybrid maturity, date of planting, and hybrid stress tolerance all enter into the degree of barrenness that may be observed.

In your pre-harvest field examination, be very alert to stalk quality. Plants that have been through stress are prone to soft, weak stalks. You can detect these by pushing the stalk to see if it gives away below the ear. Some hybrids and some fields may be affected by this more than others. You may want to arrange your harvest schedule so as to get those most likely to go down first.

With different reactions from different hybrids this year, it may be a wise management decision to order early the hybrids you feel are doing the best job.

You may want to send for a DeKalb publication, "Diagnosing Corn Problems in the Field," from DeKalb AgResearch, Inc., Sycamore Road, DeKalb, IL 60115.

Sussex County should be hit hard

Big armyworm buildup seen for Delmarva area

DOVER, Del. — High numbers of moths are showing up in black light insect traps in Sussex County, says Delaware extension pest management specialist Mark Graustein.

Moth populations are moving up from the South, and by early September we'll probably be experiencing a worm outbreak in Delaware.

Insects involved are primarily corn earworm and fall armyworm, and, to a lesser extent, beet armyworm, according to the specialist. The crops that will be hardest hit are soybeans, sweet corn, peppers, tomatoes, lima beans and snap beans. Sussex County will bear the brunt of the attack.

The hot, dry weather of July and August has dried up corn, especially non-irrigated corn. The moths won't lay their eggs in dry corn, so they'll be looking for soybeans and vegetables instead. Soybeans are particularly vulnerable this year because the moths tend to be more willing to enter a crop with an open canopy

Due to the dry weather, many of the soybean fields this year have open canopies. The dry weather has also kept down the populations of beneficial insects and fungus diseases that ordinarily hold the worm populations in check.

These interlocking factors, all going back to the dry weather, make conditions extremely favorable for worms.

Check soybean fields frequently in the next few weeks, Graustein advises.

Shake the worms onto a three-foot shake cloth and count them. Do this in at least five places in the field — ten would be better.

Treatment is necessary if you find three earworms per three feet of row in field with wide rows or one worm per three feet of row in fields with narrow rows.

In fields where pod set is poor, treatment is necessary when the average earworm count is 1.5 per three feed of row.

For soybeans, use Lannate or Nudrin at two pints, or Orthene at one pound per acre. If the infestation is severe, add one-quarter pint Parathion to the Orthene.

If the population is earworms only (no fall armyworms or best armyworms) you can treat with four pints of Penncap-M.

USDA explains new brucellosis rates

WASHINGTON, D.C. — New indemnity rates for cattle slaughtered because of brucellosis are substantially better than the old rates, a U.S. Department of Agriculture official said recently.

The new rates, in effect since June 27, are based on 88.5 percent of average replacement cost less average slaughter value. For example, the current rate for non-registered beef cattle is $62 — up from $50. This is 88.5 percent of $585 (average cost of replacements) less $456 (average slaughter price).

Paul Becton, director of the national brucellosis eradication program for USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service, said, "these more equitable rates provide an incentive for cattle owners to cooperate fully with ongoing efforts to eliminate this disease once and for all."

According to Becton, this rate is the same for all states and will be subject to quarterly adjustment depending upon changes in market values.

The new indemnity rates for non-registered dairy cattle, however, vary from state to state in keeping with the differing replacement costs nationally. Indemnity for them now averages about $460, in contrast to the old flat rate of $150.

For indemnity purposes, such cattle must be over 20 months of age and in a dairy producing milk for commercial use. The rates for non-registered dairy cattle also will be subject to quarterly adjustment.

The new rates for registered cattle, beef or dairy breeds will be subject to annual adjustment only. Compared with the old rates, however, they are up the sharpest.

The registered beef breeds rate, for instance, is $727, up from $250 for any registered cattle. The new rates for registered dairy cattle vary according to breed.

They are: Ayrshire - $476; Brown Swiss - $830; Guernsey - $591; Holstein - $1,099; Jersey - $922; Milking Shorthorn - $627.

Although not mandatory, USDA also may pay indemnity on female calves under six months of age that are nursing reactor dams. The new rates are $50 for non-registered females and $250 for registered ones, compared with $25 for all such calves formerly.

Becton said the old flat rates now become the minimum rates payable. The new indemnity schedule also includes maximum rates that cannot be exceeded.

Brucellosis, also called Bang's disease, is an easily spread bacterial disease that causes abortions, slow breeding and sterility. Lower milk yields often result when dairy cattle are infected.

Becton said the goal of the brucellosis program is to eradicate the disease in the fewer than one-half of 1 percent of U.S. cattle that are still infected, while protecting the more than 99.5 percent that are clean.

This can only be achieved with the active participation and support of cattle producers, he said.

Stockyard sales quota appeal upheld

SIOUX CITY, Iowa — A petition to strike down a U.S. Department of Agriculture order permitting Sioux City Stock Yards, Sioux City, Iowa, to establish minimum volumes sales requirements for all market agencies doing business at its facility has been dismissed in a split decision by the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Eight Circuit

"This was the first real test we have had on the Packers and Stockyards Act," USDA official James L. Smith said Smith is a deputy administrator of USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service.

"The P&S Act," Smith said, "charges us to promote and maintain fair and open competition in the marketing of livestock, meat and poultry. The rule review by the courts is based on an amendment which insures that owners and operators can run their stockyards smoothly and efficiently, providing a healthy, competitive public market."

Led by Western Iowa Farms Co., 16 of the 23 market agencies handling livestock at Sioux City Stock Yards filed a petition to review USDA's order on the grounds that the stockyard company's rule was "unreasonable and discriminatory." The order permits the Sioux City division of Union Stockyards Corp. to require market agencies to pay an annual minimum fee equal to yardage fees calculated on the handling of 25,000 cattle and 55,000 hogs.

The rule was initially put into force by Sioux City in September, 1977. At a formal hearing held for petitioners in April, 1978, a USDA administrative law judge ordered Sioux City Stock Yards not to enforce the rule. In September, 1979, the secretary of agriculture, through the USDA judicial officer, reversed this position and dimissed the petitioners' complaints, Smith said. The recent ruling by the appeals court upholds this reversal.

parents who were concerned their child not be skipped accidentially ..) A seemingly thankless job and yet one so important to our children and their developing feelings about themselves about their participation in their project interests.

I'd like to thank friends and neighbors who co-operate in carpools, assuming liability and responsibility for our children so that they can participate in activities of positive orientation And this summer particularly I'd like to thank my youngsters' teachers at school and church, particularly one who gave of her summer spare time to co-operate with us in working with our son on a special assignment.

It is certainly reassuring that we parents are not alone in caring and sharing in the responsibility of rearing healthy, sensitive citizens of the world in our old age.

It is time we all thank those who co-operate with us in this regard, our most cherished; and thank also editors who make an effort to publicize the good things young people do, aware that what our young people see in the media and read in the news presents a picture of life that all people assume to be the norm and that young people will accept as guidelines for them to live up to (I'd like to encourage our editors to give even greater emphasis to the good news, giving less spectacle to the kind of news we'd all rather become the exception than the rule)

Shirley Platt

Dear Editor:

As a farmer I am very concerned about the passage of House Bill 1794. This the right to farm bill that deals with nuisance suits that can be brought against farmers by Township Commissioners.

Ordinances of this nature are generally instigated by commercial and residential builders and developers that persuade the Township Commissioners and the Zoning Board to pass these ordinances; they show the township how many more dollars in taxes they can obtain by eliminating the farms within the township.

By past experience with an eminent domain case on this farm that lasted 15 yrs. before conclusion up thru courts to Commonwealth Court, township suits brought against this farm in the operation of farm equipment on the road between farms up thru the District Justice, County Court and Superior Court lasting two years, township suits against this farm regarding zoning & building thru District Justice, County Court, I am aware of the costs involved and time taken from my farming operations.

I have experienced how the township, District Justice and County Justice "play ball".

Incidentially, all the aforementioned cases have been won by this farm "on its on, without outside help." There are at this time 2 other cases still waiting trial by jury in this county court..

Experience has taught me not to depend or rely on support from the Pennsylvania Farmers Assoc., and other farm organizations; if you are an officer in these organizations it is a different story. You must learn "to paddle your own canoe." After on your own you win cases these organizations try to take credit for your efforts in order to obtain new membership.

I urge these farm organizations to take the initative to contact their membership to contact their Senators and Representatives to vote for passage of House Bill 1794.

Regarding the Pequea Township Ordinances and story in LANCASTER FARMING, Aug. 23, 1980, as pertains to the farmers in that township, Farmers your best bet for each of you is to write and ask your Senators and Representatives to support House Bill 1794. You can win without writing, but your court expenses time and attorney fees will be great. This bill will overrule your township codes without court action or attorney fees.

Please print a front page story in bold print in the LANCASTER FARMING the importance of the passage of House Bill 1794 and urge all segments of agriculture - farmers, implement dealers, feed dealers, etc. to write to their Congressmen, to help themselves.

Dear Editor:

Thank you for the good coverage of our county 4-H round-up. We also had home economics, sewing and crafts round up at the same time.

This was our first year for a combined roundup and the results were encouraging. The 4-Hers and parents were amazed to learn how many of their friends and neighbors were also participants in other 4-H projects.

Thank you for the coverage of the Urban 4-H dairy members. Please say, about the non-farm kids, that they may work with their project animals more readily than some farm youth because it is something entirely new and different from what they are familiar with.

Farm youth are dependable with their chores because it is something they grew up with and they have learned to take responsibility for the family and the farm.

Again we from Dauphin County Dairy 4-H and the 4-H Clubs as a whole say thank you to the Lancaster Farmer.

Theresa B. Williams
Thomas B. Williams
Dauphin Co. 4-H Leaders

Dear editor,

You say, "here's a stupid zoning proposal" in your August 23 editorial on Pequea Twp. Lancaster County. Why don't you say—all zoning is stupid. And it is also theft.

Stealing is the taking of a person's property—or the prevention of its use.

This zoning in Pequea Township is designed to prevent person (farmer) from using his property as he desires. (as long as the farmer does not interfere with someone else's use of his property as he desires—and vice versa).

Q.E.D., it is a plain case of stealing, plunder, theft. Legal plunder to be sure—

But if farmers have the right to zone to restrict land to only farming where they are the majority--why shouldn't the majority have the right to zone out farming where they are in the majority? You do believe in majority rule don't you? (This is another one of the Cliches of Socialism.)

Holstein Assn. slates two barn meetings

LANCASTER — The Lancaster County Holstein Association has scheduled two barn meetings to be held September 9 and 10 at 7:30 p.m.

Clarence Stauffer, field representative for the Holstein-Fresian Association and a Holstein classifier, will conduct the evening programs.

The first meeting will be held Tuesday, September 9, at 7:30 at the farm of Titus B. Stoner, 3207 Bowman Road, Landisville.

To get to the Stoner farm, take Route 283 west to the East Petersburg exit. Turn south and travel to the stop sign. Turn west onto the Harrisburg Pike and take the second road to the left which is Bowman Road.

Stoner's farm is the last farm on the right.

On September 10 at 7:30 the second barn meeting will take place at the farm of Jay L. Ranck, R2 Peach Bottom.

The Rancks live about seven miles south of the Buck along Route 272. It is the first farm on the right after Powl's Feed Service.

Refreshements will be served at both meetings.

Broiler placements

HARRISBURG — Placements of broiler chicks in the Commonwealth during the week ending August 16 were 2,277,000, six percent above the corresponding week a year earlier, according to the Pennsylvania Crop Reporting Service.

The placements were four percent below the previous week. Average placements of broiler chicks during the past nine weeks were slightly below a year earlier.

In the 21 key poultry producing states, placements of broiler chicks were 69,464,000. The placements were four percent below the previous week and 11 percent below the same week a year ago. Average placements in the 21 states during the past nine weeks were three percent below a year ago.

Broiler fryers slaughtered in Pennsylvania under Federal Inspection during the week ending August 6 totaled 1,658,000, with an average liveweight of 3.83 pounds.

Lancaster holds 4-H Achievement Days

BY PAT KAUFFMAN

LANCASTER — Hundreds of enthusiastic youngsters packed into the Farm and Home Center last Thursday for the annual 4-H Achievement Days.

Youth from across the county displayed projects ranged from wildlife to clothing. From 12:30 p.m. exhibit set up to the 9:30 p.m. end of the awards program, the kids compared projects and basked in the glow of jobs well done.

One of the highlights of the evening was the crowning of the 4-H queens. Senior queen for 1980 is Pam Goss, a member of the Penn Willow 4-H Club. Runnerup was Yvonne Eshelman of the Penn Manor 4-H.

Junior queen for the coming year is Renee Haldeman from the Elm-Penryn Club, with Lisa Fenstermacher from the Garden Spot Club named runnerup.

A talent competition during the evening was won by a young cellist, John Charles. His efforts netted him a $25 award. Placing second in the talent competition was Kathy Shenk with a vocal solo, and Wendy Landis placed third with her piano solo.

Lancaster County Bankers' Association awarded cash prizes of $200 each to the following 4-H'ers: Nancy Mays, Karen Hostetter, Guy Eshelman Jr., Stanley Heisey, Susan Howell and Jeanette Martin.

Farm Women Society 19 awards were presented by Wilma Boyd. The $50 bonds went to Heidi Haselhorst in the food category, and Susan Howell in the clothing division.

Stacy Nestleroth, barrel seats; Chris Reist, flowers; Jennifer Wilson, folk art; Michael Gish, general; Kim Mowrer, leather; Colleen Hollinger, natural arts; Sharon Beale, oil painting; Amy Mays, textiles; Brenda Stoltzfus, cake decorating, junior; Becka Baum, cake decorating, senior; Glenda Faus, molded cake; Nancy Mohler, clothing, hand sewing; Tanya Rohrer, scarf stitch; Brenda Hess, create-a-skirt; Karen Brubaker, Let's Sew I; Jennifer Harnish, Let's Sew II; Diane Martin, knitting; Dawn Powers, crocheting; Jody Oberholtzer, food, junior; Chris Phyle, food, senior; Danielle Marion, macrame, junior; June Royer, macrame, senior; Gayle Weaver, nutrition education display; Cindy Risser, geology; and Sherry Goss, wildlife.

Horticulture: Guy Eshelman, indoor flowers; Cindy Risser, outdoor flowers; Scott Hess, general vegetable #1; Cindy Risser, general vegetable, #2; Ed Howell, general vegetable, #3; Floyd Huber, sweet corn; Amy Jo Erb, tomatoes.

Garden Spot Club won the scrapbook competition and Mary Anne Bassalin was the winner of the Foley Foods Award.

Mary Anne Bassalin was the winner of the Foley Foods Award during the Achievement Days program.

Chemical waste and through petitions and a public outcry OUCH hopes to force the permit to be lifted after showing the dumping constitutes a threat to the environment.

Funds are being sought for OUCH. Tax deductible contributions will be handled through the Jefferson branch of the Peoples Bank of Glen Rock.

Speakers at Thursday evening's public information meeting stressed that attendance at several upcoming sessions is of prime concern to those interested in stopping the dumping.

"The Killing Ground,' an ABC documentary report on toxic chemical dumps will be shown by OUCH at 2:30 p.m. this Sunday in the Life Sciences Building at York College.

"The Killing Ground" details problems with chemical waste disposal at other sites and includes background information on several large dumping grounds across the country including the notorious Love Canal in New York.

OUCH also urged the public to attend the North Codorus Township meeting Wednesday evening September 3 beginning at 7:30 p.m. at the Township Building in Stoverstown. The dump proposal will be discussed at that meeting.

Ironically the proposed dump is just a few miles from the site of a controversial agricultural land-spray sewage system which residents fought just a year ago in neighboring Springfield Township.

That sewage system temporarily has been shelved and several municipalities have refused to pay their allotments of funding when the South Central Sewer Authority voted not to condemn any land.

In the second time at bat against DER residents of this rural York County farm area hope to knock this latest threat against their properties right out of the ballpark.

Penn-Bell Ben's Holly, consigned by Robert W. Campbell, Narvon, sold for 1090 to Lancaster dealer Melvin Kalb. She was bred to Penn-Bell Cavalier's 2D2. Holly has a maternal sister with a two year old record over 600 pounds fat.

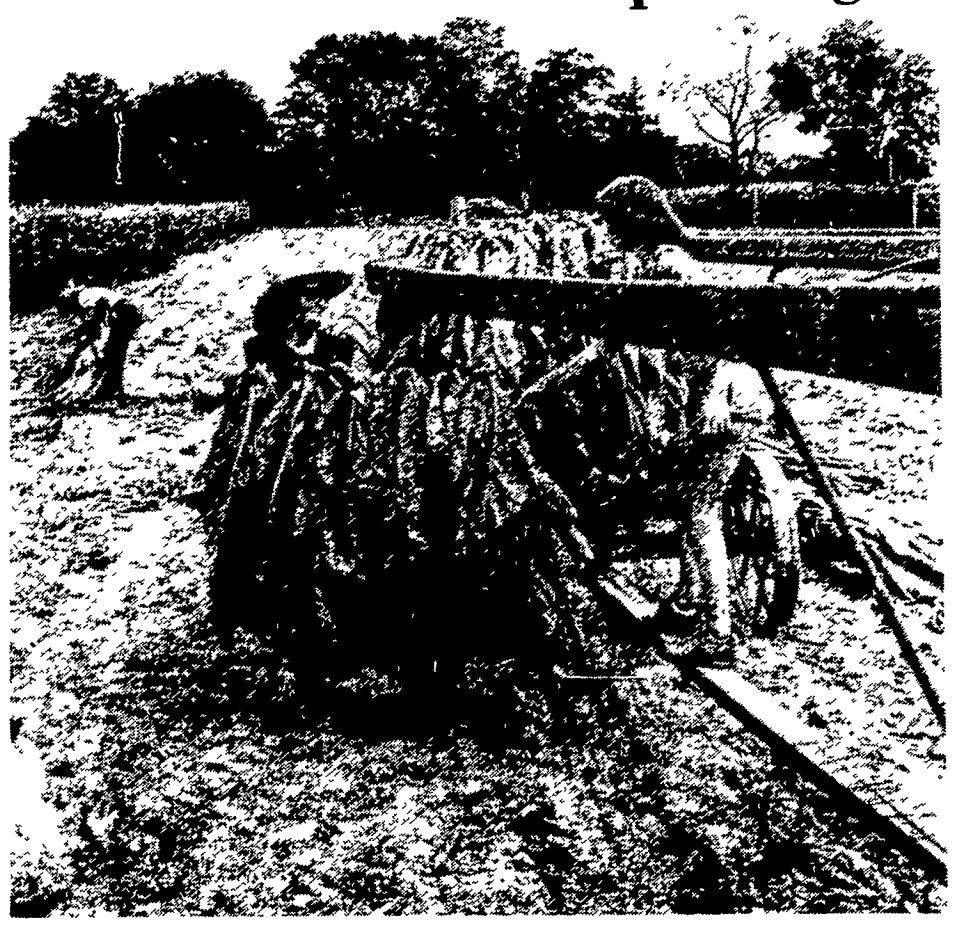
Tobacco harvest clips along



Art Reist, in background, his wife Marian and daughter Christine removed what he termed "a good crop in spite of a lack of rain" from their three acres of tobacco. Leaves around the county are large and Reist said he is putting five bunches on almost all lathes, and four on some. Production from the family's Eden area farm usually goes to General Cigar.

Drivers can keep road-kills

Hallawell Jack's June 2K, consigned by Samuel J. Diehl, Bedford, sold for $1130. The bred heifer went to Glen Fite's Shady Lane Dairy, Quarryville.

HARRISBURG — The Pennsylvania Game Commission is changing its policy on deer which have been killed on highways to permit motorists to keep the venison if they want it.

For years game protectors were able to give deer killed on highways to institutions, charitable organizations and certain needy persons. But increasingly tighter health inspection requirements have removed any of the former outlets for disposal of deer.

By making it possible for motorists who kill deer on roads to retain the venison, greater utilization of a valuable resource will be possible. The venison may help compensate the motorists for vehicular damage, and will save the Game Commission time and money in deer disposal.

A driver who accidentally kills a deer with a vehicle on a road may now be permitted to retain the carcass. The driver must request from a district or deputy game protector a permit to keep the deer.

The permit will entitle the motorist, who must be a Pennsylvania resident, to consume the venison at home during a 60-day period. The meat cannot be sold or given away or transferred to another person or property. The deer cannot be kept by the motorist without the necessary permit.

The motorist may be required to deliver the head and hide of the animal to a Game Commission representative.

It probably will take more than a month for the Game Commission to have the permits printed and to put the new policy into effect.

POSITIVE SUGGESTIONS TO COPE WITH THE DROUGHT!

Penn-Jersey HARVESTORE Systems

P O BOX 7 • NEW HOLLAND PA 17557 • 717/354-4051

Mr. John Hill

DEAR LIVESTOCK FARMER,

We realize that in some of the areas we service, livestock farmers are experiencing severe drought conditions. Since a severe drought in our area is a rare occasion, we feel positive suggestions of coping with cropping, fertilizer, and harvesting techniques would be well received.

As part of A. O. Smith HARVESTORE'S professional staff, John Hill, Research Coordinator, has nationwide experience working with similar circumstances. Along with John's suggestions, we have assembled some helpful hints from the Extension Service of Penn State.

Topics to be discussed are:

1. Feeding value of drought-stricken corn silage.
2. Suggestions for a quick forage crop following corn silage yet this year.
3. Double crop opportunities for spring.
4. Hold-over of unused fertilizer components.
5. Fall grain purchases.

The special-called meetings are as follows:

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 3, 1980

10:30 a.m. — Holiday Inn, West - Allentown, Pa.

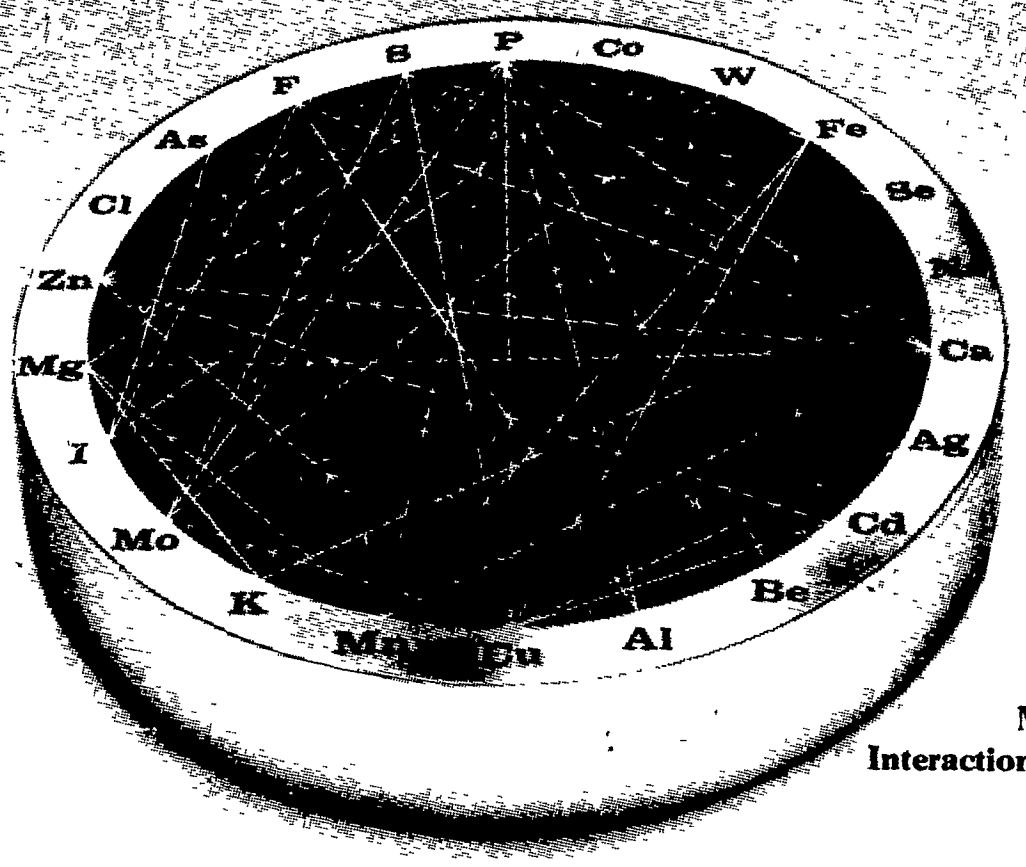
Understanding your dairy herd's mineral needs is as simple as this.



Mineral Interaction Chart

One mineral decision depends on another.

Planning an effective dairy mineral program cannot be accomplished without a complete knowledge of mineral interactions. That's why more and more dairymen rely on their Wayne® dealer for all their mineral needs.

Plan your mineral program around your roughage program.

The people at Wayne Feeds can simplify mineral planning. Because they're experts in animal nutrition.

And your Wayne dealer will help balance your alfalfa, silage or other roughage with special minerals designed to meet your dairy herd's requirements with P12, P16, P18 and P20 as calcium/phosphorus sources.

Wayne Feeds is your mineral source.

Your Wayne dealer carries a full line of minerals—all fortified with additional vitamins and trace minerals. And compatible with Wayne Feeds' full line of feed products.

For peak production, you need the hard facts on minerals. Let your Wayne dealer make it simple with Wayne dairy minerals.

Breckbill, Yoder win top Kutztown FFA dairy honors

BY LAUREL SCHAEFFER
Staff Correspondent

KUTZTOWN — FFA members from nine Southeastern Pennsylvania counties gathered with their best dairy animals on August 19 at the Kutztown Fairgrounds, to participate in the 25th annual District Dairy Show.

Competing against more than 200 other entries to win the Breeder/Exhibitor honors was a three-year-old Holstein named, Breck-A-De Linda Tippy Sue, owned and exhibited by Ed Breckbill, Oxford, and a three-year-old Milking Shorthorn, Pinesedge G.K. Kizzi, owned and exhibited by Nedra Yoder, Shoemakersville.

The Milking Shorthorn breeder/exhibitor represented the best of the colored breeds at the entire show while the Holstein cow represented her breed only, being the largest breed entered with more than 128 entries competing.

Breckbill also exhibited the Grand Champion Holstein, a two-year-old named Twin-Hills Breck Arl De, sired by Soltys Admiral Astronaut, and also led his prize three-year-old to Reserve Champion honors. Breckbill graduated from Oxford High School in 1978 and has since joined his father and brother in a partnership, operating a Breck-A-De Farm, Oxford. Presently they are milking about 80 registered Holsteins and farming 550 acres.

Other Grand Champions of the day were Eureka Hi Kick Christy, a two year old Ayrshire owned and exhibited by Susan Kulp, of Owen J. Roberts FFA Chapter; Alaric Pavanne Fia, a four year Brown Swiss exhibited by Gary Mase, of the Little Dutchmen FFA Chapter; Cedar Fringed Ingrette, a four-year-old Guernsey exhibited by Robert Kirk, Solanco FFA; Faithful Pacesetter Lassie 2, a three-year-old Jersey exhibited by Marilyn Deaven of Northern Lebanon FFA; and Clayside Cinderella 6th, a four-year-old Milking Shorthorn exhibited by Wendy Yoder of Hamburg FFA.

In showing and fitting classes Scott Troutman, Conrad Weiser was awarded Master Showman for class 1 while class 1 master fitter was awarded to Steve March, Owen J. Roberts. In class 11 competition, Master Showman was Kevin Sattazahn, Conrad Weiser and Master Fitter was Steve Kauffman, Elizabethtown. Class 111 honors were bestowed on Alan Hostetter, Annville-Cleona for Master Showman and Kirby Horst, Eastern Lebanon, Master Fitter.

100
SILAGE FORTIFIER

A revolutionary new concept in improving silages. University tested and proven MOPRO Liquid Silage Fortifier is formulated to balance the major mineral and protein deficiencies of silages. It also prevents loss from mold and rot after being removed from the silo or trench. MOPRO is added at the time of ensiling and is applied by metering equipment with very little handling cost. MOPRO will not corrode mild steel tanks or brass fittings and has no free ammonia odor to irritate the eyes or skin. MOPRO is a homogeneous solution of ammonia salts, urea, cane molasses, and minerals (except salt and calcium) in an efficient liquid carrier. It provides nitrogen for improved fermentation in the rumen and contains a mineral balance of phosphorous, magnesium, and trace elements. MOPRO 100 will give a resulting silage of up to 14.3% protein.

Snyder is top showman at N.J. Polled Hereford preview

FAR HILLS, N.J. — Gail Snyder, of New Tripoli, was named Champion Senior Showman at the New Jersey Polled Hereford Association Preview Show held here recently.

Following her in the Reserve Champion position in the Senior division was Jackie Heflick, Belle Mead, N.J.

In the Junior Showmanship competition, Greg Marshall, Port Byron, N.Y. and Gary Nothnick, Franklinville, N.J., won the Champion and Reserve Champion honors, respectively.

Judge Bill Gray of Schellsburg sorted through 44 head of top Polled Herefords to select the champions in both the steer and heifer classes.

Gail Snyder (right), New Tripoli, and Jackie Heflick, Belle Mead, N.J., won the Champion and Reserve Champion Senior Showmanship honors, respectively, at the New Jersey Polled Hereford Association Preview Show.

Exhibiting the Grand Champion heifer was Andy Billing of Little Falls, N.Y. His entry was ASB Joggers Las 3179.

The Reserve Champion heifer trophy went to Karen Frostick, Frenchtown, N.J. and her entry Pin Oak Xtra.

In the steer show, Jackie Heflick took the top honors with her January 10, 1979 steer that weighed in at 1025 pounds.

Judge Gray followed the champion, "Jeremy", with Judy Heflick's 1050 pound steer called "Fred".

Andy Billing, Little Falls, N.Y., exhibited ASB Joggers Las 3179, the Champion heifer.

Red meat

HARRISBURG — Commercial red meat production in Pennsylvania during July totaled 78.3 million pounds, down one percent from July 1979 according to the Pennsylvania Crop Reporting Service.

Cattle slaughter at 58,500 head was down two percent while calf slaughter at 21,300 head was 15 percent more than last year. Hog slaughter at 252,900 head increased six percent from a year ago. The number of sheep and lambs slaughtered totaled 12,700, down two percent from July 1979.

At Md. Junior English Horse Show

Ten-year-old Waters is top performer

TIMONIUM, Md. — The Junior English Horse Show held here last Sunday during the Maryland State Fair was a smoothly run success and "one of the best shows in fair history," according to Superintendent Edwin E. Goodwin.

He accurately summed up the day with the statement, "We had ideal weather, an excellent set of horses and ponies, and really good cooperation from all exhibitors."

There were 123 Junior contestants in the show, which started at 8:30 a.m. with fitting and showmanship and wound down after 11 p.m. with Junior Hunter Over Fences.

Minor problems occurred throughout the day — a horse show usual. But the only major concern was the fireworks display Sunday evening, which unsettled animals, children, parents and show officials. After the sparks stopped flying, the show proceeded as it had all day—providing competitive fun for the participants and entertainment for the fair crowd.

Jimmy Waters, 10, of Perryman, Harford County, was the top performer of the day. He had the champion foal on the grounds, a filly named Patty O'Watcher. His Welsh pony, Rolling Ridge Gumdrop, placed third in the show class for mares with a foal at side.

Jimmy performed well in the equitation classes, too, winning the pony Junior Pleasure Seat and receiving seconds in pony Junior Hunter Seat and in Junior Hunter Seat over fences. He also placed third with Lonesome Storm Tide, a registered P.O.A., in English Pleasure for small ponies.

Belinda Schryver, 11, of Finksburg, Baltimore County, collected many ribbons with her Welsh mare, Merry Star. Belinda won the Junior Hunter Seat for ponies and over fences, and she came in second in the show class for pony fillies and mares and in Junior Hunter over fences. Belinda received a total of seven ribbons in the Junior competition.

The winner of the Fitting and Showmanship class was Amber Morrison, 13, of White Hall, Harford County, with her Quarter Horse mare, Tee-Bar Tuffy. The pair also won the horse confrontation class for fillies and mares. Amber placed fourth in the foal class with her Quarter horse filly, Cypress Royal Tee, and she rode another Quarter Horse mare, Beauty Royal, in Horse Junior Hunter Seat, receiving a third-place ribbon.

A resident of Arnold, Anne Arundel County, 12-year-old Yvette Hranicha and her Quartrer horse mare, Irish Mistress, won the horse division of Junior Pleasure Seat and English Pleasure. Also, Yvette came in second in English Performance Command, and she placed sixth in the fitting and showmanship contest.

The winner of the small pony English Pleasure class was Stephanie Hauser, 13, of Fulton, Howard County. Hauser and her pony gelding, Sundancer, also captured third place ribbons in their division of the confrontation classes and the fitting and showmanship class.

Belvidere Starlett was the reserve champion foal that qualified for the championship class by winning the Yearling conformation class. Her owner, Mary Jo Guyther of Leonardtown, St. Mary's County, also showed Belvidere Golden Slipper in the foal class and Liseter Tuneful in the mares-with-foals class. Guyther received second-place awards for her efforts.

Figuring Fleet Costs? Remember . . . .
Propane is better.

Maintenance? Clean-burning LP-gas eliminates carbon build-up and engine sludge that causes poor performance and result in costly downtime for repairs and overhauls.

Parts costs? Fewer tune-ups, fewer oil changes, no fuel pump...these mean money in your pocket.

Cost per gallon? Figure it out in your own area. Most often, LP-gas wins over gasoline hands down.

Fuel availability? Many types of fleet vehicles qualify as priority users of LP-gas. Check your situation with your local dealer.

When a gasoline engine needs replacement, an LP gas powered engine still has a long way to go nearly twice as long That's like getting two engines for the price of one

Central District FFA Dairy Show winners

BEAVER SPRINGS — The 25th annual Central District Future Farmers of America Dairy Show was held on August 15, at the Beaver Community Fair Grounds, Beaver Springs.

Participating this year in the annual Dairy Show were FFA Chapters from Middleburg, West Snyder, Big Valley, Selinsgrove, Mahantango, State College, Warriors Mark, Penns Valley, Clearfield, Upper Dauphin, Newport and Mifflinburg.

All dairy animals were broken into the different age groups as governed by the major Dairy Breeds; and were placed with a Blue Ribbon, Red Ribbon or White Ribbon category. All Blue Ribbon winners were eligible to show their dairy animals at the Pennsylvania Junior Dairy Show held on September 22, 1980 at the Farm Show Building in Harrisburg:

The Judges were Type Judge, James McCaffrey, Warriors Mark; fitting judge, Donald Sanders, Mifflinburg; and showmanship judge, Tom W. Crittenden, Mansfield.

This year's sponsors were: Northeastern Breeders Association and all FFA chapters in the district.

NY-NJ marketing order price at $12.48

NEW YORK, N.Y. — Dairy farmers supplying milk plants regulated under the New York-New Jersey marketing orders during July will be paid on the basis of a uniform price of $12.48 per hundred pounds or 26 8 cents per quart.

Market Administrator Thomas A Wilson, who announced July's prices, also said the uniform farm price was $11.92 per hundredweight in June 1980 and $11.60 per hundredweight in July 1979. The uniform price is a marketwide weighted average of the value of farm milk used for fluid and manufactured dairy products.

The total amount of milk received from the 17,570 dairy farmers supplying the New York-New Jersey Marketing Area was 893,045,379 pounds during July 1980. This was more than 35.8 million pounds above last year

The gross value to dairy farmers for milk deliveries was $111,596,304.56.

Wilson explained this included differentials required to be paid to dairy farmers but not voluntary premiums or deductions authorized by the farmer.

Regulated milk dealers (handlers) utilized 360,765,142 pounds or 40.4 percent of the total amount of milk for Class I. The Class I milk is used for fluid milk products such as homogenized, flavored, low-test and skim milks. For July 1980, handlers paid $13.91 per hundredweight, or 29.9 cents per quart, for the milk used in Class I products compared with $12.92 a [illegible] ago

The balance of the milk, 59.6 percent, was used to manufacture Class II products including butter, cheese, ice cream and yogurt. For this milk the handlers paid $11.76 per hundredweight.

The uniform price is based on milk containing 3.5 percent butterfat. For July 1980, a differential of 16.0 cents was applied to the price for each one-tenth of one percent that the milk tested above or below the 3 5 percent standard.

All prices quoted are for bulk tank with milk received within the 201-210 mile zone from New York City.

J I Case Needs a Few New Dealers

We are looking for enterprising businessmen who understand agricultural equipment retailing "We" being the J I Case Company Founded in 1842, Case now has over 3,000 dealers world-wide and an unsurpassed reputation for product quality, reliability and current growth

If you think that the farm equipment business requires involvement with many different product lines, you'll find Case an interesting exception As a Case Tractor Specialist, you concentrate on one major product line, agricultural tractors and related tillage tools, because Case builds nothing but tractors for the farm market

Case Dealers sell twelve basic tractors, 43 to 300 horsepower Five models are under 90 horsepower, four are the exciting new 90 series - 108 to 180 horsepower, and our three big four-wheel drive tractors lead the booming 4WD market

High potential marketing areas are available now Profitable Case light construction and outdoor power equipment contracts may also be available As a Case Tractor Specialist, you would benefit from liberal financing policies, attractive consumer terms and time-proven Case Rental Systems

Case produce and policy advantages, when combined with your own aggressive sales and management abilities, will afford you the opportunity to realize an excellent return on your investment

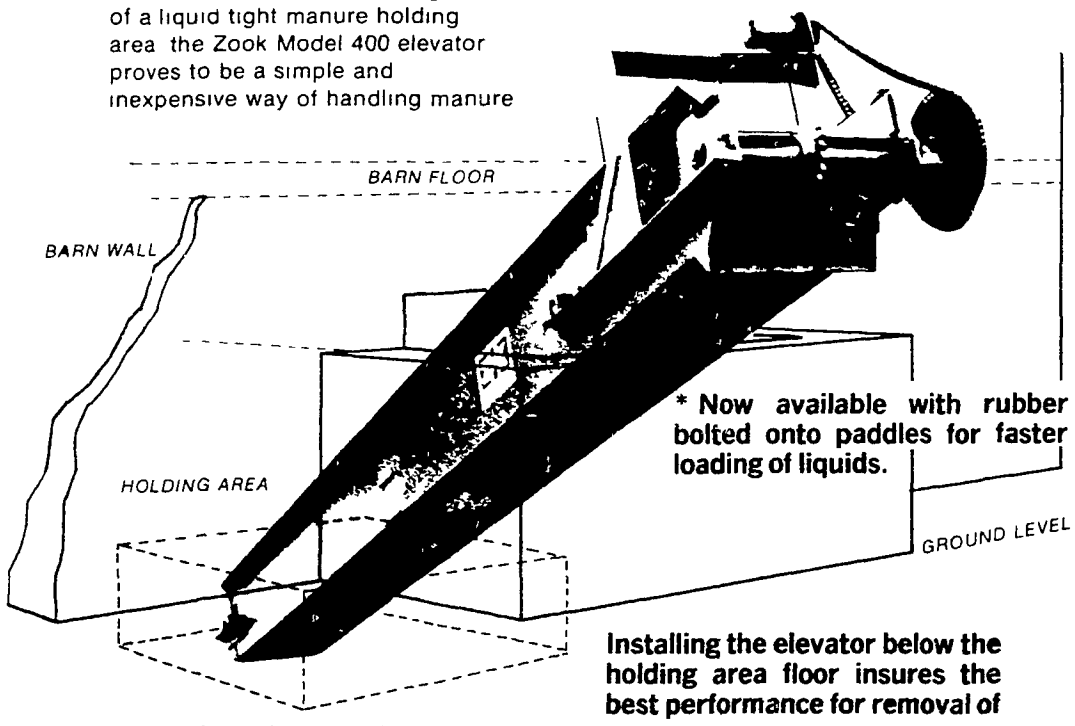
Manure Handling Equipment

ZOOK MANUFACTURING

Model 400 Manure Elevator

Here s a whole new concept in manure handling! When properly installed at and below the edge of a liquid tight manure holding area the Zook Model 400 elevator proves to be a simple and inexpensive way of handling manure



* Now available with rubber bolted onto paddles for faster loading of liquids.

Installing the elevator below the holding area floor insures the best performance for removal of manure.

- Handles both liquid and semi-solid manure
- Few moving parts require almost no maintenance
- Corrosion resistant high strength Corten steel construction
- Self lubricating bottom end bearings

GUNITE Silo Relining & Repairs

Extensive tests have been conducted on Gunite Below are some of the properties of Gunite

1 Excellent bonding
2 High Density
3 Extreme strength and hardness
4 High resistance to absorption

The excellent physical properties of the material are due to the water content being only the amount needed to satisfy chemical hydration

Reseal and re strengthen your silo with Gunite

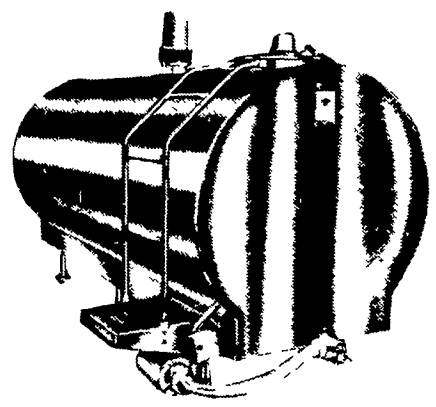
GIRTON AMBASSADOR TANKS



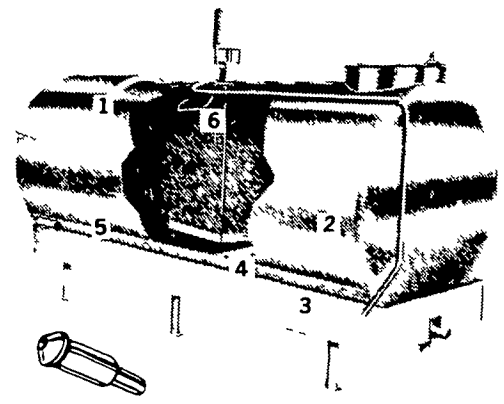
From 500 to 6000 Gallons

Girton has over 50 years of manufacturing experience to give the dairyman the highest quality tank in the market today

No matter where you are in these United States you will not have to look far to find a satisfied Girton user A continuous program of research and development plus the use of quality materials and workmanship has kept the Girton Tank at the top of everyone s list

FULL FLOODED REFRIGERATION

The Girton injector is the most efficient system available with a full flooded evaporator It replaces the expansion valve eliminates the need for a solenoid valve never needs to be replaced and has no moving parts The full flooded systems can be used with R-12 or R 22 freon



— AMBASSADOR FEATURES —

1 Polyurethane foam-in-place insulation
2 All stainless steel construction
3 Box type frame runs the entire length of the tank to carry the weight of the tank to insure calibration accuracy
4 Thermal barrier between frame and inner tank Insures no heat loss from metal-to-metal contact
5 Exaporator plate is specially designed to maintain maximum efficiency with the full flooded system
6 Built-in washing system with all stainless lines and built-in washing head

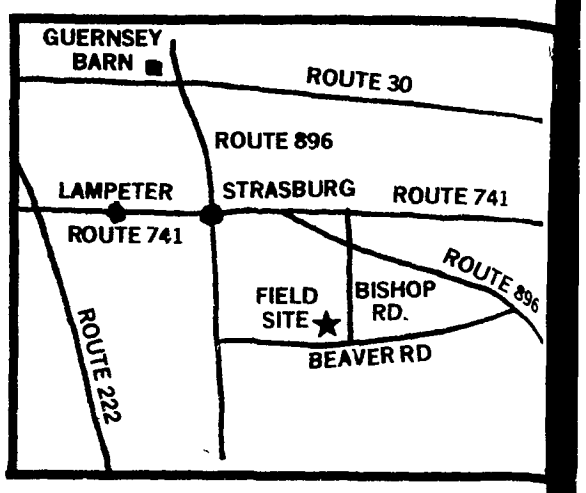
RED POWER SHOWDOWN

FIELD DEMO DAY

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 4th

PLACE: On the Farm Owned by Kenneth Kreider
Farmed by Merle Groff, ½ mi. South of Railroad Museum at Strasburg, Pa.

TIME: 10:00 A.M. with complete program & refreshments.
Also many other door prizes will be given.



WIN!

An International 2+2
or one of 5 other IH tractor prizes.

Sign up at our Red Power Showdown Day.

Grand Prize
—A 150 hp 3588 International 2 + 2 tractor

Four 2nd Prizes
—42 hp Series 84 484 utility tractors

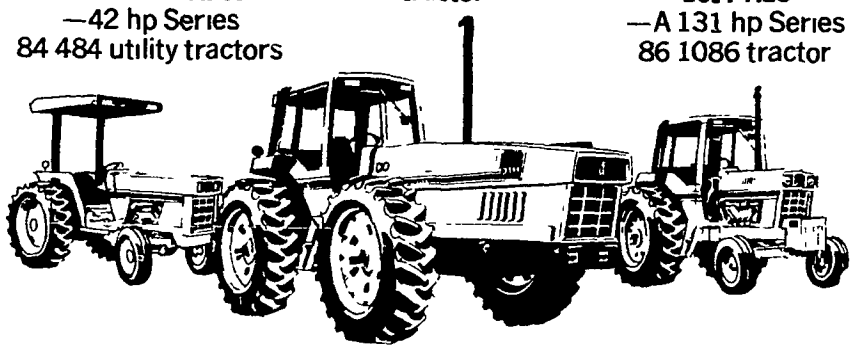
—A 131 hp Series 86 1086 tractor



1979 WINNER!

Our Own Cliff & Marion Halloway of Peach Bottom were one of six National Winners of a FREE Tractor. Cliff, entered the tractor sweepstakes at the 1979 Lancaster County Red Power Field Day.

YOU COULD BE A WINNER THIS YEAR!

... It's the BIG Lancaster County Red Power Showdown! International Harvester's biggest equipment demonstration of the year will be taking place soon at Kenneth Kreider Farms - Strasburg, Pa.

... Come and See "Stage 88" featuring an interesting Demonstration showing the benefits of our 2 + 2 concept vs. the 2 wheel drive tractor. Both the same horsepower and same weight.

... See the IH Axial Flow Combine in action shelling corn (weather permitting).

... See the Forage Harvesters cutting silage & silo filling (weather permitting).

... You can also check out other Big Red Power, like the reliable series 84 and 86 tractors and IH tillage and forage equipment.

Wisconsin farmer speaks at N.I.C.E.

Joyce Trapp is dedicated to agriculture

By SALLY BAIR
Staff Correspondent

UNIVERSITY PARK - Joyce Trapp is a successful Wisconsin dairy farmer. That in itself is not unusual because Wisconsin is known for its successful dairy farmers. But Joyce Trapp and her husband Roger are unique because they are first-generation dairy farmers who chose to go into farming without having been raised on farms.

Four and a half years ago Joyce was the wife of a truck driver and stock car racer whose dream just happened to be to own a dairy farm. Now she considers herself a full-fledged dairy farmer and she has become an enthusiastic spokesman for agriculture.

She is quick to admit that there are many things to learn when you were not raised on a farm, and Joyce gives a lot of credit to the farmer cooperatives in her area which offered advice. Her realization of the contributions of cooperatives to agriculture is the reason she was at Penn State recently as a speaker at the National Institute on Cooperative Education.

Since they moved to the farm, Joyce says she has learned more than in all 16 years in school. "Farming is big business, and it doesn't change your lifestyle to being more quiet. I'm glad to have the experience - it helped me grow more." One reason for buying the farm was to slow down, which the Trapps soon learned is just a phrase and has no relation to what one does o n a busy dairy farm.

In an interview prior to her talk, Joyce said she tells her audience that the female cooperative member is "dynamite," with the potential of "exploding" in the areas of loyalty, education, member awareness, community awareness and public relations."

A member of the Wisconsin Women for Agriculture and American Agri-Women, Joyce feels strongly that farm wives must be professional in their attitudes toward the public. She said, "We need to promote and project a good-looking, professional image. Even if pressed for time, I feel women should take a few minutes to comb their hair before going to town. They will be treated as a professional and they will feel important."

For a women who did not live on the farm five years ago, Joyce is a very strong supporter of agriculture, and admits to getting "comments" about her outspoken role. For those who question why a newcomer is speaking up, Joyce said she simply encourages them to join her and also speak up for agriculture. She said she recognizes her position as an outsider in her rural community, and that she will probably always be considered an outsider.

"But the reason I'm giving this speech is that I want to generate the same kind of spirit and the same kind of feeling that I've got. This must spring up from the members. They must want to do it themselves. The more woman I send out to speak to others, the better it will be," she states positively.

She is especially happy to talk about cooperatives because of their help in getting started in farming. "The local managers were great. Since they know the area they're the best for advice. I found out how fantastic cooperatives are. I really got excited about cooperatives," Joyce said.

Joyce is sincere then she says she thinks exciting things are happening in cooperatives and that their story should be told to the media. "Cooperatives are an untapped potential. I wonder why agriculture has a corner on the cooperative way of doing business."

Joyce feels cooperative members have a responsibility to tell the cooperative story in a positive way. "We must let people know that we are a business of equal value to the hardward store," she states.

The Trapps are now milking 68 cows on 260 acres. She said proudly. "We can each do every single job." The one job she does solo is record-keeping. Their two sons, ages 16 and 13, are also active on the farm.

As she reflects on their decisions to go into dairying, Joyce says, "It was kind of unrealistic to go into it in a big way. We had two advantages - we were older and we had $35,000 in cash." The advantages did not make the way easy, however. The Trapps were turned down by both the Federal Land Bank and the Farmers Home Administration. Joyce says, "They turned us down because of inexperience, not because of money."

They finally got the farm, because, as Joyce puts it, "We found two people with confidence in us. A retired farmer left money in the farm - he took the risk - and Production Credit Association gave us the money because we convinced the man with our enthusiasm."

She admits thoughtfully, "There are times when we think it was not the right thing to do and wonder if we can keep up." She says right now she and her husband are considering if they should stay in dairying, primarly because of two injuries he suffered which make it difficult to do the milking. No matter what the decision on dairying, however, she says firmly they will stay in agriculture. And she remembers, "People said we'd never make it."

Two years after going into operation with 40 cows, they expanded to 60 cows, and although the paperwork and delays were a horror story, the Trapps were successful in refinancing for the additional cows and facilities. By the time the loan was through, they needed eight more cows just to pay the increase in interset payment.

The whole emotional experience of getting financial backing to go into farming has left Joyce with some vague uncertainties about the future of agriculture. "I think agriculture is terrific, but I think the family farm system could be in danger. I worry that we shouldn't close agriculture to people who weren't born into it." she says. In her opinion it is almost impossible to get started unless breaks are given to family members.

A first generation dairy farmer, Joyce Trapp is dedicated to bringing promoting agriculture and ag cooperatives.

The Trapps are members of multiple cooperatives including AMPI, CENEX, Equity Livestock Marketing, Midwest Breeders and Midland Cooperatives.

Joyce first became enthusiastic when she attended a cooperative couples program, and has remained a strong supporter. She is proud that her cooperative has begun a tradition of holding one meeting a year with board members and young couples so young members can have a voice. Although she lost in a bid for a seat on the board, she is anxious to work to change the structure to make it easier for others to be elected. "I guess I'd be honored to be on a Board of Directors, but I don't want to run again," she says.

Presently Joyce is involved in preparing a slide presentation for use in elementary schools on cooperatives. The project is one of a series being carried out by her local Wisconsin Women in Agriculture chapter. They have already prepared one on dairy products and are working on one about meats. The slide program is 10 minutes long and she or other local members are on hand to answer questions generated by the program. She is proud of the work her group, and others throughout the state and nation, is doing and says she enjoys the stimulation of being with women who are committed to promoting agriculture.

Her commitment, despite the hardships she has encountered, remains strong. Joyce says, "I am convinced that agriculture is the base of the American economy. We are the best ag-producing nation in the world and we must stay there. We need really good spokespeople to tell our story or we will lose our support."

For Joyce Trapp, telling the story of her newfound way of life is important and vital. She intends to do her part to keep the agricultural traditions strong.

On being a farm wife -And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

What can you do with a beat-up tricycle, an old cardboard box and a pile of field rocks?

Why you can have a "tractor pull," that's what.

Our yard currently sports the dustiest, hardest-packed stretch of bare ground you ever did see. It's the track worn down by our would-be tractor pullers, who've found one more way to relieve the before-school-starts blahs.

The spark of this imaginative activity was lit several weeks ago when we attended our first night at the Buck Tractor Pulls, my candidate for the noisiest spot on the Eastern Seaboard on a Saturday night. And we were hooked! From the roar of those throbbing diesels, through the whine of the turbine-powered job and on through the weighted four-wheel pickups, we clung to our seats in fascination with this sport that has hooked both farm and non-farm spectators. (I confess to spending a goodly portion of the evening with my fingers plugging my ears.)

For days afterward, a small boy powered sound of whining motors sporadically resounded through the house, along with bursts of enthusiastic recollections of some of the more memorable pullers, like the rig that belched dozens of smoke rings. And the tractor-pulling fire smouldered a bit brighter.

Recent mini-pulls at our York 4-H Fair further fanned the spark. Who would ever dream that you could be so captivated by toy tractors, powered with miniature airplane motors, as they pulled 150 pounds of weights and upward. It seemed to be a toss-up as to who was having the most fun: the boys, the fathers, or the audience.

That did it. The flame of tractor pulling desire finally consumed our youngsters. They promptly laid off a dirt track, "borrowed" their dad's tape measure and tied a cardboard box to the large tricycle, using a piece of baler twine (what else!). Using ever-increasing loads of heavy stones, they're off in a cloud of dust, flying bits of gravel and pedaling feet.

Those sanctioned pullers who spend thousands of dollars on their rigs couldn't possibly have any more fun than our pulling team is having right outside the door.

And at least tricycles and cardboard boxes have never been known to blow an expensive engine five feet down the track.

A family covered dish luncheon and swimming party was held at the home of Nora Schweitzer, Limekiln, in August.

A group family picnic will be held on Sunday, August 24 at Daniel Boone Homestead, Birdsboro. In case of rain it will be held at Sally Hauseman's garage.

Several women will be attending the tenth anniversary celebration for Group 9, on September 17, at St. Paul Lutheran Church, Douglassville.

Mrs. Jacob Hartz will be helping with the memorial service at the County Convention on October 4 at the Ag Center, Leesport.

A trip is planned for the Allen Berry Playhouse in Boiling Spring, October 8. A donation was given to be a patron to the Reading chapter of the Sweet Adeline's.

A thank you note for serving food was received from Mrs. Jacob Hartz, whose house roof was blown off by a recent storm.

Lebanon Co. Society 5

Twenty-one members of Lebanon Society 5 met last week for miniature golf at Kauffman's in Rehrersburg.

The Lebanon County Farm Women Convention will be held October 8 at Palmyra First United Methodist Church. County Farm Women will have a promotional booth at the Lebanon Valley Mall September 10-13. Members are asked to man the booth for 2 hour shifts.

Betty Sattazahn, Minerva Lentz, and Florence Kaylor were apointed to the nomunating committee to prepare a ballot of prospective officers for the next two years.

The next meeting will be on Tuesday, September 9 at 7:30 p.m. in the home of Marion Clay, at which time the members will participate in an old fashioned spelling bee.

Lancaster Co. Society 32

Lancaster Society 32 held their August meeting at the Chiques Church of the Brethren Pavilion.

Following the business meeting, Sandy Martin showed everyone how to make a flower arrangement. Everyone brought some garden flowers and made centerpieces.

The next meeting will be Wednesday, September 8, 7:30 p.m., at the home of Joyce Risser, R1 Bainbridge. Miller's Funeral Home will provide the program.

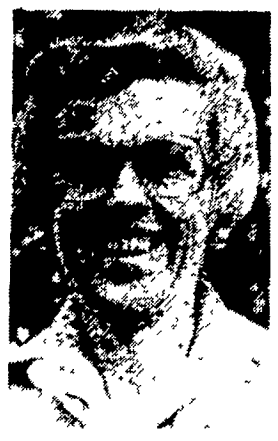
Ladies Have You Heard?



By Doris Thomas

Lancaster Extension Home Economist

AN UNCANNY CASE OF MURDER

Inspector Willy Winslow arrived at the Blakely manor late Saturday night, a half smoked cigar hanging from his lip. His assistant Max followed close behind.

Mrs. Blakely had died earlier that day as of yet undetermined causes.

"She died a broken woman," Mr. Blakely lamented. "My company has been negotiating a huge Mid-East oil deal for the past six months and I have been working late and on weekends. I was in New York for two weeks, and just came home this morning. You can check. I haven't been a good husband."

"You can say that again from all I've heard," Max snapped.

"Quiet Max," Winslow commanded as he walked to the basement where Mr. Blakely had found the body.

"She was quite a do-it-yourselfer, wasn't she?" Winslow queried.

"Yes, she was always cooking or canning or working on some project," Blakely replied.

"Well, it looks like this do-it-yourselfer did it to herself", Winslow explained as he dusted off some old cookbooks.

"These old directions don't call for heating the filled jars in a boiling bath or a pressure canner," he noted.

Old recipes simply say, "Pack in sterilized jars and seal." Winslow said that food packed by this method may not be preserved at all.

All foods, except jellies covered with paraffin, need processing in the jars to sterilize the food and completely seal the jars.

So why didn't all of Mrs. Blakely's food spoil when the old directions were followed? "Just plain luck," said Inspector Winslow. "Sometimes the jars contain spoilage organisms — sometimes they don't."

By not using modern canning methods, you can loose more than food. Not all spoilage can be detected by sight or smell. Without knowing it, you could use the food and cause serious illness or death to family and friends.

Another old method of canning, once used for many foods, is oven canning and it's also dangerous.

With this process, the food doesn't reach a temperature high enough to kill the bacteria which cause food poisoning.

While very few people actually die from food spoilage caused by improper canning methods, huge amounts of food are wasted along with time and energy used to prepare those foods.

WATCH OUT FOR ENERGY WASTE

Next to house heating, water heating is the largest user of energy in the home. If you heat water electrically, one effective way to reduce electricity use is to change your family's hot water using habits.

Here are some tips on saving water in the home.

Encourage your family — especially teenagers — to take short showers instead of baths. Or install a controlled-flow regulator which limits the amount of water that comes through the showerhead. These devices reduce the spray to about 3 gallons per minute from the usual 5 to 10 gallon flow. You can buy this inexpensive item at a plumbing shop and install it yourself.

It's possible you'll save around 700 gallons of hot water a year if you fill the basin only half way while shaving. Letting the hot water run in a steady stream uses about 6 gallons of water per shave.

Caution family members to run the automatic dishwasher only when there is a full load. Pre-rinse dishes in cold water and always use cold water for operating the garbage disposer. Cold water solidifies and carries fats along with other food particles through the drain pipes and saves hot water.

Fix and dripping faucets; a dripping hot water faucet is particularly wasteful. Caution all family members to turn off faucets completely. In the laundry, use cold water when possible and wash only full loads. Hot water is necessary to get some heavily soiled clothes clean and to sanitize clothes.

Clean your water heater thermostat. If you have a dishwasher, a 135-140° temperature is recommended. Lower the setting to 110-120° if you wash dishes by hand. Wrap insulation around the electric water heater and pipes to save electricity use. Although heaters are already insulated, adding more insulation further reduces heat loss.

Get out the marshmallows and toast summer's end

Labor Day Weekend. Mothers view it as the end of a hardfought summer with the children, with relief in the form of a yellow school bus almost in sight. Some mothers, usually those who hold outside jobs and whose summers flew by with too little time for the youngsters, while welcoming the school year view the last long weekend with melancholia.

And fathers often are confronted by a family full of hungry mouths who insist that the hamburgers and steaks on the grill are somehow better than those made indoors. Some fathers, and mothers, have this outdoor cooking thing well in hand. But our column today is devoted to the cook who never seems to have the charcoal lit when it's time to eat.

This column is for families, young and old who are basking in the last freedom of summer. Relax, enjoy, and try some of these delicious, easy recipes!

A cookout menu like this one is sure to round up the crew from the back forty. Corn on the cob, franks and hamburgers, baked beans and cucumbers in cream dressing as well as fancy deviled eggs are sure to please. Top them off with fruit salad served in cantaloupe halves, a thermos of lemonade or milk, and chocolate fudge cookies.

HOMEMADE BAKED BEANS

6 pounds beans
salt and pepper to taste
1¼ pounds bacon
brown sugar to taste
4 bottles catsup
2 cups molasses

Cook beans. Mix salt and pepper, brown sugar and molasses and add to the beans. Top with bacon and bake at 350° F. until brown.

GOLDEN BARBECUED CHICKEN

1 broiler-fryer chicken, quartered
1 teaspoon coriander
2 tablespoons cooking oil
2 tablespoons flour
¼ cup finely chopped onion
1 teaspoon bottled browning sauce
½ cup chicken broth
½ cup lemon juice
3 tablespoons peach jam
¼ cup prepared mustard
½ teaspoon salt
dash of pepper

Sprinkle chicken with coriander. In a frypan, place oil and heat over medium temperature. Add flour, stirring until smooth. Add onion and cook until tender, about 5 minutes. Stir in browning sauce then slowly add broth and lemon juice, stirring until smooth and slightly thickened, about 2 minutes. Stir in peach jam, then mustard. Continue cooking about 10 minutes. Baste chicken thoroughly with sauce and place on the grill, skin side up, about 8 inches from the heat. Grill about 1 hour or until a fork can be inserted with ease, turning and basting with sauce every 15 minutes to brown evenly. Before serving, sprinkle chicken with salt and pepper. Makes 4 servings.

ZINGY BARBECUED CHICKEN

1 broiler-fryer chicken, cut into parts
½ cup grapefruit juice
½ cup apple cider vinegar
½ cup cooking oil
¼ cup chopped onion
1 egg
½ teaspoon celery salt
½ teaspoon powdered ginger
dash of pepper

In a blender container, place all ingredients except the chicken. Blend for 30 seconds. In a small saucepan, pour sauce mixture and heat about 5 minutes, until slightly thick. Remove from heat and dip chicken in sauce one piece at a time, turning to coat thoroughly. Place chicken on the grill, skin side up, about 8 inches from the heat. Grill about 1 hour or until fork can be inserted in chicken with ease, turning and brushing with sauce every 15 minutes. Watch chicken carefully since egg may cause chicken to become too brown. This recipe may also be cooked in a 350° F. oven for about 1 hour. Makes 4 servings.

CHARCOAL PRIMER

If you're one of those people we mentioned before who have not perfected your charcoal cooking techniques, here are a few tips to help.

For average cooking of 30-40 minutes, you'll need about 2 pounds of charcoal. Stack the charcoal briquets in a pyramid to create a better air draft and to make it easier to light them. Some people like to line the grill with aluminum foil, shiny side up, to aid in clean up and to reflect extra heat. Use a charcoal lighter, either liquid, jelly or electric. When using the liquid variety, allow a minute or so for the briquets to absorb the fluid before lighting. Never add starter to an existing fire, and don't try to substitute gasoline or kerosene for the starter.

Allow about 30-40 minutes for the charcoal to reach grilling temperature. Briquets are ready to cook on during the day when they're covered with a fine grey ash. At night, the briquets will glow bright red.

Unless you're cooking very dense or large pieces of meat, spread the coals with a rake and tongs into one layer about an inch larger in diameter than the food to be cooked.

To get more heat from an existing fire, lower the grill rack, open the vents or push the coals together. For less heat, do just the opposite. Always keep a spray bottle of water nearby to protect against flareups.

CURRIED CHICK KABOBS

3 whole broiler-fryer chicken breasts, boned, skinned, and cut into 1½ inch chunks
1 2-ounce can whole button mushrooms or fresh mushrooms
1 7½ ounce can whole white onions, or fresh
1 large green pepper, cut into 1-inch squares
1 8-ounce can crushed pineapple
1 cup catsup
¼ cup corn oil
3 tablespoons brown sugar
3 tablespoons vinegar
2 tablespoons soy sauce
1½ teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon curry powder
½ teaspoon black pepper
1 cup water
2 tablespoons cornstarch

Alternate chunks of chicken on a skewer with mushrooms, onions and green pepper. Combine remaining ingredients, except water and cornstarch. Place prepared skewers in a shallow baking dish and pour on marinade. Cover and marinate in the refrigerator 4-6 hours. Place kabobs on preheated grill about 6-8 inches from the heat. Grill for 10 minutes or until brown. Turn, brush with sauce, grill for 10 minutes or until chicken is brown and fork tender. Meanwhile, pour remaining marinade into a saucepan, add water mixed with cornstarch and heat until thickened, stirring constantly. Brush sauce over kabobs. Serve kabobs and remaining sauce on a bed of rice. Makes 6 servings.

HAM BARBECUE

1 cup cubed, cooked ham
1 teaspoon salad oil
1 8¾ ounce can pineapple tidbits
¼ cup barbecue sauce
1½ teaspoons cornstarch
½ medium green pepper, cut into strips hot cooked rice

Brown meat lightly in hot oil in a skillet. Drain pineapple, reserving syrup. Stir syrup and barbecue sauce into browned meat. Cover and simmer 10 minutes. Blend cornstarch with ⅓ cup cold water, and stir into meat. Cook and stir until thickened and bubbly. Add the pineapple and the green pepper. Heat through and serve over the rice. Makes 2 servings.

DON'T LET FOOD POISONING BUG YOU

Food that's toted to outdoor get-togethers can become dangerously warm, Trudy Doughterty, Chester County home economist says.

Trudy says that harmful bacteria grow best in warm, moist conditions. Picnics and long-distance trips should be planned with less perishable foods in mind, or with plenty of ice-filled insulated containers on hand.

Trudy recommends washing your hands after handling raw chicken to prevent spreading bacteria to other foods. Also clean cutting board with soap and water after each use.

Cold foods such as cream pies, seafood and dishes made with eggs, meat and poultry must be kept below 40° F. Foods meant to be served hot such as meats, seafood and poultry, must be kept above 140° F. Bacteria grow best in lukewarm foods. Trudy says you should never let these foods stand at room temperature more than two hours.

SWEET 'N SOUR SPARERIBS

5-6 pounds pork spareribs
¾ cup brown sugar
2 12-ounce jars chili sauce
1 cup grape jelly
½ cup sour cream
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
½ teaspoon thyme
4 drops bottled hot pepper sauce
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup finely chopped onion

In a saucepan, combine all ingredients except the spareribs. Over low heat, cook the sauce until it gets a glossy appearance, stirring frequently. Place ribs on the grill, rib ends down. Grill at low to moderate temperature 1-1½ hours, turning occasionally. During the last 30 minutes, brush ribs with sauce frequently.

ONE BOWL CHOCOLATE CAKE

2 cups flour
1¾ cups sugar
½ teaspoon baking powder
1¾ teaspoons soda
1 teaspoon salt
⅔ cup cocoa
⅔ cup shortening
1 cup water
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 eggs

Mix everything together in one bowl except the vanilla and egg. Add them last and bake at 350° F. for 35-40 minutes.

Lebanon County sets annual harvest fair

SCHAEFFERSTOWN — Lebanon County's 12th annual harvest fair is scheduled for September 13 and 14 from noon until 6 p.m.

In addition to the fair, the 10th annual horse plowing contest will be held on the Alexander Schaeffer farm, Saturday only.

The harvest fair revives customs of procesing fresh apples into apple butter, cider and schnitz. Corn will be ground into cornmeal and old style threshing machines will run on the grounds.

Items for exhibition and judging should be brought to the farm on Friday evening between 6 p.m. and 9 p.m. or Saturday morning before 10 a.m.

Judging is scheduled to begin promptly at 10 a.m.

The Saturday horse plowing contest will feature both a two and a three horse walking plow contest.

In addition there will be demonstrations of horse shoeing, two way walking plows, bottom sulky plows, 'The Young Chief,' a threshing machine manufactured in Brunnerville until the 1870s, and a multi-hitch of 16 horses pulling a disk.

A 2-team log pulling contest is scheduled. The public will be invited to try horse plowing.

Donation for the fair is $1.50 and there is a 50 cent charge for parking.

COUNTRY HAM STEAK WITH TROPICAL SAUCE

3 country ham center slices, 1 inch thick
½ cup brown sugar
1 teaspoon dry mustard
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
½ cup honey
1 cup pineapple juice
1½ tablespoons cornstarch
¼ cup water

Combine sugar, mustard, Worcestershire sauce, honey and pineapple juice in a saucepan. Simmer 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Thoroughly mix the cornstarch and water. Add to the pineapple juice mixture. Cook until clear, stirring constantly.

Place the ham slices on the grill and cook slowly about 1 hour, turning and brushing frequently with the Tropical Sauce. Makes 8-10 servings.

CHEESE CUP CAKES

12 cupcake papers
12 vanilla wafers
4 3-ounce packages cream cheese
½ cup sugar
2 eggs
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 can pie filling, cherry or blueberry

Put the cupcake papers into a cupcake pan and place a vanilla wafer into the bottom of each cup. Beat the cheese, eggs, sugar and vanilla. Fill each paper ⅔ full with the mixture. Bake at 350° F. for 15-20 minutes. Remove the cakes and let stand for 15 minutes before topping with the pie filling. Put in the refrigerator at least 1 hour before serving. Freeze any left over.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

My husband enjoys the woods. Now our own acres of woodland hold no enchantment for him but the mountains that might hold deer do.

He has wanted to explore some new hunting ground and finally picked a day when I felt that I was too busy to go along. However, as I knew he wouldn't be happy until he went, we packed a lunch and set off for a few hours.

He actually helped pack lunch, which is unusual for him, so that I could prepare some cucumbers for pickling. Luckily our two teenagers were free to accompany us and so we had a short swim in the pool at Little Buffalo State Park after we ate our picnic under a tree that was dropping tiny caterpillars on us.

While we swam, Allen spent his time using his binoculars to scan the nearby mountains and lake with its fishermen.

Then we drove deep into the mountains on unpaved and bumpy roads. Some of them were marked "dead end" but that didn't keep us from trying them. I spied a box hanging from a limb which my family told me was a milk carton but I disagreed. So, we investigated and found it to be the gypsy moth trap that I suggested it was when I first saw it.

There were several lookout points high in the mountains which looked out over Doubling Gap. We stopped to take pictures and share a snack.

Even though we kept our eyes open, we did not see one deer on this trip. All we saw was a mouse and a grouse. (My Grandma Landis would have said, "That is true because it rhymes.") Before we got on the turnpike to return home, we saw fields of corn which were very short and not developed due to lack of moisture.

When I got home my one-half bushel of beans was still waiting in the refrigerator to be frozen and the baskets of peaches had not run away either. So it is back to the "old grind" as they say.

The satisfaction that comes from doing a good job of farming

It's a great feeling to know that you are the master of your farmlands that when you treat your soil right, it will treat you right. Liming is one of the most important factors in keeping your soil in the highest productive range. By raising the pH from a level below 6 0 to 6 5 or higher, you can expect to harvest as much as 5 more bushels of corn per acre, with similar increases for all other forage and cash crops

Junior Cooking Edition

During this last frantic weekend of freedom from the school routines, few of our junior cooks are going to be cooking, so now would be as good a time as any to take the advice of one young lady who wrote to us. She said she has started a scrapbook of our junior cooking recipes. So why not take a few sheets of that new school paper, last year's old notebook, and some time and keep these recipes handy to use on that first snow day home.

DUMB DUMB CAKE

2 cups flour
1½ teaspoons baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
3 eggs
¾ cup Crisco oil
1½ cups sugar
1 can apple pie filling
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup chopped nuts

Beat all ingredients in a large bowl. Pour into a greased pan and bake at 350° F. for 40 minutes. Use lots of butter on the top and add sprinkled sugar and cinnamon.

Linda Weaver, Age 9, Fleetwood

MOM'S FAVORITE COOKIES

2 cups sugar, brown or white
½ cup shortening
2 eggs
4 cups flour, unbleached
2 teaspoons soda
1 cup milk

Cream sugar and shortening. Add eggs and mix. Then add dry ingredients all at once and milk. Mix but do not overbeat. Bake at 375° F. For something different, add 1 cup raisins or ¾ cup chopped nuts or chocolate chips.

Brenda Horst, Age 13, Ephrata

CORN FRITTERS

2 cups fresh corn, grated
2 eggs
¼ cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
dash of pepper
1 teaspoon baking powder
2 tablespoons cream
4 tablespoons fat

Add beaten eggs, flour, baking powder, salt and pepper to the grated corn. Mix thoroughly. Add the cream. Melt the fat in a frying pan and drop corn mixture by spoonsful into the hot fat. Brown on both sides. Makes 16-18 fritters.

Vera Shirk, Age 10, Mifflinburg

TOMATO FRITTERS

2 cups cooked tomatoes
2 eggs
1½ cups cracker crumbs
1 small onion, minced
½ teaspoon salt
dash of pepper
1½ tablespoons sugar
3 tablespoons fat

Beat eggs and add tomatoes, seasoning and cracker crumbs. Add remaining ingredients and stir until well blended. Drop mixture from a spoon into hot fat. Fry until brown on both sides. Serves 6.

Alma Shirk, Age 7, Mifflinburg

HERSHEY'S CHOCOLATE TOWN COOKIES

2 cups shortening
½ cup sugar
2 cups brown sugar, firmly packed
2 teaspoons vanilla
4 eggs, well beaten
5½ cups flour plus 2 tablespoons
2 teaspoons baking soda
2 teaspoons salt
2 cups chopped nuts
2 cups Hershey's Semi-Sweet Dantes

Cream shortening, sugar and vanilla. Fold in well beaten eggs and beat mixture. Sift together flour, soda and salt. Add sifted dry ingredients to cream mixture and stir in nuts. Bake in preheated 375° F. about 10 minutes.

APPLE GOODIE

¾ cup sugar
1 tablespoon flour
⅛ teaspon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
2 cups sliced apples
Topping:
½ cup oatmeal
½ cup brown sugar
½ cup flour
¼ cup butter
dash of soda
dash of baking powder

Sift sugar, flour, salt and cinnamon together and combine with sliced apples. Mix together well and place in the bottom of a greased casserole. To make the topping, combine dry ingredients and rub in butter to make crumbs. Put the crumbs on top of the apple mixture. Bake at 375° F. for 35-40 minutes. Serve hot or cold with rich milk. Makes 6 servings.

Miriam Shirk, Age 5, Mifflinburg

LOLLIPOPS

18 lollipop sticks
¼ cup butter or margarine
½ cup light corn syrup
¾ cup sugar
few drops of food color

Lightly butter baking sheet and arrange lollipop sticks on baking sheet. Combine butter, corn syrup and sugar in heavy 1 quart saucepan. Heat to boiling over medium-high heat, stirring occasionally. Reduce heat to medium. Continue cooking, stirring frequently, to 270° F. on candy thermometer (or until a few drops of syrup dropped into very cold water separate into threads which are hard but not brittle.) Stir in food color. Drop the mixture by tablespoons over end of each lollipop stick.

BAKED CORN

2 cups cooked or canned corn
2 tablespoons fat
1½ tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon salt
dash of pepper
2 eggs
½ cup buttered crumbs

Melt the fat and add the flour. Add the milk gradually and bring to the boiling point, stirring constantly. Add corn, sugar, salt and pepper and heat thoroughly. Remove from heat and add beaten eggs. Pour in a greased baking dish and sprinkle with buttered crumbs. Bake at 325° F. for 25-30 minutes or until corn is firm.

Janet Zimmerman, Age 11, Newmanstown

CHOCOLATE CUPCAKES

1¼ cups sugar
½ cup shortening
2 eggs
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon vanilla
⅓ cup cocoa
1¾ cups flour
1 cup hot water
Filling:
1 cup milk
4 tablespoons flour
1 cup confectioners sugar
½ cup Crisco
½ cup butter
2 teaspoons vanilla

Boil flour and milk until thick and let stand until cold. Beat Crisco, butter and confectioners sugar until creamy. Add flour mixture and beat well.

David Weaver, Age 7, Fleetwood

PEANUT BUTTER BALLS

½ cup peanut butter
½ cup honey
¾-1 cup non-instant powdered milk
coconut, chopped nuts, seeds

Combine peanut butter and honey in a small bowl. Add the dry milk and stir thoroughly. Roll the candy into little balls, about ¾ inch. Roll balls in your favorite topping and store the candy in a covered container. Note — these cookies are very sticky. Makes 3 dozen.

Anderson was selected for leadership, ability, activities, interest in and experience with dairy cattle, academic standing, and future plans. He became a life member of the Dairy Shrine, received a membership plaque, and a silver cow pin. The Dairy Shrine is located at Fort Atkinson, Wis.

A research paper by Charles M. Papa, graduate student from New Castle, won first place in a national research contest of the American Dairy Science Association. The paper described the identity of two compounds in milk which tend to inhibit cholesterol synthesis by the liver. Faculty advisors were Robert D. McCarthy and Arun Kilara.

Third place in the same contest went to Philip C. Ward, graduate student from Lansdale. The paper described the isolation of cholesterol in human milk and discussed the possible significance of such factors being included in infant formula preparations. faculty advisors were McCarthy and Kilara.

Penn State undergraduates also did well in presenting papers at the American Dairy Science Association competition.

Second place in the production division went to Lori A. Sollenberger of Everett, senior in dairy production. Third place in the manufacturing division was won by Leon R. Sollenberger of Everett, junior in general agriculture.

The Penn State Dairy Science Club was rated third best nationally in the student affiliate division of the American Dairy Science Association. Elected second vice president of the division was Logan M. Bower, junior from Blain.

Nine undergraduate students and their advisor, Dr. Lawrence D. Muller, attended the ADSA meeting held at Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University.

POPCORN BALLS

1 cup sugar
½ cup white or dark corn syrup
¼ cup butter
⅓ cup water
¾ teaspoon salt
¾ teaspoon vanilla
3 quarts popped corn

Keep the popcorn hot in a slow oven. Stir and cook sugar, corn syrup, water, butter and salt until the sugar is dissolved. Continue cooking without stirring until the syrup forms a soft ball when dropped into cold water. Add vanilla and pour syrup slowly over the popped corn. Mix well to coat every kernel. Grease hands with butter before shaping. Makes 12 medium sized balls.

Effie Yoder, Age 13, Reedsville

TROPICAL PUDDING

3 eggs
¾ cup sugar
3 tablespoons flour
½ cup water juice of one No. 2 can pineapple pineapples
2 or 3 bananas
12 marshmallows, cut up
½ cup nut meats

Cook the sugar, flour, water and eggs together in a double boiler until thick, then let the mixture cool. Add the pineapples, 2 or 3 bananas, and the cut up marshmallows and nut meats.

Schedules open house

TUNKHANNOCK — The 1980 NEBA-Sire Power Open House will be Saturday, September 6 at the Tunkhannock Headquarters.

The activities will begin at 10:30 a.m. and include tours of the barn, office and laboratory facilities. There will also be demonstrations of semen collections, processing procedures, and live entertainment on the agenda.

Highlighting the program will be Harlan Hudson, a Franchised Herd Consultant for Holstein-Friesian Services working in the New York State area.

The Master of Ceremonies will be Margin Stout, NEBA Sales and Service Director. Also Sire Power Manager, W. L. Campbell will give management comments.

A deep pit ox roast will be served at noon by the Tunkhannock Triton House Company. A parade of key young sires and newly proven bulls will conclude the days events.

Prizes will be awarded including a calf given to a 4-H or FFA member.

Family reservation tickets are available from your NEBA Technician or Sire Power Direct Herd Salesman at $2 per immediate family.

This Open House is a special opportunity for you to learn about the operation of an A.I. Cooperative and meet the people working for you.

Fertilizer dealers set world meeting

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Nearly 1000 representatives of the international fertilizer community are expected at the Fifth Annual World Fertilizer Conference, September 21-23, 1980 in San Francisco.

"Attendance and interest in our conference has grown each year," said Ed Wheeler, president, The Fertilizer Institute, U.S. industry association and sponsor of the event. "This year representatives from more than 50 nations are expected," he added.

Speakers selected for the meeting are authorities in their areas of fertilizer and food needs and will appear on the program during the mornings of September 22 and 23.

Ralf Zimmerman von Siefart, executive board member of Kali and Salz, AG, Kassel, Germany – a major European potash company - will project future world supplies of this essential mineral and plant nutrient.

Keith Satchwell, managing director, Australian Fertilizers, Ltd., North Sydney, N.S.W., Australia also will look to the future to discuss Oceania's phosphate rock needs and sources.

Robert Q. Phillips, president, Cansulex, Ltd., Vancover, B.C. Canada will discuss prospects for world suffer, an essential ingredient for finished phosphate fertilizers.

From the U.S., speakers include John Schnittker, president, Schnittker Associates, Washington, D.C with a look at future world grain supplies, as related to population growth.

Don McCune, managing director of the International Fertilizer Development Center at Muscle Shoals, Ala., will document the growth of that world study facility.

Thomas Blue, director of the Agricultural Chemical Department, Stanford Research Institute, Menlo Park, Calif., will discuss nitrogen costs as related to rapidly changing world developments.

The Fertilizer Institute Board Chairman Tom Parry, president, Mississippi Chemical Co., will preside and Institute President Ed Wheeler will present closing remarks keyed to U.S. and world fertilizer consumption.

The annual global conference is the fifth sponsored by the Institute, and the second to be held in San Francisco. Last year's meeting site was New York.

Farm Business News

Joins feed firm

BIRDSBORO — F.M. Brown's Sons, Inc. recently announced the appointment of Carl A. Brown as director of feed sales.

Carl A. Brown

Carl represents one of several members of the fourth generation of Browns directly involved in this family operated feed business. He is already known to many Pennsylvania Dairymen for his previous work as a National Holstein Program Director in Pennsylvania during the early 1970's.

Brown, a Penn State Graduate, received his masters and Ph. D degrees from Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University. He has served on the staff of this later institution for the past five years in both an extension and teaching position.

During this period of time he taught courses in animal nutrition and dairy management, conducted research in the area of computerized feeding of dairy cows.

He coached numerous 4-H and College dairy judging teams including Virginia's 1977 National Champion 4-H Dairy Judging Team. He also developed a statewide 4-H/FFA Dairy Bowl contest and a Regional Contest for the East Coast which has been highly successful.

As director of feed sales, Brown will be heavily involved in working with livestock producers in the area of sales, service and ration formulation.

He will work closely with Walter Kennett, the company nutritionist, to provide customers with up to date nutritional and management information, and high quality feeds.

Farmer co-op business hits record high

WASHINGTON, D.C. — U.S. farmer cooperatives' total business volume exceeded $43.5 billion in 1977, a record high, according to data compiled by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Randall Torgerson, deputy administrator for cooperatives in USDA's Economics, Statistics, and Cooperative Service, said the increase in the dollar volume resulted largely from higher prices for farm production supplies sold by cooperatives, although certain farm product marketings also showed increases.

The 1977 volume was an 8.7 percent gain from the preceding year's $40.1 billion, Torgerson said.

The three components of total co-op business volume are marketing (the volume of products sold), farm supplies (volume of fertilizer, chemicals, fuels, feed and other inputs sold to co-op members), and related services for members such as trucking, storage, ginning, drying and similar services.

Torgerson said the number of cooperatives dropped from 7535 to 6736 primarily for two reasons: 688 of the associations were reclassified (and thus not eligible to be included in the report) and 111 cooperatives merged, consolidated, acquired other cooperatives or dissolved during the year.

Torgerson said the 1977 membership figure of 5.8 million was down 2.5 percent from 1976's 5.9 million reflecting the continued reduction in the number of farms and farmers. National membership in cooperatives exceeds the number of farmers because some farmers belong to two or more cooperatives, Torgerson said.

Memberships per association averaged 868 compared with 784 for the preceding year.

The marketing component of the business volume was up 7.7 percent from 1976 and totaled $32.1 billion. Grain, the leading farm product, increased to $11.9 billion, up 11.5 percent.

Marketings of several other commodities also increased, with miscellaneous products (hay, forest products, resale items), up 63 percent; cotton and cotton products, up 34.7 percent; and wool and mohair, up 19.7 percent.

Commodities that declined the most were tobacco, down 30.4 percent; rice, down 18.9 percent; and dry edible beans and peas, down 15.1 percent.

Farm supply volume of $10.6 billion, up 12.2 percent, increased mainly from higher volumes of petroleum products and feed. Petroleum products rose 19.9 percent, to $2.5 billion; and feed went up 13.6 percent, to $2.8 billion. Fertilizer was the third highest of the farm supply items at $2.4 billion (up 6.2 percent).

Other supplies that showed increases were miscellaneous supplies such as small hardware items, up 14.6 percent; and building materials, up 13.9 percent.

Volume of other services related to the farm business rose to $893 million, a 4.4 percent increase over a year earlier.

Minnesota continued to have the most cooperative with 768 and the most memberships with 573,147. North Dakota was second in cooperatives with 455, and Wisconsin third with 451.

Wisconsin was second in memberships with 364,687, and Indiana third with 331,591.

The leading state in combined marketing, farm supply, and related service volume handled by cooperatives was again California was $3.8 billion, or 8.7 percent of the total. Iowa ranked second, with $3.4 billion and 7.9 percent, Minnesota followed with $3.1 billion and 7.1 percent.

Get fall grains off to a good start

BY DON WERTMAN

With the good wheat & barley harvest season, some area farmers may be eyeing their storage bins as a source of planting stock this fall.

This old practice still attracts cost conscious growers, but more progressive farmers have long discovered the merits of certified seed and go to all lengths to procure quality seed. Here are some of the advantages of Certified Seed:

KNOWN PEDIGREE — Today's big machinery is a major source of contamination. Unless special care is given, seed lots are easily contaminated with other varieties or other crops such as Rye.

Certified Seed on the other hand must be virtually free of all contaminants of this nature. We also recognize that planting stock which is genetically pure will perform as the variety is described, while successive generations which are not maintained will loose the true performance potential of the variety.

PURE SEED — Seed which is free of weed, seeds such as garlic, quackgrass, thistle, cockel and mustard. Any beginning seedsmen can verify how many acres are lost in certification due to these weeds.

Certified Seed is field inspected to determine the presence of weeds before the crop is harvested. If certain noxious weeds are present the field is rejected. If other weeds are present the field may pass conditionally but the crop is not certified until the laboratory reports that the cleaned sample is free of noxious weeds.

Home grown seed offers none of these guarantees.

Some years ago, we saw some lots of "recleaned" home grown seed contain over 100 quackgrass seed per pound. With the cost of herbicides it would be better to plant weed free seed than to try to get rid of the weeds the following year.

PROPER SEED TREATMENT — This is one of the most important aspects of good seed. Although seed doesn't have to be treated to be certified, most companies offer treated seed.

It has become apparent that since the environmentalists have succeeded in banning Mercury seed treatments, the incidence of disease in small grain has increased. We are now forced to use an expensive product called "Vita Vax" to control loose smut in barley. Any grower who does not want smut in barley should insist on Vita Vax treatment. This treatment needs to be applied properly.

Again certified seed, Vita Vax treated, is the best insurance in controling smut, bunt and several other problems. Seed treatment of wheat is also important.

Vita Vax, Terra Coat and Protector 3L are also good protectant fungicides. Seed treatment is only as good as the way its applied. Proper dosage and uniform distribution are important. Seedsmen selling Certified seed are equipped and knowledgable in this important area. Thus, buying certified seed helps guarantee proper seed treatment.

DISEASE CONTROL — Certified seed is inspected for disease especially loose smut. Since the organism is seed borne it can be spread if present in the seed field. If found in excess of certified standards the field are rejected.

Scab can also be a problem. Planting clean seed provides extra insurance.

GUARANTEED GERMINATION — All Penna. Certified wheat and barley seed must germinate 90 percent in 1980. We say in 1980 because the standard may be lowered, in an adverse year if permitted by the Department of Agriculture.

All seed is tested before sale and the analysis tag is your guarantee of quality. Much home grown seed is never tested and although the seed looks good there could be a germination problem.

These are but a few of the pluses for Certified Seed. Farmers should realize that Seedsmen and the Department of Agriculture spend many dollars in funding our Certification program. It is a benefit to growers only when they take advantage of it through the purchase of Certified Seed.

VARIETIES TO PLANT? — Plant several varieties if this is practical. Penn State recommends Hart, Abe and Redcoat for Pennsylvania. This season most varieties did well, however Hart appears to have the best record across the state.

Many new varieties have been grown with varying degrees of success. Several are Logan, Ruler, Potomac, and Titan. Each has performed well in 1980. Titan, an Ohio release, appears promising but has some susceptibility to scab according to Elwood Hatley of Penn State. He also says Potomac does not always stand as well as it should but displays outstanding mildew resistance.

Potomac will be recommended in 1981 for Southeastern Pennsylvania. Winter hardiness is a concern in other parts of the state.

A new Illinois variety, Roland, shows promise and will be tried as soon as seed is available.

Certified Pennoll is still available from most seed companies. The variety is the tallest on the market and is still regarded as having the plumpest grain. Standability can be a problem with this variety although modern combines have overcome this obstacle.

Planting two varieties of different maturities can be beneficial. Abe and Hart will mature early while Redcoat is later Pennoll is the latest maturing with other new varieties falling in between Hart and Redcoat.

What's down the road in cereal grain production?

Pennsylvania Seedsman are excited about the future for grain production in our state. A Cereals Research project has been instituted at Penn State to research all aspects of production including varietal testing and development, pest management, cultural practices and energy efficient establishment. This is a tremendous undertaking and will require the support of many individuals and agencies.

Planting certified seed in 1980 of a proven variety that fits your program will put you on your way toward harvesting a profitable crop next summer.

Local dealers slate equipment demonstration

STRASBURG — Cope & Weaver Co., Messick Farm Equip., C.B. Hoober & Son, R.S. Hollinger & Son & Heritage International will host a Red Power Demo Day for farmers, featuring IH's "2 + 2" and Series 86 two-wheel drive tractors, plus other innovative equipment.

The field demonstration will be held at Ken Kreider Farm & Farmed by Merle Groff from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Thursday, September 4.

The farm is about one-half mile south of the Railroad Museum at Strasburg, near the corner of Beaver and Bishop roads, off Route 896.

In addition to the demonstration in which farmers can test IH equipment, the local dealers will hold a sweepstakes drawing. Participating farmers will be eligible for national drawings in early Fall, with the grand prize, a 3588 International "2+2", at 150 pto hp; 1st prize, a Series 86, 1086 tractor, at 131.4 pto hp; and four second prizes, the utility Series 84, 484 models at 42 pto hp.

"Farmers need to see for themselves the advantages of IH tractors that deliver new levels of reliability, comfort, efficiency and productivity, plus electronic monitoring and control capabilities," dealers said.

"These products represent IH's commitment to product leadership in the 80's and for this reason, it is important that farmers see for themselves the benefits of increased productivity and efficiency that they offer," they added.

In addition, IH also offers 11 utility-row-crop tractors, three hydrostatic drive models, and three versions in the 4-wheel drive category.

Offers 50-50 seedling program

SPRING GROVE — Local landowners are reminded that it is time to plan for tree planting to be done in the Spring of 1981. The Glatfelter Pulp Wood Company, Spring Grove, Pennsylvania, will share, on a 50-50 basis, the cost of seedlings with interested landowners.

Since the inception of the Company program in 1951, nearly 17 million seedlings have been furnished to landowners in these south central Pennsylvania counties: Adams, Berks, Chester, Cumberland, Dauphin, Franklin, Fulton, Juniata, Lancaster, Lebanon, Perry, Schuylkill and York.

Tree seedlings available this year under the Glatfelter program are Austrian pine, Virginia pine, Japanese Larch, white pine, Norway spruce, white spruce and pitch pine.

Orders now being accepted will be filled on a first-come, first-serve basis.

All seedlings are furnished by the Pennsyvlania Department of Environmental Resources. The Glatfelter Company imposes no restrictions of any kind, but landowners planting these trees must comply with state regulations regarding these trees. For example, they may not be used for Christmas trees, decorative or ornamental uses or for windbreaks.

Minimum order acceptable is for 1000 seedlings, which will plant 1.5 acres. All trees become the property of the landowners who may harvest them at a future date for any wood product.

If you are a landowner who is planning to plant tree seedlings in 1981, act now! The supply of seedlings for the 1981 season will be limited. For information about placing your order, see your local county agent, your Bureau of Forestry District Office or write directly to The Glatfelter Pulp Wood Company, Spring Grove, Pa. 17362.

Wins agronomy award

MECHANICSBURG — Kathy Jo Strock of Mechanicsburg received the senior student award in agronomy recently during meetings of the Northeastern Branch, American Society of Agronomy, held at Penn State.

A recent graduate of the College of Agriculture at Penn State, Ms. Strock maintained an outstanding academic record of 3.4 out of a possible 4.0. She received the Pennsylvania Grassland Council scholarship and the American Dairy Science Association Achievement Award, both in 1979.

As a member of the Penn State Agronomy Club for three years, Ms. Strock served as Ag Student Council representatives. She was also club secretary and vice president. She was active in many extracurricular programs within the College of Agriculture.

Ms. Strock plans eventually to own and operate a dairy farm. She is now working on the family dairy farm.

Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. Paul Strock of R9, Mechanicsburg.

Farm Credit announces promotions

YORK — H. Richard Zook, general manager of Federal Land Bank Association and associate manager of Production Credit Association announces the following promotions:

Kenneth E. Davis has been appointed to the newly created position, branch manager of the York Office.

Ken will be responsible for coordinating lending operations, including customer service, training, and marketing in York County.

Davis joined the Farm Credit staff as a loan officer in 1976 in the Carlisle Office. During the past year, he coordinated the opening of a full-time Branch Office in Perry County.

Along with his wife Anne and four children, Davis operates a small farm in northern York County.

Edward N. Heindel has been promoted to the position of senior credit analyst.

Heindel will be responsible for credit and appraisal quality, and the development of credit policies and procedures necessary to meet the Associations objective of providing constructive credit to qualified agriculture producers.

Sandra M. Aulbach

Edward N. Heindel

Kenneth E. Davis

Heindel began his career in Farm Credit with the York Associations in 1974 as a loan officer. He was promoted to credit appraisal analyst in 1977.

A graduate of Red Lion Area High School, Heindel attended Penn State majoring in agriculture engineering.

He and his wife Debbie reside in Windsor Township, York County.

Sandra M. Aulbach has been promoted to the position of field representative.

Her responsibilities will involve the complete processing of loan applications for both farm and rural resident needs.

Aulbach began her career with Farm Credit this past May as a senior office assistant in the Credit Department. She graduated from Dallastown Area High School in 1976, and attended York College of Pennsylvania, she has had commercial banking experience.

The Pennsylvania State Apple Queen of 1978, resides with her husband John in Spring Garden Township.

The Farm Credit Associations of York serve the agriculture credit needs of York, Adams, Cumberland, Franklin, Fulton, and Perry Counties.

1980 tested boars to sell in Delaware

HARRINGTON, Del. — Animals from the 1980 Delaware Boar Test will be sold at auction on Tuesday, September 2, at the Delaware State Fairgounds, Harrington. The sale will start at 6:30 p.m.

According to University of Delaware extension livestock specialist Richard Fowler, there were 44 boars on test this summer, with many of them gaining over 2.0 pounds a day.

The averages for all the boars were: 2.09 pounds daily gain, .75 inches backfat, and a feed efficiency ratio of 2.37 pounds of feed per pound of gain.

The average index is 100. A boar must have an index of 90 to sell. Twenty-seven boars will be sold.

The highest indexing boars were a pen of Durocs consigned by Edwards and Edwards Farm, Rich Square, N.C. These boars had an average index of 130, a backfat of .68 inches, a daily gain of 2.20 pounds and feed efficiency of 2.17.

Close to the leader was another Duroc pen consigned by Kenneth Ketterer of Newville, Pa. These boars had an average index of 128, a daily gain of 2.4, and feed efficiency of 2.17 pounds of feed per pound of gain.

The highest indexing individual boar this year was a Yorkshire consigned by Leon Arnold of Lebanon, Pa. The boar indexed 142 and had a daily gain of 2.57.

The test and sale are sponsored by the Delaware Pork Producers Association and the Delaware Extension Service.

The Evolution of the American Corncrib

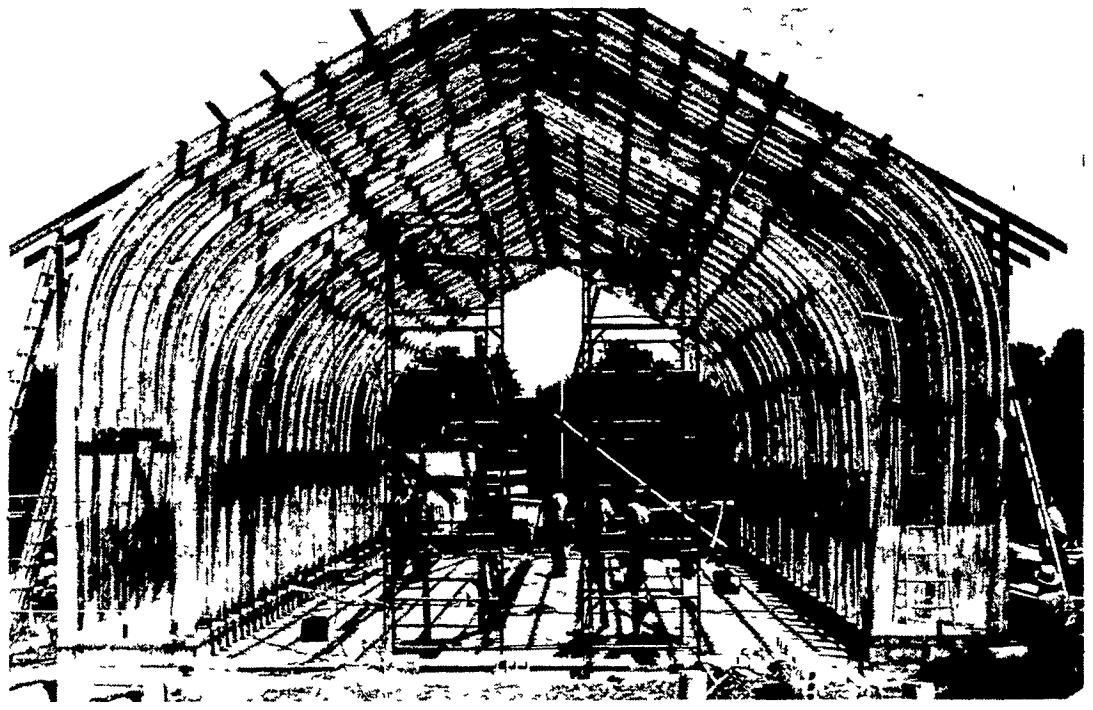
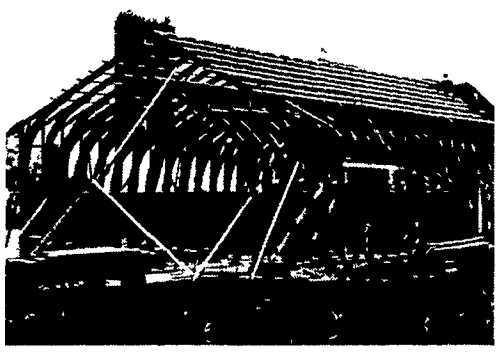
Laminated Uni-arch design makes all inside space useful — even close to walls, and permits economical installation of roofing and siding materials



ARCHES IN STOCK

Large Volume Grain and Storage Implement Building



Beginning with the earliest American farms, corn on the cob was seasoned and dried by allowing air to flow around it; this kept away mold. From simple, square cribs of alternately piled logs, covered by a sloping roof, the corncrib evolved to the drive-in crib. The sidewalls always slanted outward at the eaves. On a great many mountain farms this was the beginning of barn architecture, for by adding doors in the driveway wall, you have the simplest American barn.

Today, a much more efficient structure for the storage of corn — along with large farm implement storage — is provided by the imaginative use of the Laminated Rafter. The exceptional strength of this aesthetically pleasing arch may be readily combined with simple construction, requiring a minimum amount of materials and erection time. It is a structure that permits great flexibility, because all inside space is useable, offering so many possibilities for a variety of farming needs.

Frey bull wins at Indiana State Fair

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. — The grand champion bull at the Indiana State Fair Angus Show was an entry co-owned by Fred C. Frey & Sons of Quarryville and Continental Associates, Phelps, New York.

The bull, Continental, was tagged Senior Champion by judge Jim Hough of Ardmore, Tennessee on his way to the top honors.

Following Continental in both the Reserve Senior Champion and Reserve Grand Champion slot was Craft Lucky Strike. Three owners share this champion. They include Robert Zeedyk, New Carlisle, Indiana; Lucky Strike Breeders, Grass Lake Michigan; and Steve Silbernagel, Napoleon, North Dakota.

Judge Hough went to the junior division for both top honors in the female show.

Grand Champion was Kendall First Lady, co-owned by Mr. and Mrs. Sayre MacLeod, Sayre Farms, Phelps, New York; and Scott Talbott Jr., Lexington, Kentucky.

Premier Angus Inc., Cloverdale, Indiana, led out the Reserve Grand Champion, Premier Baroness 2068T.

Sayre Farms grouped Sayre Patriot progeny to top the Senior Get Class and exhibited the Best Pair of bulls.

Premier Angus Inc. earned first in Junior Get competition with offspring of Le Mar Eileenmere Lad 549, Skyhigh; led out the Best Six Head; and claimed the Premier Breeder banner.

Junior Champion bull was Sayre Jubilee, owned by Sayre Farms; Jubilee Associates, Greenville, Tennessee; and Allen Timms, Lompoc, California. Reserve was Wayview Proceed, an entry of Way View Farms Inc., Hebron, Ohio; and Luther Fetty, Sardis, Ohio.

E&W Cattle Co., Greentown, Indiana, topped the Intermediate bull division with E&W Altitude. Accent Angus Farm, Oakland, Illinois, stood in Reserve with Esquire Northern Marshall 135.

Jane Dawes, Urbana, Indiana, owned the Bull Calf Champion, DD Black Stud 929, and Premier Angus Inc. exhibited the Reserve, Premier Skyhigh 2343T.

Patriot Lady 965 was the Intermediate Champion female exhibited by Kevin Reeser, LeRoy, Illinois. Sayre Farms took Reserve on Blackcap 434L of Sayre.

Mushroom industry reacts to fixed quota

BY DON CUNNION
Staff Correspondent

NOTTINGHAM — Pennsylvania mushroom growers finally may get long-sought relief from cheap canned imports.

The U.S. International Trade Commission has unanimously recommended that President Carter impose absolute (fixed) quotas which would cut the import share of the U.S. canned mushroom market from 56 percent to 40 percent or less.

President Carter has 60 days from August 14, when he officially received the recommendation, to accept one of two ITC proposals to restrict imports, come up with a solution of his own, or ignore the whole thing.

Martin S. Gaston, executive secretary of the American Mushroom Institute, which represents the mushroom industry nationwide, says he feels optimistic about positive Presidential action since the ITC recommendation was passed unanimously.

Two previous recommendations by the ITC to control imports were turned down by the White House. In fact, one of President Carter's first acts when he took office was to refuse relief through import controls.

Canned mushroom imports hit a record high of 112 million pounds in the fiscal year 1979-80, which ended June 30. This was 30 percent more than the previous year.

That total actually exceeded total sales of U.S. canned mushrooms by 23 million pounds.

As a result of the flood of imports, prices paid to U.S. growers for fiscal 1979-80 dropped 1.3 cents a pound from the previous year, according to the USDA Crop Reporting Board.

Things were worse for Pennsylvania growers, with prices dropping nearly five cents a pound.

Pennsylvania is the nation's leading grower of mushrooms, accounting for 45 percent of the total. No other state comes close. But a few years ago Pennsylvania accounted for 65 percent of the total.

Mushroom prices have been weak in Pennsylvania and other states through the new crop year which began July 1. Little increase has been shown in the hot months, when production usually drops off.

Mack Reece, Nottingham grower, who sells to both the fresh and canned market, told us he has been losing money ever since the first of the calendar year.

"The fresh market just can't absorb the mushroms our beleaguered canners no longer buy because of lack of a market," he said. "That forces more mushrooms onto the fresh market and weakens the price structure."

Bill Lane, vice president in charge of sales for Butler Mushroom Farms, the state's larger grower, agrees that prices are bad.

"The prices being offered by our canners because of the flood of imports are disastrously low," he said. "Domestic production has out-paced the sale of domestic mushrooms."

Even though Butler stresses sales to the fresh market it depends on processors to buy surpluses and product that doesn't meet the firm's grade standards for fresh sale.

Lane points out that the over-supply situation in Pennsylvania might have been worse during the last two fiscal years if a prolonged strike at Butlers hadn't sharply cut production there. Butler lost about 20 million pounds.

Lewe B. Martin, of the Washington law firm of Pope, Ballard & Loos, which represents the U.S. mushroom industry, reports three members of the ITC proposed a three-year import quota plan which would start at 86 million pounds for 1980-81, increase to 94 million pounds in 1981-82 and hit 103 million pounds for 1982-83.

A fourth member of the ITC came up with a "minority" proposal calling for a five-year plan which would start at 78 million pounds and reach 102 million by 1984-85. Both proposals were based on an average of 78 million pounds of imports over the past six years.

No one we talked with in the mushroom industry felt the ITC proposals went far enough to provide needed protection, but the general feeling was that "they are better than nothing" or "at least they are a start."

Some pessimism was expressed about the chances of approval by President Carter of the ITC recommendations. Conversely, it was noted that the deadline for Presidential action, October 14, comes shortly before an election in which President Carter will be out for every possible vote.

At Lancaster Carriage

Hermans make buggies their business

BY SHEILA MILLER

LEOLA — When you think about carriages and horse drawn vehicles, scenes of yester year are conjured up in the minds of most people.

Landed gentry and noblemen riding elegantly down roads that at a moments downpour turn into muddy quagmires and cover the piano-finish shines on luxurious cabriolets and phaetons into bespattered messes — these were the hay-days for carriage makers, right?

If you talk to people familiar with the carriage business, you'll find that most of the vehicles that are rolling down the highways these days are restored antiques, like the ones bought at Saturday's Martin sale. But, what of the horseman who doesn't want "last year's" model? Where can you buy a brand new buggy?

Believe it or not, there is a place in Lancaster County where carriages are made from scratch. The place — Lancaster Carriage, of course.

This unique business is the enterprise of Robert and Sandra Herman, Leola, which was established in 1971.

According to Bob, their's is a unique carriage shop because he designs and builds new carriages. "There is only one other carriage maker of this kind in the world, and he's in Vienna, Austria. That carriage maker is a decendent of a line of carriage makers who built vehicles for kings and queens," he said.

How does someone in the twentieth century become interested in building brand new carriages?

Settling back into his chair, Bob said he owes his interest to his childhood upbringing. "I was raised to be inventive, and carriage building involves creativity and imagination. I enjoy working with my hands and three-dimensional objects," he explained, adding that model-building was one of his favorite childhood hobbies.

After graduating from Conestoga Valley High School, where he took first place in the science fair for three years, Bob went on to Lehigh University in Bethlehem where he received his Bachelor of Science Degree in physics.

Still not tired of school, Bob continued his education at Lehigh and studied for his Master's in psychology. He laughs as he recalls how one day he ran across a note on a professor's desk that said 'The more education a person receives, the harder it will be to find employment'. That settled it, he chuckled, and that day he quit graduate school.

As fate might have it, Bob said he returned to Lancaster County, primarily because he always liked the area. Out of school and unemployed, he had to come up with a means of supporting himself.

So, he started a business of driving tourists around the Amish farmland. "I needed to get out and be with people because I had been raised in an isolated environment," he said.

Bob recalled taking his idea to a local bank, laying out his plans for making a living driving tourists. At the time, he owned no horse, no buggy, and he didn't know the first thing about driving.

"I found a motel where I could park while I was waiting for the tourists," he said, "and I located an Amishman that had a carriage and horse that I could drive."

It was a four mile drive from the Amishman's farm where Bob stabled his horse to the motel. It was on his daily commute, he said, that he learned the rudaments of driving.

"It was a wacky enough idea," he declared, "and it worked." When the business was at its peak, Bob said, he employed 5 drivers, had 6 horses, and owned 3 carriages.

How did he get into building carriages?

Bob recalled that when he'd get home to a second floor apartment on North Duke Street, he'd sit around and talk horses with his landlords, Mr. and Mrs. Thorpe.

"For something to do, I started dragging carriage parts upstairs — it was the start of my first courting buggy. When I finally finished it, it had so many mistakes."

Sandy, his right-hand assistant and partner in the business, came into Bob's life in 1977. She worked at a

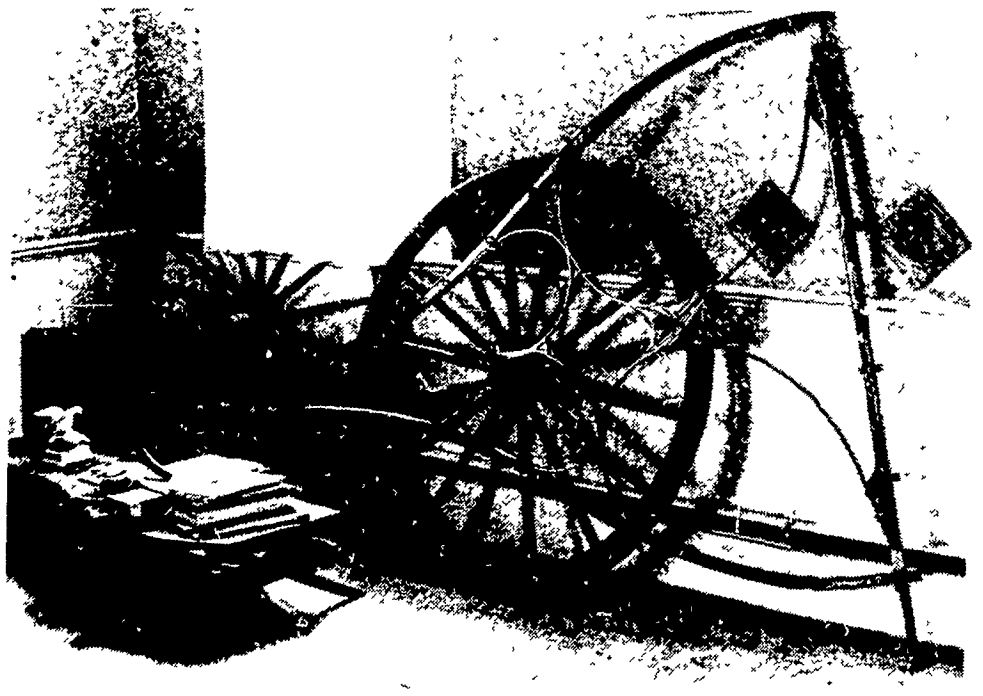
Bob and Sandy Herman are the proud owners of Lancaster Carriage, manufacturers of original-design horse drawn vehicles located in Leola.

A dining room is transformed into a workshop in the Herman home. Shafts and box, wheels and running gear are propped against wainscoating awaiting their final assembly and transformation into a carriage.

Sandy concentrates on sanding a pair of shafts. Until they are ready for their first coat of paint, at least five coats of primer are sanded to a smooth finish by hand.



One of Bob's creations is this Gentleman Farmer's cart which took fifth place in the 1978 Devon Show.

nearby service station and said she always wanted to ask Bob for a job driving his horses.

Although she had grown up with horses in her home state of North Carolina, Sandy said she had never driven a horse. She came to Lancaster County after graduating from High School in 1973 because she had read in a horse publication that this was the 'most horsy area' in the United States.

"Lancaster County was close to a number of racetracks, and I wanted a job with horses," she recalled.

She smiled as she remembered the advertisement that finally gave her the courage to apply for a job with Bob's buggy tour business — "Previous experience not desirable."

Jumping back into the conversation, Bob said he hired Sandy because she appeared to be alert, intelligent, and she sported a tee-shirt saying 'No I'm not Amish.'

"And she's the only employee I ever had to fire," he quipped. The separation was the result of an argument over the horses, said Sandy, explaining how she wasn't used to the idea of horses working long hours in all types of weather.

They're an engine to propel a carriage from the Amish point of view, Bob remarked as if to drive home his point once again.

Every Spring after she was fired, Sandy mused, she would think about Bob and how he had taught her to drive in the dreary, rainy weather. They finally got

JOHN DEERE BIG TRACTOR BONUSES

GET $3,000 ON 4-WHEEL DRIVES UP TO $1,700 ON ROW-CROP TRACTORS

The chart below shows the John Deere Money bonus you can earn for buying or leasing any new John Deere 4-Wheel-Drive or 90- to 180-hp Row-Crop Tractor before October 31, 1980. It'll pay you to act promptly, though, because you'll earn the biggest bonus between now and September 15. After you take delivery, your John Deere Money bonus will be mailed to you — money you can spend for goods or services at our dealership.

There's more: Finance your tractor with John Deere and no finance charges will begin to accrue until March 1, 1981. And the first payment on your annual payment contract won't be due until you harvest your principal crop in 1981. Or lease your new tractor and implements for it and John Deere will discount lease payments by 15 percent. Act now: Get John Deere BIG TRACTOR BONUSES.

Lancaster Carriage

Back on track again, Bob retraced his carriage maker's 'apprenticeship' of sorts giving full credit to Jake Zimmerman for his training. Zimmerman, who now lives in the central part of the State, 'taught' Bob how to build carriages.

"Any time I ran into a question on how to do something, I'd go up the road to see Jake. Sometimes I was up there two times a day," he said.

Building his own carriages was almost a necessity of the trade, Bob explained, citing the fact that new Amish buggies he had purchased fell apart in one season. So, he began to make his own, designed to withstand the load and the miles travelled each summer driving tourists around Lancaster.

"I've easily driven over 25,000 miles myself," said Bob leaning against one of his 'home-made' Amish buggies.

In 1974, the Lancaster Carriage Works moved from a Lancaster apartment to the large house Bob had purchased in Leola. In time, the carriage making business expanded, soon commanding almost the entire downstairs.

With 80 percent of his work involving new carriages and only 20 percent in restoration, Bob has created his own masterpieces and saved vehicles that others termed impossible to restore.

He pulled out a photo album with pictures of an old fire hose cart from Lakewood, New Jersey. In a transformation rivaling the metamorphosis of a caterpillar into a beautiful butterfly, Bob showed how they took an almost unrecognizable heap of wood and metal and painstakingly salvaged the cart for the fire company.

"It's as fragile as an egg," Bob said, "and they won't be fighting fires with it any more." But his pride in the cart, originally manufactured by Wirt Knox Manufacturing of Philadelphia, reflects his delight in his accomplishment.

The fire company, he said, plans to enter it in an old fire fighting equipment competition sometime during the second week of September.

His most difficult restoration job, however, was not the fire hose cart, according to Bob. A Portland cutter he restored holds that title.

The type of carriage that Bob builds predominately is a common spring wagon. But he has allowed his imagination and physics background to run wild on occassion.

One of his pieces which he calls a gentleman farmer's cart was designed to fit a specific horse. It was built for a woman who planned to take the horse and cart to the Devon Show.

"This was the 1978 show," said Bob, "and ours was the only newly made vehicle to take a prize. The judges kept insisting that the cart was a restored Austrian vehicle, and awarded it fifth place."

Going over the cart like a proud creator, Bob pointed out the five foot long side springs, the shafts which are independent of the body of the cart, and he demonstrated the adjustable foot rest for the people riding in the back.

To add to its uniqueness, Bob explained he enclosed a metal frame within a routed-out wooden frame. The cart also was adorned with over $1000 worth of brass screws, nails, and nuts.

The Hermans spent their honeymoon delivering another one of their creations to Acadia National Park in Maine. They were contracted by the Savage family to build a two-seat open carriage to use on the 60 miles of trails in the park.

Their carriage joined the other antique carriages in the DuPont collection on the island of Bar Harbor — the first new vehicle on the island in over 70 years.

"The wheels were proportioned perfectly to carry the load, all the while fitting with the look of the carriage," described Bob. "There was ¼ inch deviation from front to rear in the running gear," he said, his physics background coming into play in designing a carriage with as smooth a ride as possible.

Recently, Bob said he has also started designing his own springs.

Bob is a perfectionist, said Sandy, and it's reflected in his work.

Although he was careful to keep the secrets of the trade well consealed, he did point out that each vehicle is painted in a series of steps. At least five coats of primer is applied, with each layer sanded to a smooth finish, followed with as many coats of paint stroked on with a skill that defies any one to find a brush mark. The process takes months in some cases.

Now that the carriage business is getting stronger, the Hermans have stopped driving regular tours from a local restaurant parking lot. Instead they schedule tours by appointment, offering five different tours covering between 3 and 12 miles. With the tours taking from a half hour to a half day, the reimbursement for horse and driver starts at $5.

When they're not behind the horse, the Hermans are either busy in the shop or with the horses. Sandy gives riding lessons and trains other peoples' horses. She said she hopes to become involved with local 4-H and church groups, teaching the young children the fundamentals of horse care and driving.

As their business continues to become recognized throughout the United States and internationally, someday a Lancaster Carriage vehicle will join the ranks of Brewster, A.T. Demarest & Co., or Rogers & Twentyman & Co. in the realm of the collector.

Named president elect

UNIVERSITY PARK — Robert C. Bealer, professor of rural sociology at Penn State, has been elected president-elect of the Rural Sociological Society. Founded in 1937, the Society serves a worldwide membership of rural sociologists in research, teaching, and extension.

Bealer took office during the Society's annual meeting held August 20 to 23 at Cornell University, Ithaca, NY.

Prior to this, he has served on the Society's policy development committee, its publication committee, and the governing council.

Bealer served two terms on the editorial review board of "Rural Sociology", the society journal, and was editor-in-chief of the journal from 1973 to 1975.

His interests center on metasociology-the application of sociological theory to research-and the continued significance to rurality in American society. He has published and written extensively, having been involved in over 150 papers, articles, reviews, and monographs.

Bealer was appointed to the Penn State faculty in 1958. He received both the undergraduate and master's degrees from Penn State. The doctor of philosophy degree in sociology and anthropology was awarded by Michigan State University in 1962. He was promoted to full professor in 1968.

Moore takes top two places at Franklin Fair Guernsey show

BY RUTH ANN BENEDICT
Staff Correspondent

CHAMBERSBURG — John Moore, 4935 Byers Rd., Chambersburg, captured both Grand Champion and Reserve Grand Champion honors of the Franklin County Guernsey Open Show held here at the Franklin County Fairgrounds last Wednesday.

Moore's two year old named "Rockmoore Fayvors Connie" was selected as Grand Champion while "Connies' " dam, Spring Garden Flashes Royal, an aged cow, was given Reserve Grand Champion honors by judge Billy J. Heath of Westminster.

In the 4-H and FFA Show Grand Champion honors went to a three year old owned by Patricia Ann Layman of Waynesboro while Reserve Grand Champion went to Jeffrey D. Benedict, also of Waynesboro, and his dry three and four year old.

Douglas Layman, Waynesboro, was named Junior Champion of both the open and 4-H Show with his senior yearling heifer while John W. Mummert, Chambersburg, was selected as Reserve Junior Champion, open and 4-H, with his junior calf.

During the 4-H and FFA Showing and Fitting Contest, Allen Mummert of Chambersburg was selected by the fitting and showing judge Eugene Schuiman of Clymer as Grand Champion Showman and Grand Champion Fitter.

Allan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mummert.

In the Jersey open show, Timothy Donough, Chambersburg, walked away with an armload of trophies and ribbons as he won Grand

Lehigh VP sounds call for dairy organization

ALLENTOWN — "History has clearly demonstrated that dairy farmers need to belong to an effective dairy organization," suggests John C. York, Vice President, Member Relations, Lehigh Valley Farmers.

The past three decades have demonstrated that dairy farmers have repeatedly found themselves left without a secure milk market. Milk companies after milk companies have exited from the milk business for one reason or another. Thousands of farmers were dropped and left without a milk market and many never recovered the money for the milk they sold when bankruptcies occurred.

The reason for such happenings can be traced to many factors. In fact, the reasons may differ as between various parts of the country, the market, or by company for these failures, York said.

The future clearly indicates a constant trend toward the growth of milk marketed by cooperatives across the United States. The Northeast will follow this same pattern and it appears that the Northeast is on the brink of an acceleration in this direction, he said.

The Farmers Cooperative Service, a branch of the United States Department of Agriculture, suggests sweeping changes in the structure of dairy industries by 1985.

They predict a volume of milk marketed by cooperatives is expected to reach 98 billion pounds—about 80 percent of all the milk sold to plants and dealers. In addition, they expect the amount of milk bottled or manufactured by cooperatives will increase to 41 billion pounds.

Lehigh Valley Farmers, through its affiliation with Atlantic Processing Federation, is capable of meeting today's and tomorrow's industry challenges, York said.

He said Lehigh will provide a strong contribution to the stability of the dairy industry of the Northeast. It can assure markets for dairymen today and in the future.

Through its organizational structure, it is a leader in the State of Pennsylvania with respect to such items as packaging whole milk, balancing of surplus milk and the production of cheddar cheese, York said.

"Dairy cooperatives, like Lehigh, will continue their growth trends while there can be expected a continuous decline in milk bottling firms.

"The role of Lehigh will expand as a stabilizing force in assuring dairymen outlets for their milk in the future. This will all add up to a plus for dairymen who are in the region serviced by Lehigh," according to York.

Simmental breeders meet

KEYSTONE, Co. — Nearly four hundred members of the American Simmental Association and their families participated in ASA's sixth annual Summer Conference held recently at Keystone Resort, 70 miles west of Denver.

"Our 1980 Summer Conference was our best ever in terms of productivity," said Executive Secretary Earl Peterson. "Members from 32 states and Canada, attended, and their eagerness to provide input during the working committee meetings, contributed to its success."

Fifteen committees were convened, all chaired by a member of the ASA Trustees, and covered subject matter dealing with concepts, performance, the World Simmental Federation, breeder's guidelines, youth and education, Polled Simmental, convention agendas and several others.

One decision which came out of the Summer Conference was the extension of ASA's cost-sharing advertising program, in which ASA matches dollar-for-dollar, the advertising budgets of State Associations within guidelines established by the Trustees.

It was announced that the 1981 Summer Conference will be held July 15-19 at the Great Smokies Hilton Hotel located at Asheville, North Carolina. It will be the first Summer Conference held in the Southeastern United States. Orlando, Florida was approved as the site for the 14th ASA Annual Meeting and Convention, January 28-31, 1982.

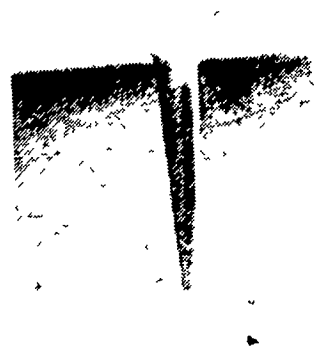
fiberdome CALFhutches start them out right



Raising calves is a tricky business That's why modern calf raisers are going to individual hutches to help save more calves by cutting down on pneumonia, scours and hoof problems Properly made hutches help eliminate the dampness, crowding and poor ventilation that plague many calf barns

You can be assured of this kind of healthier environment with Fiberdome CALFhutches Their unique one-piece construction of heavy gauge fiber glass makes them weatherproof, so they will last indefinitely with normal care No joints for moisture and bacteria to creep through A white gel-coat finish keeps them cool in summer

Tractor driving, livestock judging winners at Kutztown

Staff Correspondent

KUTZTOWN — Winding up an active week of competition at the Kutztown Fair, members of several FFA chapters and 4-H clubs concluded their fair activities with tractor driving and livestock judging competition.

In tractor driving, two members of Conrad Weiser FFA swept first and second place, leaving the third position to Donald Stoltzfus of Twin Valley. Out performing all other competitors was 17-year-old Tim Deamer, while Henry Noss, also 17 followed.

Other placings were 4, Donald Haas, Lehigh; 5, Donald Lorish, Kutztown; 6, Jan Adam, Hamburg; 7, Ronald Haas, Lehigh; 8, Steve Mertz, Kutztown; 9, Kenneth Sweitzer, Twin Valley; and 10, Mark Rohrbach, Hamburg.

FFA LIVESTOCK JUDGING

In FFA livestock judging Twin Valley teams took high honors in both senior and junior divisions. High individual in the senior division was also a Twin Valley FFA member, Steve Snyder, while the junior division high individual was Terry Fegley of Kutztown. Results of these contests follow:

National group seeks rural award recipients

ANNAPOLIS, Md. — Raymond Philip Shafer, Chairman of the National Rural Center's Selection Trustees, has recenlty announced that a nationwide search has been launched for nominees for two $10,000 rural service awards, according to Maryland Secretary of Agriculture, Wayne A. Cawley, Jr.

Each year the Winthrop Rockefeller Award for distinguished Rural Service is awarded to two individuals who have made important contributions to rural America. A $10,000 check is given to each winner and competition for the prestigious award is keen.

The awards, Governor Shafer explained, are aimed at honoring individual leadership in local communities and in the academic community. Each nominee must have at least one specific contribution through a project or program that affects a rural area or areas.

In addition, the project must deal with an important national or regional problem. It must be adaptable to other rural areas and it must have a potential for long-lasting impact. Innovation is also a factor, Shafer said.

The search for 1981 nominations began in June with a September 10th deadline For 1981 nominating forms and information, contact the National Rural Center, 1828 L Street, NW, Washington, DC 20036.

Ask the VMD

Leon Riegel Tim Trayer Edgar Sheaffer

If you have a question you would like answered by the team from Valley Animal Hospital, send it to Ask the VMD, Box 366, Lititz, Pa. 17543. Questions will be kept anonymous on request.

A reader asks:

Are sweet corn stalks a safe feed for horses? In the past, we have fed the stalks to cattle and swine with no apparant ill-effects.

Dr. Sheaffer comments:

Sweet corn fodder is a dangerous feed for all of the equine family, horses, ponies, donkeys, and mules.

Each year, during the months of August and September, we receive telephone calls from people who have just fed sweet corn husks to their equine friends.

Most times within a few hours from the time the animal eats the husks, and sometimes within a few minutes, the animal will show signs of colic. Pain in the belly or abdomen, pawing, sweating in the flanks or on the shoulders, and turning its head to look at its sides are all indications that the animal is in distress.

What creates this problem?

While horses may chew the corn stalks and cob fairly well, they don't properly chew the sweet corn husks and silk. They actually swallow most of it whole, without grinding it up or shredding it up.

When the husks get into the stomach of the horse, they tend to ball up and form a wad which may pack and block the pyloric valve. This valve is the mechanism that controls the emptying of food from the stomach into the intestines.

In a case where the horse has just eaten the husks and shows signs of colic within one to two hours, there usually is a blockage.

When this happens, the mass of husks and silks causes the stomach to stretch. Pain results from the stretching and the pooling of fluid and gas.

This condition brings on a tremendous thirst. And, if the horse is allowed to, it will drink larger quantities of water which further distends and stretches the stomach.

If not treated early enough, most animals will die of a ruptured stomach. Once the stomach ruptures, death occurs in a matter of minutes.

Treatment for cases caught in the early stage it to pass a stomach tube to siphon off as much of the fluid and stomach contents as possible. Then up to a gallon of mineral oil should be gravitated into the stomach or pumped in slowly.

If the blockage is relieved and the wad is broken up and able to pass to the intestines, the horse should be treated with extreme care over the next several days. Even though the stomach inpaction is corrected, there could be a reoccurance further down the digestive tract, in the large or small intestines.

The horse needs to be kept on a laxative diet, feeding it bran mash or bran gruel — something that is soft and easily digested.

Bran mash can be made from crimped oats, whole grain bran, salt and warm water. Most horses find this mash quite palatable. When fed along with a mineral oil treatment, this diet should keep the animal from suffering from an impaction of the intestinal tract.

If, however, an intestinal blockage does occur, and the partially digested husk material becomes lodged and causes toxins to be released, the horse will founder in most cases. Signs of founder include tenderness of the feet, heat in the lower legs and feet, restlessness, lying down and getting up repeatedly. If these signs occur, call your veterinarian at once.

In conclusion, do not feed sweet corn fodder to horses, or other equines. If this has been a practice that has not resulted in a horse dying of colic, you can consider yourself and your animals lucky.

Empty foods restricted in schools

MEDIA — If your child isn't eating much of his school lunch it may be because he is filling up on vending machine snacks instead says Greta Vairo, home economist.

That will soon change with the new USDA rule that restricts the sale of any food that has minimum nutritional value—soda pop, water ices, chewing gum and some candies—from the start of the school day until after the last lunch period. USDA is authorized to regulate the sale of foods where they compete with federally subsidized meal programs in the schools.

The action is being taken because of widespread concern for the quality of school children's diets. Sales of "competitive foods"—especially soda pop—are growing in the schools. Soda provides calories, but no nutrients.

INTRODUCING RUMA PASS

The complete dairy feed that cuts protein costs while maintaining your milk production.

If you think high milk production requires high protein, think again.

New Master Mix Ruma Pass for corn and sorghum silage feeding programs lets you feed less protein without a loss in milk production. So you save on protein while your cows continue producing at their present level.

Ruma Pass contains by-pass proteins which are not easily digested in the rumen, but are readily digested in the small intestine. The net result is more usable protein with less waste.

And you pocket the savings.

Showers give some farmers some relief

HARRISBURG — Mid-week showers delayed harvesting of small grains and others farm field activities during the week ending August 18, but the rain and an accompanying cold front brought an end to the extended period of hot and humid weather, according to the Pennsylvania Crop Reporting Service.

Harvesting of vegetables, fruits and small grains were major fieldwork activities during the week which had four days suitable for fieldwork. Other farm activities included making hay, baling straw, plowing, chopping corn and general repairs.

Apple and peach harvest is reported to be good, but some reports indicated fruit size was small. Late sweet corn varieties are being harvested, but are spotty, with production rated from plentiful to light.

Tomato harvest is building up, with numerous reports of dry rot and slow ripening tomatoes. Snap bean harvest is nearing completion with reports of production being down due to weather conditions. Harvest of cucumbers, squash and cabbage are reported as good.

Soil moisture is still rated short to adequate statewide, but spotted showers and thunderstorms have caused wide variations within regions. Northern operators rated soils as 48 percent surplus to 33 percent adequate. The central region reported 64 percent short to 29 percent adequate while the south showed 50-50, short and adequate soil moisture supplies.

Wheat harvest is virtually complete across the state, on a par with last year. Oats harvest was rated as 82 percent complete, ahead of last year's 70 percent. Northern operators reported oat harvest at 56 percent while harvest was virtually complete in central and southern counties.

Corn harvested for silage stands at 10 percent, well ahead of last year's harvest which stood at less than five percent at the same time. Corn for grain is reported at 53 percent silked, 35 percent in dough, and five percent in dent. A year ago, corn was rated comparably at 53 percent silked, 33 percent in dough and six percent in dent. The five year average is 50 percent silked, 38 percent in dough, and five percent in dent.

Potato harvest was 22 percent complete statewide, slightly ahead of the 21 percent reported in 1979. Harvest in the north was at 22 percent, central harvest lagged at 11 percent and southern potato harvest stood at 32 percent.

Tobacco harvest is at seven percent, ahead of the less than five percent harvested last year at this time.

Fall plowing was reported to be 20 percent complete statewide, compared to nine percent a year ago. The north is at 16 percent, central counties are at 21 percent and the south is at 23 percent plowed.

Second cutting of alfalfa increased to 83 percent, ahead of last year, despite the showers. While the south was virtually complete in second cutting, central farmers report 92 percent complete and the north is at 72 percent. Third cutting alfalfa is 30 percent complete statewide, compared to 22 percent last year. Northern area report 27 percent complete, central areas stand at 22 percent and the south is at 44 percent complete.

Second cutting of alfalfa increased to 83 percent, ahead of last year, despite the showers. While the south was virtually complete in second cutting, central farmers report 92 percent complete and the north is at 72 percent. Third cutting alfalfa is 30 percent complete statewide, compared to 22 percent last year. Northern areas report 27 percent complete, central areas stand at 22 percent and the south is at 44 percent complete.

Second cutting of clover-timothy advanced to 73 percent, compared to 50 percent a year go. Northern areas were 63 percent complete, while central and southern areas stood at 83 percent and 81 percent complete, respectively.

Hay quality was rated as good to fair during the week with northern farms rating hay as mostly fair to poor. Feed from pasture decreased this week, with 4 percent rating feed from pasture as average and 4 percent below average.

All fuels were rated mostly adequate to surplus.

The Milk Check

TOM JURCHAK
County Agent

Litmus Test

Everyone remembers the litmus paper used in high school chemistry classes to determine if a compound was acid or alkaline.

Well, I think a good litmus test for marketing conditions is the Minnesota-Wisconsin Price Series. Even with its shortcomings it's the best economic indicator that we have.

It won't give you a uniform or blend price. But neither is it loaded with a lot of extras that can be misleading. And with 60 percent of your milk being sold at the Class II price — which is basically the M-W in Order 2 — it's a much better indicator than ever before.

Besides, it's still the basis for determining your class prices when converted to 3.5 percent butterfat and it called the Basic Formula Price in all federal milk marketing orders.

However, even with the M-W we can be misled because it is influenced by the price support program. U.S. Department of Agriculture purchases of butter, powder and cheese are made to increase the M-W price so producers all over the country will benefit from the support program.

Keeping this in mind you can use the M-W price like the litmus paper in the chemistry class.

Looking back over the last four months since the new support price of $12.07 was announced on April 1, the M-W price never really moved from $11.68 in April until it increased a measly five cents in July to $11.73 — still far below the support price of $1207 in spite of USDA purchases.

Wait and Watch

However, that five cents increase — small as it was — looked so good that a lot of people interpreted it as the beginning of the end of milk marketing problems.

There were a lot of reasons centering mainly around the heat wave in the western states. We even got some encouragement when butter prices reached the support level for the first time since April (even though they didn't stay there).

The best news of all was the decision by USDA to do nothing to delay the scheduled increase in the support price due October 1 even though we were still 49 cents below the current support level in July.

Even government purchases of butter dropped by more than two third in late July.

All of these were helpful signs that changes may be on the way. But when my litmus paper test showed only a five cent increase in the M-W this month, I decided I better wait and watch.

Lentz barn burns

AVON — Fire claimed a South Lebanon Township barn early Sunday morning, reported the township's fire chief Ralph Lehman.

The 40 x 70 foot bank barn was owned by Warren Lentz on Mine Road near King Street.

Lentz told Lancaster Farming his son Ronald, who lives on the neighboring farm, sighted the blaze when he went out to milk around 4:30 Sunday morning. Lentz added that another neighbor who had gone out to milk at about 4:10 saw nothing of the fire.

Said Lentz, "I think someone lit the barn."

Fire Chief Lehman reported the cause of the fire was not known but that it was under investigation by the Lebanon County and State Police fire marshalls. "They'll be checking all angles," he said.

According to Lehman, the fire company got the alarm at 4:55 a.m. It was reported by Carl and Karen Shirk, tenants at the farm. They were alerted by Ronald Lentz that the barn was burning, turned in the alarm, and assisted in freeing 15 replacement heifers from the inferno.

An estimated $65,000 loss was reported by the fire chief. This involved only the stored crops that burned.

"We had the barn filled with hay and straw," said Lentz. "There was no room for any equipment "

It took fire fighters three hours to get the blaze under control, said Lehman, and they didn't leave the scene until late Sunday afternoon.

The South Lebanon Township Companies included Prescott, Avon, Hebron, and Friendship. There were 5 tankers on assist from neighboring companies.

About 50 friends and neighbors turned out Sunday and Monday until noon to assist Lentz in the clean up.

According to Lentz, the fire company required the immediate removal of the smoldering bales which they began to pile in an adjoining field. Later the bales were hauled to fill a neighbor's abandoned mine hole. Volunteers ran bull dozers and dump trucks and made short work of what would have been a mountainous task for hand labor —SM

CHORE-TIME®

BUILT TO LAST!

The Air System With A Mind Of Its Own

Until now, most ventilation systems had one drawback. Air inlets had to be opened and closed by hand.

This was time consuming — and pretty much a matter of guesswork.

Now, Chore-Time has eliminated this problem.

The Chore-Time system has a mind of its own and adjusts inlets — in conjunction with fan operation — to maintain air pressure at a constant, preset level.

This provides a degree of air and moisture accuracy never before possible in poultry and livestock buildings.

The new inlet control (pictured) is just one of many exclusive features that make Chore-Time air systems number one in performance and reliability.

INLET POWER PACK

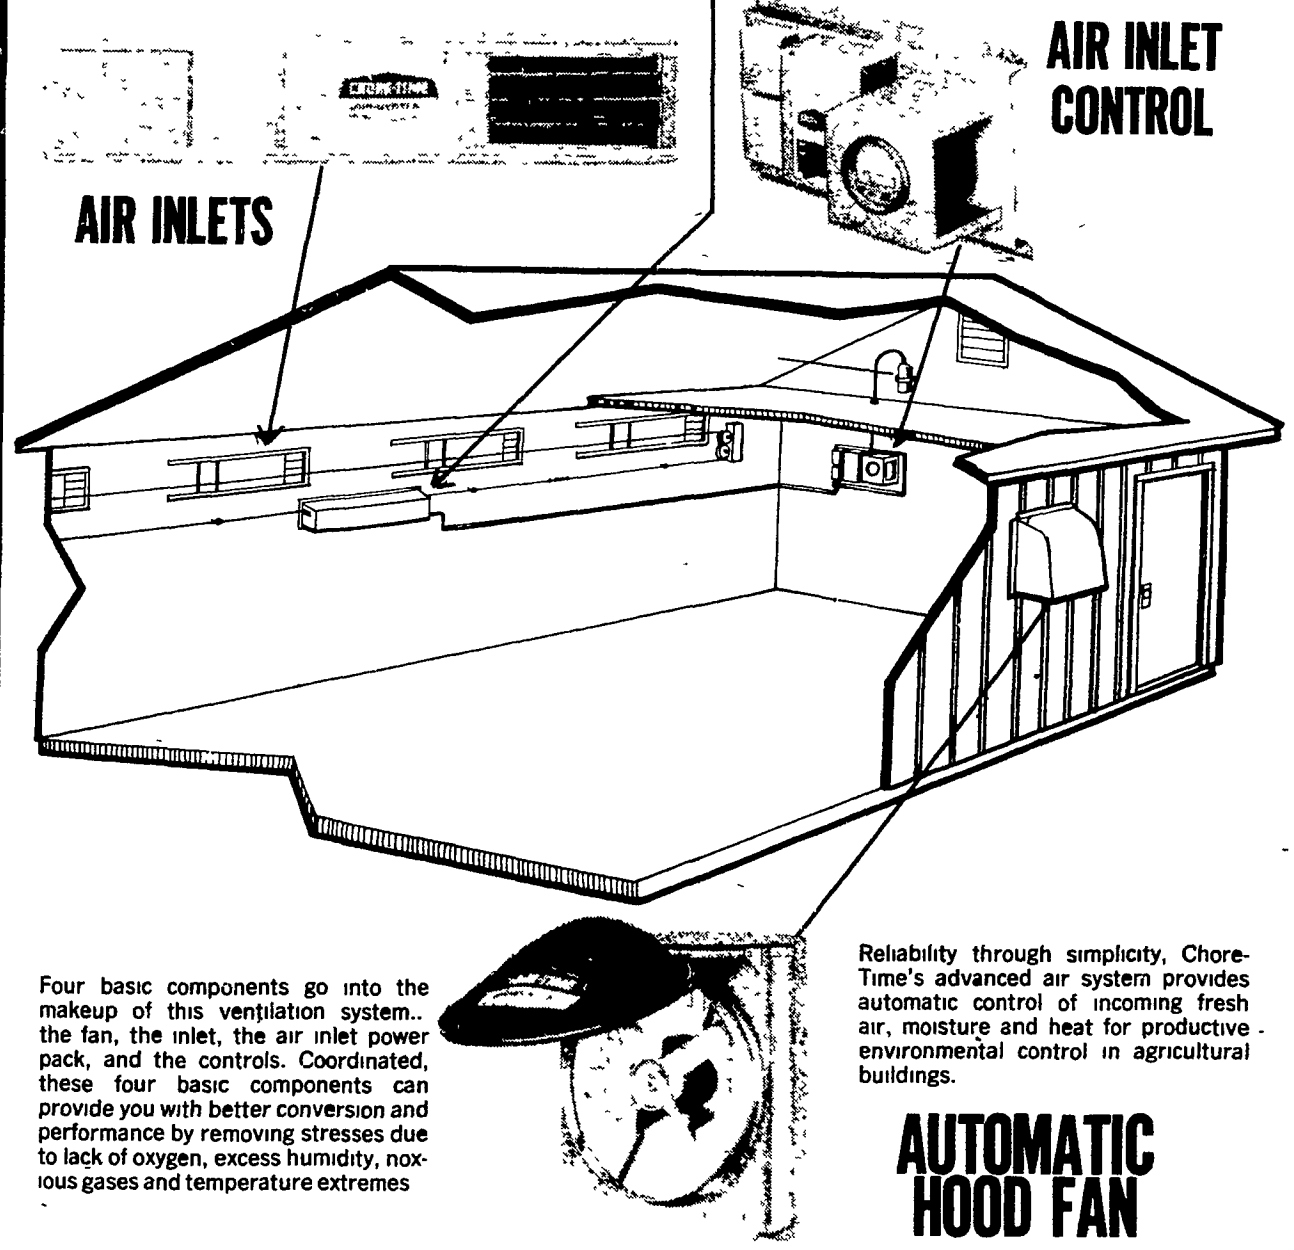
AIR INLETS



Four basic components go into the makeup of this ventilation system.. the fan, the inlet, the air inlet power pack, and the controls. Coordinated, these four basic components can provide you with better conversion and performance by removing stresses due to lack of oxygen, excess humidity, noxious gases and temperature extremes

Reliability through simplicity, Chore-Time's advanced air system provides automatic control of incoming fresh air, moisture and heat for productive environmental control in agricultural buildings.

TORQUE AMPLIFIER, CLUTCH & WATER PUMP PARTS & SERVICE

Rebuilt TA assemblies for IH tractors from SMTA through 1586. Water pumps, Dyna-Life clutches and pressure plates from A, B, C through 1586 and for many of the combines, 101 - 303 through the 915.

If you are operating a shop or are a farmer who does his own mechanical work, then you will do well to compare the parts which I have to offer. Complete rebuilt TA assemblies for 706 - 1586 are priced from $525.00 and come with a Dana Co. heavy Duty Sprag clutch instead of the usual IH sprag. These TA units are being installed in many of the leading IH shops across the country instead of the IH units.

Also have available assorted parts for TA's which are not available individually through new parts at IH. I am prepared to do complete installation at competitive prices and will match any guarantee that is offered on TA units or rebuilt clutches, pressure plates & water pumps. I will also install original factory parts on request.

For a no obligation estimate or for information and references write or call me.

If cash flow or bill consolidation headaches have you talking to yourself...talk to us. We're Farm Credit, and there's hardly a money problem that we can't help you with.

WE'LL HELP WITH LOW RATES

Look around. Check prevailing interest rates. Then check in at your Farm Credit office. We think you'll see the advantage of a Farm Credit loan.

YOUR PAYMENTS WILL FIT YOUR INCOME PATTERN.

At Farm Credit, we always try to schedule your payments around your peak income periods. So you pay us when your crops or livestock pay you.

LET'S TALK...YOUR PLACE OR OURS

You'll always get prompt attention at your Farm Credit office. And if you're too busy to make the trip in, give us a call. We'll come to you. Most of us were brought up on farms, and we know how tough it is to break loose sometimes. It all comes down to this. Whatever farm-related need you want money for, chances are, Farm Credit can help. Drop by or give us a call. You'll find that we're your kind of people.

FOR MORE INFORMATION, CONTACT YOUR LOCAL COUNTY OFFICE.

Eastern National lists steer show prizes

TIMONIUM, Md. — Cash prizes totaling $1800 and equipment valued at $500 will be awarded in the Eastern National Production Tested Steer Show, a 10-month judging contest which begins November 8.

The contest, designed to measure feed efficiency and give livestock breeders an idea of which type steer puts on the most poundage at the least cost, is sponsored by the Eastern National Livestock Show.

The Eastern National conducts a number of educational programs in addition to its annual Fall Show to be held at the Maryland State Fairgrounds here September 26 - October 1.

Entry in the Production Tested Steer Show is open to steers of beef breeding, purebred, grade or crossbred, sired by a registered beef bull and born after January 1, 1980. Each farm, firm or family may enter three steers. The entry fee is $25 per animal.

The steers must be delivered on November 7 or 8 to the central test site in Maryland where they will begin the roughage test under the supervision of the Eastern National management. During the first week of April, the steers will be delivered to the Devereux Soleil Farm, Downingtown, Pa. where supervised feeding of the cattle on a computerized system that measures feed consumption will begin.

While on the test, each steer will be officially weighed a total of eight times before being slaughtered and the carcasses judged for cutability, yield and grade.

The exhibitor of the grand champion steer in the contest will receive the top prize of $500 in cash and $500 in equipment and supplies donated by Harry Landis, of Cruetzburg, Inc., Paradise, Pa.

The exhibitor of the reserve champion will win $250 and other cash prizes will be awarded.

For further information on the contest rules and regulations, and to obtain an entry form, contact the Eastern National Livestock Show, Maryland State Fair Grounds Timonium, Md.

Berks 4-H names fund drive chairman

LEESPORT — Ezekiel S. Ketchum, of Leesport, Executive Vice President of the Banking Group of American Bank has been named General Chairman of the $550,000 fund raising campaign for the Berks County 4-H Community Center.

Ketchum began his banking career in 1958 with the Mellon Bank, of Pittsburgh and was serving as Vice President of Credit Policy Management when he accepted his present position at American Bank.

Wayne Lesher, Chairman of the 4-H Community Center Fund Raising Committee states, "I am very pleased that Mr. Ketchum has agreed to lead our campaign. His interest in youth and their future development as responsible citizens will set an example for all of us, and set the pattern for success."

The Berks County 4-H Community Center has been in the planning stage since 1976 when ground was acquired adjacent to the Agricultural Center in Bern Township. Two large horse rings and other improvements have been completed, with volunteer help.

The Campaign will fully finance the construction of a Community Building, an Animal Building, parking, access roads and site improvements. The facilities will be used by 4-H members and will be available to many county groups that need a place for special activities. The Center's central location, large enclosed areas and ample parking are particularly advantageous.

Farm Bureau praises end of nitrite hassle

PARK RIDGE, Ill. — Robert Delano, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, expressed satisfaction with the decision of the Food and Drug Administration and the Department of Agriculture in discontinuing efforts to eliminate nitrites from foods, such as cured meats.

"We have contended from the beginning that a careful scientific review of the 'Newberne' nitrite study at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology would prove there is no scientific basis for the government to require the removal of nitrites from foods," Delano said.

Delano was reacting to a joint statement of the Food and Drug Administration and the Department of Agriculture, released in Washington, August 19, in which the two agencies said that after extensive review of the MIT study released in 1978, "we have concluded there is no basis for FDA or USDA to initiate any action to remove nitrite from foods at this time."

Following release of the Newberne study results, the two federal agencies had initiated action that would have removed use of certain nitrite compounds in foods.

"U.S. livestock producers and others in the meat industry could have been severely hurt by premature charges about dangers of nitrites," Delano stressed. About $12.5 billion worth of food products would be involved annually.

"We are pleased," said Delano, "that in this instance the federal government is acting on the basis of responsible scientific evidence and review, instead of basing decisions on primarily emotional or political considerations as has happened too often in the past."

"This proves once again," concluded Delano, "That the nation's food supply is wholesome, healthful and safe."

Cattle on feed drops

LITITZ — Cattle and calves on feed August 1 for slaughter market in the seven states preparing monthly estimates totaled 6.89 million head, down four percent from a year ago and 12 percent less than August 1, 1978, according to the Crop Reporting Board.

Marketings of fed cattle during July totaled 1.35 million, down 8 percent from last year and 16 percent from July 1978. This is the lowest number of July marketings from the seven states since 1975

Placements of cattle and calves on feed in the seven states during July were 1.52 million, a 25 percent increase from last year but three percent less than July two years ago.

Net placements of 1.44 million were 31 percent more than July last year but three percent below July 1978.

Winemaking manual

UNIVERSITY PARK — Wild and cultivated fruits are being gathered by amateur winemakers at this time of year. So if you're a wine hobbyist, you may want to obtain the revised and expanded version of the book entitled, "Winemaking as a Hobby," published by the College of Agriculture at Penn State.

The publication gives detailed information on the various procedures the hobbyist should follow in obtaining an excellent quality wine. Included are numerous illustrations and photographs. The book measure 8 1/2 by 11 inches and contains 88 pages.

"High quality wines can be made by the amateur," says the author, Donald L. Ace, Penn State Extension specialist. "In fact, many home-produced wines often are superior to commercial products," he adds.

This Penn State book on winemaking describes wine types, equipment and chemicals, the winemaking process, bottling, storing and aging, chemical testing, rules for serving, and grape species and varieties. The current edition was published in 1977.

"Winemaking as a Hobby" is available for $2.75 from Winemaking, Box 6000, University Park, PA 16802. The price includes shipping and Pennsylvania sales tax. Checks or money orders should be made payable to The Pennsylvania State University.

When ordering by mail, allow at least two weeks for delivery. At the campus, copies are available in room 234 of the Agricultural Administration Building.

Stitchers discuss fair

SERGEANTSVILLE — Members of the Sifting Stitchers 4-H Club met recently at the Sergeantsville Church. The 4-H Achievement Fair and Flemington Fair were the main topics for discussion. Members were told in which events they could take part.

Some of the upcoming events for the club members are Food N Nutrition, Arts N Crafts, Needlework and Horticulture Judgings; Pizza Contest and the Hunterdon County 4-H Fashion Show, which will be narrated by one of their members, Barbara Vanden Berghe.

The members also plan to participate in the Sept. 4 Records Workshop to be held at the Extension Center. Congratulations go to Margie Van Duyne for being selected a member of the Honor Court in the Queen and Escort Contest and to Barbara Vanden Berghe, a finalist in the State 4-H Clothing&Dress Revue projects.

WILL SELL TESTED BOARS AT THE DELAWARE STATE FAIRGROUNDS THE EVENING OF

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 2, 1980

6:30 P.M.

Yorkshire & Landrace Boars with Excellent Test Records Will Sell.

2 yrs. ago our Alpine Sire produced the top indexing pen at each of these test centers. Richard Miller of Spring Grove purchased the top pig at the Delaware center for a price of $1800. This $1800 winner now has pigs bred by Richard Miller on Test at the PA center.

This $1800 winner produced not only the top indexing pen but each of the 2 top indexing individuals over all breeds at the Penn State Test center. Average daily gain 2.40; days to 230 lb. 136; back fat 0.85; Loin eye 5.07; percent lean cut 61.4; feed conversion 2.26.

For the best in boars where the guesswork is eliminated and the records speak, see these boars sell. Help yourself to better bloodlines.
